$7.270 Per $100 Assessed Valuation In Township

Property Tax Rate Hike Smaller Than '71's

Property tax rates for Elk Grove Village residents are up again this year, but the increase is smaller than last year's.

The total tax rate for the majority of village residents, who live in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 and the Elk Grove Park District, increased from $7.030 per $100 assessed value to $7.270 per $100, according to figures released by the Cook County Clerk's office.

The increase is about 3½ per cent, down from the 6 per cent increase that hit the same taxpayers last year.

Rates also increased for taxpayers in Dist. 59 and the Mount Prospect Park District, an industrial area north of Touhy Avenue and east of Busse Road, and for those living west of Rte. 53 in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 and High School Dist. 211. Rates for the Mount Prospect Park District area went from $7.156 to $7.406 per $100. West of Rte. 53 the rates went from $7.962 to $8.092 per $100.

The largest single increase for taxpayers east of Rte. 53 came with the rate for Dist. 59. The rate for the elementary district increased 11 cents to $2.558 per $100.

DIST. 59 SUPT. James Ertvi said he could not be sure what caused the increase in the tax rate without breaking the figure down into the various funds which make up the district's levy.

However, he said the increase probably resulted from a five-cent levy for the district's working cash fund, a levy for district insurance payments and increases in the bond interest fund, which is used to pay for building bonds.

In addition, he said the district expected rates to decline in the capital improvements fund and special education building fund levies. The changes, taken together, probably account for the 11 cent increase, he said.

The district's rates in the education and building funds, which are used for operation of the schools and educational programs, cannot increase without voter approval of a tax rate referendum.

THE TAX RATE for Elk Grove Village, however, actually decreased by about 1½ cents, from .682 cents per $100 to .646 cents per $100.

Tax rates in the three funds maintained by Elk Grove Township also declined. The town fund rate decreased from .044 to .036 cents, the general assistance fund went from .018 to .012 and the road and bridge fund went from .048 to .046 cents.

The rate for Harper College declined from .206 cents to .200 cents. The rates for the Northwest Mosquito Abatement District remained the same as last year at .018 cents.

Increases by various taxing bodies are: Cook County, from .514 cents to .562 cents; Forest Preserve District, from .078 to .080; tuberculosis sanitarium, from .024 to .026 cents; Metropolitan Sanitary District, from .232 to .304 cents.

Elk Grove Park District, from .264 to .266 cents; Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 (west of Rte. 53), from 2.888 to 2.892; High School Dist. 214, from $2.474 to $2.516; Elk Grove Rural Fire Protection District (serving unincorporated areas), from .128 to .136; High School Dist. 211 (west of Rte. 53), from $2.736 to $2.744.

Chicago SCLC To Intervene: Vivian

Cross-Burning Incident Spurs Suburb Racial Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in protest of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Klu Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NINA KOFF of Arlington

Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where "teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian said Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has been contacted regarding racial prejudices in the Northwest suburbs.

MUCH OF THE CAUSE of racial problems in the suburbs was leveled at the school systems. "We must examine the schools," Vivian said. "We plan to talk to the school board... and find out why black children are being run home from school."

After the news conference in Schaumburg, most of the group traveled in motorcade to the Hanover Park Village Hall to present their grievances to the village manager.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

—Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.

—Encouragement of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.

—A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.

—A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

PROFESSOR WILLIARD WILLIAMSON holds his 11-month-old adopted daughter Joy. Protests by neighbors have led the Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to lead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest Suburbs.

Skyjacking A Reality For Suburbanites

The threat of hijacking — and its implications for wide-traveling suburbanites came a little closer to home yesterday with the arrival at O'Hare Airport of an airplane in the control of a gunman.

A man demanding $500,000 and a trip to the Bahama Islands took control of a Miami-to-Chicago jet carrying 91 persons — among them members of suburban communities who suddenly entered the world's statistics of hijacked passengers.

The man, identified as William Herbert Green, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was arrested without a struggle by police and FBI agents when the aircraft landed in Chicago.

Toward the passengers, some of them homeward bound suburbanites, the ordeal was something to remember, if only after the incident was over and they discovered what happened:

MOST PASSENGERS aboard the plane said they didn't know anything was amiss until they had landed at O'Hare International Airport and were met by special buses which rolled them off for questioning by FBI agents.

Mollie Kemmer, 22, LaGrange, said she sat behind the hijacker. She described him as a white man with a light tan, having dark, curly hair and wearing a bright, wine-colored shirt. She said she saw no gun and realized something was wrong only when the stewardess walked away from him and came back and asked: "Sir, are you serious?"

Hilda Connell of Chicago said she first noticed the man after a half-hour layover at West Palm Beach. She said she left the plane for the layover, and when she reboarded, he was sitting — with one hand in a shopping bag — next to a woman with a baby.

THE WOMAN WITH the baby left her seat and sat elsewhere, Miss Connell said, and the co-pilot came down and sat next to him for the rest of the way into Chicago.

"Most of the people aboard must have been vacationers who don't fly very often, because hardly anyone seemed aware that something was wrong, even when we pulled into a remote part of the airfield and sat there a half hour."

"There was no commotion. Nothing," said James Stahr of Wheaton. "I didn't even know we were being hijacked until we landed at the farthest outposts of the terminal. Then I saw all the police cars around. I began to wonder."

5 Arrested In Drug Raid

Five persons were arrested Friday night on drug charges following a raid conducted jointly by Elk Grove Village police and officers of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group.

Edward A. Seaman, 22, and Barbara Lynn Deutsch, 20, both of 634 Carol Sq., Apt. 280, Elk Grove Village, were arrested in the apartment and charged with possession of heroin, possession of marijuana, possession of syringes and possession of dangerous drugs, police said.

Three Chicago men were arrested outside the apartment and charged with possession of heroin and possession of methamphetamines. They were Fred Parker, 37, Raymond Reese, 23, and Ray Cooper, 22.

Police said they confiscated $7,000 to $9,000 worth of drugs, including heroin, mescaline, LSD and marijuana.

Five Elk Grove Village policemen and officers from MEG participated in the raid. MEG is a cooperative law enforcement unit made of area police agencies.

Those arrested are scheduled to appear in court Wednesday in the Elk Grove Village branch of Cook County Circuit Court.

The State

A gun-brandishing hijacker who took over a Miami-to-Chicago Delta Airlines flight with 91 persons aboard was captured shortly after the plane landed at O'Hare Airport. He had demanded $500,000 and a flight to the Bahama Islands.

The World

British troops killed at least two Irish Republican Army gunmen in Belfast and four British soldiers were wounded in the worst gun battles in Northern Ireland in eight months.

A slowdown by Britain's 290,000 railroad workers to support wage demands spread transport chaos across that nation. Many stations were closed and millions of commuters delayed.

Security forces chasing Tupamaro guerrilla suspects killed seven persons in a gun battle outside a Communist Party political club in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The War

U.S. warplanes bombed North Vietnam for the 12th consecutive day... The Soviet Union published a protest accusing the U.S. of committing a "criminal act" by damaging four Soviet merchant ships in air raids on Haiphong Harbor... U.S. military strength in South Vietnam was reduced by 5,000 men last week but the over-all number of Americans in the combat zone increased by 11,000 because of the Communist offensive, the U.S. command said.

The Market

With an eye on the Price Commission, the Justice Department and the Vietnam War, investors were cautious and the market suffered a slight setback in light trading. The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.13 to 966.59. Turnover slowed to 15,390,000 shares from the 17,460,000 traded Friday. Of 1,782 issues crossing the tape, 794 declined and 633 advanced. Community Service Seeks State Funds

Representatives of Elk Grove Village Community Service will present their application for state mental health funds to the Citizens' Advisory Committee of the Illinois Department of Mental Health this week.

The presentation to the committee will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago. The recommendation from the committee will be one of the factors in determining whether Community Service will receive $52,000 in state funds to serve Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships next year.

The grant application is competing with one from Northwest Mental Health Center in Arlington Heights to serve the two townships. Until this year Northwest has been the only state-funded mental health center in the area.

Community Service officials have indicated that they have received a favorable response from state officials to their application.

IN ADDITION, Community Service board chairman Quentin Goodrich said last week that the Schaumburg Township Mental Health Board has agreed to act as an advisory board to Community Service if the grant is approved.

The Community Service board has considered adding members from Schaumburg Township if the grant is approved. The agreement with the Schaumburg board "will make us representative of the whole area very quickly," Goodrich said.

A final decision on the grant application is not expected until early July, once the Illinois Legislature approves the appropriation for the Department of Mental Health.

State officials have consistently refused comment on what recommendations have already been made on the grant.

Community Service has proposed that with the $52,000 grant, it will hire a part-time psychiatrist, two full-time social workers and a full-time outreach field worker to serve the two townships.

The service would be in addition to the service provided Elk Grove Village through the funds from the village. The agency is requesting $83,440 from the village this year.

Northwest has said that it will place a psychiatrist part-time in Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships if it receives a grant. The agency now is serving the two townships and Palatine and Wheeling townships.

Ampex Provides 'OJT'

Factory Prepares Youths For Life

by HARRY WEINER

At first glance the five youngsters working at the Ampex Corp. plant in Elk Grove Village seem not at all different from their co-workers.

Looking closer, one might think the five are rather young to be working at a factory-type job.

But few would guess that the five are students in the special education program at Elk Grove High School — students with severe learning problems.

The five students — as well as seven others in the special education program — are participating in a work-study program that gives them on-the-job experience at work they may follow after graduating from high school.

THE STUDENTS do a variety of work at Ampex, and do it well, according to Gene Nyland, operations manager and the man responsible for initiating the program there.

"We are most pleased with the first three months of the program," Nyland said. "There has been absolutely no absenteeism and they are completely dedicated."

"We're not being asked to employ anybody who's not doing the job. These kids are doing the work just like anybody else."

Under the program, students spend mornings in regular classes at Elk Grove High School and then work four hours at their jobs. The program was begun several years ago in the special education program, but this year has been expanded to include not only seniors but also juniors, who thus gain two years of work experience.

Besides Ampex, students work at Master Metal Strip Service and Kehe Foods in Rolling Meadows, Weber-Stevens in Arlington Heights, Bonanza Steak House, Davidsmeyer Bus Co., and William A. Lewis at Randhurst Shopping Center.

"THE PROGRAM gives them the opportunity to adjust to the regular work day," said Hannah Schwitzky, a teacher in the program. "It's not a full eight-hour day, but it's kind of a progression."

Miss Schwitzky noted that the program gives the students a good chance to learn what work is really like and gives them time to adjust to it.

"The thing for the most part is that they need to be taught good work habits," she said. "And the best way for them to do it is to get out and work."

Nyland noted that the work also helps build confidence in the youngsters, who are often very unsure of themselves. By seeing that they are able to do a job well, they lose a lot of their inhibitions.

"They immediately feel that they're failures," he said. "They need a lot of encouragement, but the people here go out of their way to make these kids feel comfortable."

NYLAND, WHO describes the program as an "exciting one that is very important to the community," said that there had been much talk previously that industry wouldn't accept programs such as this. But the success of the local program apparently may be erasing that belief.

"We're willing to hire as many of these students as they have," Nyland said, noting that after a four-month trial with four of the students, the company hired its fifth student earlier this month.

Bill Baird, manufacturing manager at Ampex, expressed the goal of the program as trying to make the students capable of becoming future full-time, permanent Ampex employees.

But if the students decide not to come back to Ampex after graduating from high school, Baird is confident they will have no trouble finding another job.

"With the training they get now, they'll have no problems getting jobs as adults."

Housing Panel To Discuss Zettek Letter

The Elk Grove Village Housing Commission will meet tonight to discuss Village Pres. Charles Zettek's letter regarding its future.

The commission meeting has been called for 8 p.m. in the municipal building by chairman Neil Cooney.

Last week, Zettek sent a letter to all members of the commission saying that the board of trustees is not sympathetic to low-income housing because its members believe that to be an area-wide problem.

Zettek also said the village may consider establishing moderate-income housing and housing for senior citizens in the village and asked the commission to contact other housing bodies in the Northwest suburbs to develop a joint recommendation on the problem.

$751 Bill In Schaumburg, $868 In Hoffman Estates

Township Real Estate Tax Hikes To Be Small

See Page 7

Homeowners in Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg will see small increases on their real estate tax bills this year, according to figures released yesterday by the Cook County Clerk's office.

Based on an assessed valuation of $10,000, termed average for homes in the Schaumburg Township area, increases over last year's bill should be as follows:

—Homes in the Village of Schaumburg and in Schaumburg Township will have an $8.50 increase.

—Homes in Hoffman Estates and in Schaumburg Township will have a $17.50 increase.

—The Winston Knolls subdivision in Hoffman Estates will experience a $17.40 increase on their bills.

A typical bill in Schaumburg will be approximately $751.50, based on the $10,000 average assessed valuation and $858 in Hoffman Estates, using the same average.

Most money is collected for education, an example being that the combined taxes for Elementary Dist. 54, High School Dist. 211 and Harper Junior College will average $583.60 on all tax bills for homes in Schaumburg Township.

A BREAKDOWN SHOWS Dist. 54's tax rate at $2.89 per $100 assessed valuation, Dist. 211 at $2.74 and Harper at 20 cents.

In Hoffman Estates residents pay 66.2 cents per $100 assessed valuation for services provided by the village. Schaumburg does not levy a village tax.

Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District will collect an additional 60.4 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a service provided without tax in Schaumburg.

Hoffman Estates Park District's tax this year is 29 cents and Schaumburg Park District's tax is 33.6 cents.

The remainder of the taxes collected go for a variety of township and county services, included as follows:

County . . . 56.2 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Thirty and one half tons of used glass have been deposited in Hoffman Estates' permanent reclamation center since its January opening.

Lions Club Purchases Large Print Books

The Hoffman Estates Lions club has given the Schaumburg Township Public Library a $250 gift for the purchase of large print books.

The Lions is a community organization that concerns itself with philanthropic projects and especially services for the blind.

Underwritten by the village, the center is sponsored by the Environmental Concerns Committee supervised by Trustee Diane Jensen.

Glass may be delivered to a village hall grounds site, 181 Illinois Blvd., between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The center is open the second and fourth Saturday of every month.

Committee members ask that glass be prepared for deposit by rinsing and removing metal rims found on some containers. Labels need not be removed.

The bin is designed to handle both clear and tinted (brown or green) glass.

Following each collection, glass is trucked to the Anchor Hocking Reclamation Center, Gurnee, where the village is paid one-half cent per ton of material deposited.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Doctors at Brooke Army Medical Center said former President Lyndon B. Johnson suffered a brief burst of extra heartbeats and that his heart specialist was summoned from Atlanta.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the administration would rule out only the reintroduction of ground forces and the use of nuclear weapons in trying to help the South Vietnamese, voted to cut off funds for U.S. land, sea or air forces involved in Vietnam by the end of the year.

A Wall Street consultant testified that White House aide Peter Flanigan gave him a report prepared by International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. before hiring him to make the study that helped convince the Justice Department to drop antitrust action against the corporation.

A guard was found dead and another was set ablaze by a firebomb thrown by a convict at the Louisiana State Prison at Angola, it was reported. An estimated 1,000 inmates were locked up to prevent further violence.

President Nixon will visit Poland May 31 and June 1 on his way home from his summit meeting with Soviet Union leaders, the White House announced.

Engineers who worked all night on the problem told Apollo 16 astronauts that the mysterious flaking of paint off their moonship would not keep them from attempting a landing in the moon's mountains.

The State

A gun-brandishing hijacker who took over a Miami-to-Chicago Delta Airlines flight with 91 persons aboard was captured shortly after the plane landed at O'Hare Airport. He had demanded $500,000 and a flight to the Bahama Islands.

The World

British troops killed at least two Irish Republican Army gunmen in Belfast and four British soldiers were wounded in the worst gun battles in Northern Ireland in eight months.

A slowdown by Britain's 230,000 railroad workers to support wage demands spread transport chaos across that nation. Many stations were closed and millions of commuters delayed.

Security forces chasing Tupamaro guerrilla suspects killed seven persons in a gun battle outside a Communist Party political club in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The War

U.S. warplanes bombed North Vietnam for the 12th consecutive day . . . The Soviet Union published a protest accusing the U.S. of committing a "criminal act" by damaging four Soviet merchant ships in air raids on Haiphong Harbor . . . U.S. military strength in South Vietnam was reduced by 5,000 men last week but the over-all number of Americans in the combat zone increased by 11,000 because of the Communist offensive, the U.S. command said.

The Market

With an eye on the Price Commission, the Justice Department and the Vietnam War, investors were cautious and the market suffered a slight setback in light trading. The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.13 to 966.59. Turnover slowed to 15,380,000 shares from the 17,460,000 traded Friday. Of 1,782 issues crossing the tape, 794 declined and 633 advanced. The average price of a New York Stock Exchange common share dipped 11 cents. Prices were lower in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

MONEY TALKS

A Home Is a Place You Fall in Love With

By Donald F. Morton, President
Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

If you are dreaming of your first home purchase or considering larger or better housing, the present time seems as good as any to make your move.

With homes new and old aplenty, the choice of styles ranges from the Spanish, Italian, and Moorish models of the 1920s, the chrome-and-glass cubes of the '30s, and other period preferences to the ranch, colonial, Cape Cod and other modes now in favor.

There are beautiful and ugly treatments of every exterior style. Of greater importance is the interior arrangement. Any style that pleases you and is not out of step with its environs is acceptable—provided that the basic interior design is comfortable and efficient.

The best way to find your home is to do a lot of looking before you make your choice. Every person has his own concept of the ideal home just as he has of the ideal mate. When he finds the home he really wants, it may not be love at first sight, but it comes pretty close to it.

As writer Phyllis McGinley puts it, "The right house, no matter what its period, must pluck your sleeve and say, 'Take me. We were meant for each other.'"

A determined lady we know spent two years searching for a new home for her growing family. Not once in those two years did she find anything remotely resembling her dream. Then one day it happened, and she wrote in her calendar book, "Today I saw the house!"

Property Tax Order Has Little Impact

A court order restricting issuance of personal property taxes to school districts will have little impact in the Northwest suburbs according to local school officials.

Circuit Court Judge Thomas C. Donovan recently ordered the county treasurer to put personal property taxes paid by individuals this year into escrow. The money will not be released unless the U.S. Supreme Court upholds a state court ruling declaring the tax collection unconstitutional. If the collection is declared unconstitutional, the money will be returned to the taxpayers.

The suit is virtually inconsequential locally, say school officials, because few individuals pay their personal property tax.

"Most of our personal property taxes come from corporations," said James Slater, High School Dist. 211 business manager. "If we didn't receive the tax paid by individuals the most we would lose is $35,000."

IN SCHAUMBURG Township Dist. 54, the largest elementary district in the state, the personal property taxes collected from individuals is not expected to total more than $14,000.

On the other end of the spectrum, Dist. 23 lists the taxes paid by individuals at only $3,000. One of the smallest districts in the area, it covers portions of Arlington Heights and Prospect Heights.

The tax is of such little consequence, says James Hendren, Dist. 23 business manager, "we don't include it in our budget. The percentage they pay is very small."

Collection of the personal property tax paid by individuals was ruled constitutional after voters called for its abolition in a 1970 referendum.

Women's Liberation

Who Leads Today's Fight?

A LEADER OF women's lib, articulate Gloria Steinem has spearheaded many movement groups.

by GENIE CAMPBELL
(Second in a series)

It's easy to brush off an opinionated woman at a local luncheon. But it's not so easy to deter a forceful lobby of women or a female politician who knows what she is talking about and has the "sister power" to back her up.

Today, talk about women's liberation has turned activist. Shouts for equal rights have given birth to a multitude of optimistic movement groups. Slight yet meaningful progress is being made, the most evident in general attitudes.

It's happening all over the country through a network of carefully thought out "lady led" organizations.

The largest to date and most influential is the National Organization for Women (NOW), an organization that since its founding in 1966 has consistently worked to improve the status of women through educational and legal channels. Its membership is currently more than 18,000 with chapters in 48 states.

NOW WAS FORMED "to take action to bring women into full participation in the mainstream of American society NOW, exercising all the privileges and responsibilities thereof in truly equal partnership with men."

Chicago Chapter of NOW is in the process of preparing a summary and explanation of Illinois laws that affect women. The sections will include marriage and divorce, criminal law and employment.

The rationale for this is that discriminatory practices can be further eliminated if women individually understand the legal code.

The Women's Advocate Corps of NOW offers para-legal counsel, advice and representation to any woman in the Chicago area who believes that she has suffered employment discrimination because of her sex.

TITLE 7 OF THE Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 gave women experiencing job discrimination because of sex the right to file a complaint with the national Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Not enough women have used this right, according to NOW spokesmen. Even fewer know how, they say. NOW is interested in showing them.

To pass legislation that would set even stricter guidelines so cases do not all have to be individually handled, feminists realize that women themselves must take greater interest in the political system by nominating and supporting their own "sisters" in office.

That means putting women into responsible positions on local, state and national policy-making bodies where precedents are set.

But the political fact is that women have been falling behind. Twelve women now sit in the House of Representatives and one, Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), sits in the Senate. This is the lowest number in 18 years.

IN STATE LEGISLATURES women are faring no better. The make-up of the present Illinois General Assembly illustrates the situation: one woman out of a total of 58 senators, three women out of a total of 177 representatives.

In July, 1971, a new bipartisan coalition representing women of varied ages, races and political points of view was formed with its aim to elect women to office in numbers proportionate to the percentage of women in the national population. It is the National Women's Political Caucus (N.W.P.C.).

In September of that same year, the Illinois Caucus was formed to adhere to the national statement of purpose which says, in part, that the N.W.P.C. will rally support for the campaigns of women candidates who declare themselves ready to fight for the needs of women and all under-represented groups.

REP. SHIRLEY CHISHOLM, (D-N.Y.), keynoted the whole operation by declaring herself a Democratic candidate in the 1972 Presidential race.

In response to the desire for specific and concrete action, the Women's Action Alliance was formed to provide assistance to women who are interested in working on local action projects.

The Alliance is not out to duplicate the activities of existing organizations. Rather it hopes to supplement these by offering research and technical assistance and by channeling more women into existing organizations with which they might feel an identification.

Another action group primarily interested in pushing for absolute equality via the legal route — updating existing laws and introducing new legislation — is the Women's Equity Action League. Like NOW it has supported many women who have experienced employment discrimination because of sex and has taken their cases to court.

(Most of these action groups have Chicago-based chapters but none exclusively in the suburbs. The exception is the Illinois Political Caucus. A chapter was formed this winter in the 12th Congressional District, which includes all the communities covered by the Herald's except Des Plaines.)

THE MAJOR GROUPS are supplemented by small "rap groups" whose discussions often lead to attitude change and to local organizations such as the Chicago Women's Liberation Union, the Illinois Women's Abortion Coalition and The Sisterhood.

Established women's organizations such as the YWCA, the League of Women Voters and American Association of University Women (AAUW), are sympathetic to the movement although they were not specifically an outgrowth of the equal rights issue nor are they directly affiliated with the movement.

However, the dividing line is becoming less and less distinguishable. Women active in such organizations having suburban chapters help to elevate the role of women by providing further emphasis on services outside the home.

ONE OF THREE women in the Illinois House of Representatives, Mrs. Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights introduced in the House last week a resolution to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment.

Besides groups founded to encourage and further the liberation of women, an updated culture is emerging as further incentive.

THE CHICAGO Women's Liberation Rock Band was organized about two years ago to make a statement about women's oppression in the society. Its members also get together to play good music.

The band is attempting to demonstrate that women can be good rock musicians, that the creativity of women in the arts is often restricted by existing laws and mores.

Steps are also being taken by interested parties to elevate the media's treatment of the liberation movement and its coverage of women in general. They would like to change the "cutesy" approach to a much more serious one.

Increasingly noticeable is the substitution of Ms. for both Miss and Mrs., a direct retort to the single title of Mr. for men who are not identified by their marital status.

Female-oriented publications, written, edited and published by women, are increasingly available.

"MALE-DOMINATED media are not going to put across women's message except in fragments and at the mercy of editorial whim," said one worker for the Feminist Voice, circulated in Chicago.

Cosmopolitan took a liberated move by publishing the first male centerfold in its April issue. Gloria Steinem this winter introduced her new magazine, Ms. No men are involved in its operation, and Gloria is intent on providing material for the intellectual appetites of today's women.

Another Chicago resident, Susan Davis, created the Spokeswoman in June of 1970. Each month the newsletter contains the latest on legislation and legal developments in such areas as equal employment, child care, abortion reform and the general liberation movement. A similar newsletter, Women Today, is published in Washington, D.C., with national circulation.

Awareness does prompt action. Organizations remain the key to social change. That's what women are discovering.

No 'Middle Ground' On Abortion Issue

by DOROTHY OLIVER

There's no such thing as "middle of the road" when representatives from the "for" join with those from the "against" to discuss abortion.

There are two sides: that for the mother, that for the fetus. Those supporting the mother hold that the mental and physical well-being of the mother is all-important; the fetus is life yet not a person. Those for the fetus insist the fetus has rights as a human being from the moment of conception; the mother, a separate individual, has no right to destroy it.

THE ISSUE, before an audience 95 per cent women, was debated at the third annual symposium sponsored by the board of directors of the Chicago Lying-In Hospital. They heard about "The Abortion Dilemma." Three panels dealt with medical, psychological and social perspectives, legal perspectives and ethical perspectives during last Wednesday's session.

Dr. Eugene F. Diamond, professor of pediatrics at Stritch School of Medicine, Loyola University, based his anti-abortion stance on the fact that the fetus is not a part of the mother but rather a separate genetic package. Abortions are not performed on two-celled fetuses or blobs of tissue but on fully formed humans with beating hearts, he said.

Diamond's presentation included a dramatic series of pictures showing the stage a fetus would be at if aborted at the maximum number of weeks allowed in New York, Alaska and Hawaii.

Responding to Diamond was Dr. Edward C. Senay, associate professor in the department of psychiatry at Billings Hospital, who presented the side for the mother: Abortion is humane, legal and psychologically beneficial to women facing an unwanted pregnancy. The psychiatric, social and cultural damage suffered by forcing a woman to go through with a pregnancy is monumental, he stated.

IF WE ALLOW legal abortion for a minor pregnant by incestuous rape, should we not extend this right to any other woman, he asked.

Dr. Michael Newton, director of the American College of Obstetrics and gynecology, discussed what social changes may occur should abortions become available in the majority of states.

Since July, 1970, when the New York abortion law went into effect, there has been a rapid change in attitude by the public and among physicians, Newton said, adding that since that time, the college and its associated nurses organization have come out with resolutions supporting abortion on demand.

As more states legalize abortion, Newton predicted, more physicians will accept it (to the point that some physicians may specialize in it), less abortions will be performed after 12 weeks and those done in the first trimester of pregnancy will occur in out-patient facilities.

Taking opposite sides on the legal perspectives were Dennis Horan, an attorney for the Illinois Right To Life Society, and father of two adopted children, and Ralph Brown, one of the founders of and attorney for Illinois Citizens for the Medical Control of Abortion.

HORAN ARGUED THAT in a pregnancy two lives must be considered and society should not opt for violent measures to solve the social problem (an unwanted pregnancy). The decision we make regarding abortions will lay the groundwork in many other areas such as euthanasia, etc., he declared.

Brown countered that, in his opinion, the early fetus is not a human person so the dilemma of two lives is not a consideration. Legally, abortion has never been considered murder; compulsory pregnancy is dehumanizing and destructive; we have no right to make the choice of whether or not to have a baby for a woman, he stated.

In Illinois two court cases, one in the state and one in the federal court, are challenging the abortion statutes on the grounds that they are vague. The U.S. Supreme Court is still considering whether an abortion may be performed if the pregnancy threatens the mother's life or health. Four states, New York, Maryland, Alaska and Hawaii, have almost full repeal of their abortion laws at this time. Wisconsin's law is being thrashed about in the courts, and abortions are being performed in absence of a law.

DURING THE AFTERNOON session four clergymen echoed the basic opinions set forth by earlier panels. The Rev. John M. Haas, an Episcopal minister and member of the Clergy Concerned For Life, stated all life is sacred, must not be violated and, basing his opinion on evidence provided by the medical and legal fields, life begins at the moment of conception.

The Rev. Jack Mendelsohn, a Unitarian minister and member of the Clergy Counseling Service, took up the woman's rights argument, attributing the rigidity on the abortion issue to the patriarchal influence of religion. Negative views get stronger in religions that are more patriarchal he claimed.

The Rev. Walter Imbierski, syndicated columnist, stated that we don't think this issue through; we want to solve the problem here and now. Life exists in the future, but the question is, do we want to justify taking life at all, he asked.

THE REV. SPENCER PARSONS, dean of the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel, University of Chicago, and chairman of the Clergy Advisory Committee of Illinois Citizens for the Medical Control of Abortion, stated his first concern was for the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of the persons who have come to him for counseling. Control of birth is a moral responsibility if we are concerned with human dignity and human welfare and we must press for controlling birth, he said.

The Rev. Mr. Parsons named the various methods of pre-conception methods of birth control, then pointed to post-conception methods and said all of the debate is over one particular type of abortion — surgical.

In five to 10 years the abortion dilemma will be academic, he said. Now there is no emotional objection to the use of the I.U.D., capsule inserts, the 20 per cent of pills that are taken after conceptions, stilbestrol or prostaglandins, all of which are post-conception abortive methods of birth control.

In the future, abortion will be done chemically and the physician will not be included. The controversy over the physician removing the results of conception will be over, he said.

DURING EACH QUESTION and answer session following the panel members' presentations, both sides set forth issues they felt must be dealt with: just when are we dealing with a person; does the being in the uterus have any rights at all; is it a blob of tissue or a being?

Until some of those ambiguities are resolved, we should come down on the side of life, Rev. Imbierski said.

And there the question stands — still unsettled.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: While taking our gasoline-powered lawn mower out of the basement we found it had leaked some oil on the cement floor and on the concrete driveway. Do you know any way that we could remove these oil stains? — Peggy Wagner.

Fuller's earth, or the granules used to line kitten boxes, if allowed to stand for several days, ought to absorb the oil. Another way is to sprinkle dishwasher detergent on the stain, let stand a bit, then rinse with a kettle of boiling water. You have one more thing to use on the driveway, contributed by a man in the concrete business for years. Sprinkle on any detergent before a rain. Let it stay one or two hours to give it some "lift" action. The soft rain water does the rest. And if you don't fall for these home remedies, there is always one of those oil-drying compounds you can get at the service station.

Dear Dorothy: I'd like to share an idea for flavoring sweet potatoes. When preparing a sweet potato casserole, I sprinkle about a tablespoonful of the well-known orange-flavored instant breakfast drink along with a little salt, brown sugar and nutmeg and dots of butter on each layer of potatoes. The orange flavor is a delightful variation. — Mrs. William P. Lane.

Dear Dorothy: Please tell G.H. that the odor of smoking will disappear if she places baking soda in her ash trays and small dishes in out-of-sight places. This will not stop the browning of the curtains or lampshades but will get rid of stale odors. This is also good for the auto ash trays. Here it not only stops the odor but ensures that the cigarettes are out and not smoldering in the tray. — G. G.

Who Will Decide Programs On TV?

by RICK DuBROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The government is taking more steps to weaken network control over most prime time television, and viewers are directly involved because the issue comes right down to who will decide what you see at home.

One government action against the networks already has been in effect this past season, and the results are plain to see. This action was the cutback on network prime time to three hours nightly, with one of the aims being to stimulate local station and independent production. Those in the Federal Communications Commission who voted for the action not only wanted to lessen network control over the key viewing hours, but also, apparently, hoped that a new burst of creativity would come about.

Well, control was indeed lessened, but in practical terms of what viewers see, almost everyone agrees the results have been disastrous. Rather than a blooming of creativity, there has been chiefly a flood of cheap, imitative shows with greed for the fast dollar quite obviously not being limited to any one segment of the television industry. The worst part has been that the cutback on network hours has meant a reduction of the peripheral quality programming by these networks in their attempts to make up for the financial setback.

AT ANY RATE, just as network officials have begun to mount their case for a revocation of the rule that reduced their prime time access, the government now is moving in with plans for a sort of anti-monopoly action in regard to program production. The idea is to discourage the networks from producing shows for exhibition on their outlets. And officials of the networks have made clear they will fight the move.

Any vacuum created by a reduction or elimination of production by the networks would be filled primarily by programs controlled by sponsors and their advertising agencies, movie companies which already have a number of shows on the networks and some independent operators.

OUR PROBLEM here as viewers, that is as nonpartisans, is that anyone who gets into production is generally money hungry above all. So we have to decide who is going to do the least harm the idea that anyone would try to do us the most good is absurd in television.

My own feeling is that the networks, so long as they are prevented from strangling production competition, are likely to do us the least harm when compared to the potential control of sponsors, advertising agencies, movie firms, independent operators and so forth.

The networks already are terrified of government pressures, day in and day out, because the government can, and often does, apply heat since the airwaves belong to the public.

Sponsors and outside producers have no such worries. Their single and only concern would be fast money.

Win At Bridge

East was one of those really dangerous players who think they are experts while they do everything wrong.

His choice of a spade instead of club bid is a case in point. This time it should have worked out for him, because it got his opponents to three no-trump and, when West placed the queen of clubs on the table, South could count to just eight tricks and no further.

South took the first club and rattled off six diamond tricks and East had to make five discards. The first four were rather easy. He chucked two spades, a heart and a club.

The fifth caused him a problem and he solved it incorrectly. He jettisoned the queen of spades.

Now South knocked out the spade ace. The defense cashed three clubs and South made the last two tricks and his contract.

"I just couldn't play you for four clubs," said East to his unfortunate partner. "I had five myself."

We can't print his partner's reply, but we feel that it was justified this time. The point is that East was not going to

Most Realty Tax Money To Schools

Throughout the Northwest suburbs, real estate taxes are going up. How much of an increase is awaiting you this year depends entirely on where you live — in what village, what park district, what library district, and most importantly, in what school district you make your home.

Why Court Struck Down 'No-Fault'

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The Illinois Supreme Court yesterday explained its reasons for striking down "no-fault" automobile insurance — a sweeping opinion that invalidated several sections of the law and left its future in doubt.

The court said the law, which was expected to streamline auto crash claims, was unconstitutional because it:

— Limited recoverable damages by those not covered by a "no-fault" policy.

— Violated the right to trial by jury.

— Violated the constitutional ban against fee officers in the judicial system.

— Unconstitutionally provides for a review of arbitrators' judgments.

THE COURT ruled March 23 that the law was unconstitutional but did not explain why until yesterday. The period between the ruling and the opinion left insurance companies in an uncertain state, not knowing whether the law could be amended to meet the court's guidelines.

One of the key provisions to which the court objected was the law's specific applicability only to private passenger autos.

"There are many reasons for which the obvious differences between private passenger automobiles, buses, taxicabs, trucks, and other vehicles would justify different legislative treatment," the court said.

"But the determination of the amount to be recovered by persons injured by those vehicles and the conditions governing that recovery is not one of those purposes," the court said.

"There is no reason why one who is injured by a park district truck should be barred from recovery, while one who is injured by a city or village truck is allowed to recover only within a prescribed limit," said the court.

THE COURT ALSO said the formula for recovery under no-fault — based on "reasonable expenses for medical services" — discriminates against the poor because "substantial differences existed between the cost of medical services provided for the poor and the wealthy."

No-fault provisions for compulsory arbitration of small claims, the court said, "give rise to numerous constitutional issues. At bottom is the question of whether such a requirement violates the right of trial by jury..." The court held it does violate that right.

The section also violates, the court said, the constitutional ban on "fee officers in the judicial system" because it requires the losing party in arbitration to pay the cost of the arbitrator.

The court took note of claims no fault would streamline the process of handling auto accidents in the state.

"WE ASSUME that the problem described by the defendant with the current system does exist," the opinion said. "But, as has been pointed out, the fact that a problem 'does exist' does not permit arbitrary or unrelated means of meeting it to be adopted."

The opinion was written by Justice Walter V. Schaefer. Chief Justice Robert Underwood dissented "for reasons to be expressed later."

James C. Baylor, director of the state Department of Insurance, said his office was analyzing the opinion and will issue a statement later.

E-Hart Girls Club Is Seeking New Members

The E-Hart Girls Club is conducting an April membership drive in Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights.

Information on the youth organization, which serves girls from second grade through high school, is being distributed this week to first graders through area schools. Girls interested in fall membership will be formed into small local groups, with regular meetings in a leader's home.

Mrs. Thomas Giblin, membership chairman, announced this year's membership theme, "Grow with Your Child — Nobody Does It Better Than You."

"We hope to alert parents," said Mrs. Giblin, "to the value of E-Hart's program which provides activities and guidance for their daughters in nearly every sphere of growing up."

Mrs. Giblin said that as a local group E-Hart is able to offer girls a more personal and rewarding involvement.

For more information contact one of the following school area E-Hart representatives: District 57, Mrs. Thomas Giblin (392-0286) or Mrs. Richard McNamara (253-0067); St. Raymond, Mrs. Joseph Arndt (259-9315); Dist. 26, Mrs. James Jolly (299-8734); St. Emily, Mrs. Earl Jordan (255-4447); St. Alphonsus, Mrs. Kenneth Stewart (392-2322).

Schools account for the major share of local real estate taxes and a quick survey of the tax rates imposed by the various districts shows why.

High school Dist. 214 has a tax rate of 2.516 this year, compared to 2.474 last year. In other words, slightly more than $2.50 will be paid by property owners for every $100 assessed value of their real estate. In Dist. 211, the rate is $2.74 per $100 this year, compared to $2.73 last year.

Tax rates for Harper College declined slightly from 206 cents last year to 200 cents this year, a decrease which is almost infinitesimal.

Taxes in the various elementary school districts vary greatly, but most of them are in the area of $2.50 per $100 to $2.95 per $100 assessed valuation.

ALTHOUGH THE exact amounts of taxes for elementary, secondary and higher education varies from one taxing district to another, school taxes still make up as much as 60 per cent to 70 per cent of the total tax bill.

Many other taxes remain virtually constant from year to year. The costs for Cook County Forest Preserve system, for example rose this year, but only by about five cents per $100 valuation. Tax rates for the Metropolitan Sanitary District's various bonds remained the same as did the cost of the Mosquito Abatement District at 0.18 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The end result of the 1971 tax rates shows a picture which must be familiar to many suburban families: taxes are going up steadily — although not by the enormous leaps and bounds of some previous years.

6 Area Districts Join Court Fight

'Dual' Schools Sue For Funds

Six local school districts have joined a court battle between unit and dual districts for state funds.

The dual districts (separation of elementary and high school grades) contend it is unfair for the state to give more aid to unit districts (combination of elementary and high school grades). A suit filed Dec. 1 in U.S. District Court charges that the state aid formula is discriminatory and unconstitutional.

The unit districts, on the other hand, fear a favorable ruling will not only boost dual district aid but will also lower unit district aid. The Chicago school system and approximately 100 other unit districts have joined Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis as defendants in the suit.

The suit originally was filed by Edward Rothchild, Jonathan Rothchild and High School Dist. 11. Jonathan Rothchild attends school in the Deerfield High Land School District.

Since the filing, approximately 160 dual districts, all members of a state group called Dual Unit Equality (DUE), have joined the class action. Area plaintiffs include districts 15, 25, 62, 207, 211 and 214. Each district paid $50 to join.

THE CONTROVERSY is centered on a constant factor in the state aid formula called the qualifying rate. The qualifying rate is higher for an elementary and high school district combined than for one unit district, and consequently awards more money to unit districts.

In an attempt to establish statewide solidarity in district organization, the Legislature instituted the formula disparity as an incentive to dual districts to consolidate into unit districts. The move for reorganization began in 1947 with the School District Consolidation Act.

Rather than consolidate to get a bigger share of state funds, many dual districts have chosen to go to the heart of the matter and change the state aid formula.

Participants in the suit do not expect an early settlement because "the issues at stake go far beyond the school aid formula." Some of these issues have been discussed in U.S. Judge James Parsons' court at three pretrial meetings. Under Judge Parsons' direction, the suit is now being held in abeyance while the state education office prepares legislation calling for a study of school district finance and organization.

Leo Aithis, attorney in the state education office, said "We will present the legislative proposal to the other attorney in the case and to the School Problems Commission before we submit it to the Legislature. Hopefully we will be able to introduce the bill in this session of the Legislature." Judge Parsons will review the proposal at another pretrial meeting scheduled for April 24 in the Federal Building.

Officials on both sides of the suit say there are no easy answers to the disparity question. If the courts simply increased dual district aid it would cost the state an additional $100 million. Officials in the state education office contend "a simple formula for school district reorganization based on numbers is not the answer either. The quality of education offered is more important than the size of the district. Dual districts have then place in today's educational pattern."

8-Week Bridge Classes Begin At Woodfield

Eight weeks of bridge classes begin Wednesday at Woodfield.

The classes will be taught by Jan Cohn of Wheeling, a certified teacher with the American Bridge Teachers Association and a "Life Master" with more than 1,500 master points to her credit.

The classes are to run through June 14 and there will be no classes May 31 because of the holiday. Mrs. Cohn will teach both beginning and intermediate classes.

The beginners' course teaches the fundamentals of bridge as advocated by modern experts. No previous knowledge of the game is necessary.

The intermediate course stresses the Charles Goren point count method and consists of both bidding and playing with emphasis on correct bridge methods. It is designed for those with some previous knowledge of bridge.

Beginners will meet from 10 a.m. to noon and intermediates from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Both classes will be held in section B of Woodfield's Schaumburg Room on the upper level near the J.C. Penney store. The fee is $15 per course.

Correction

A recent Herald article about Pauline Tabor, a woman who worked as a madam in parts of Kentucky, contained a typographical error which made it appear she was married to a woman.

The paragraph should have read: On the topic of marriage, Pauline, who has been married twice — once to a bookie for more than 20 years — said a woman should wait until she is at least 25 to marry so "she can see, know and learn a few things."

Ever dreamed of being something of a "soldier of fortune" or maybe a modern-day Robinson Crusoe . . . or of strolling barefoot along the beautiful beaches of a faraway Pacific island?

We're inviting you to spend a whole evening living this kind of idyllic life in the magical South Seas

Just come to our free travel show tonight or tomorrow night, at 8 p.m., at Prospect High School, Mount Prospect. See lands you've always dreamed of visiting come to life — in dynamic living color — in Eastman Kodak's exciting new wide-screen special, "South Pacific — Picture Paradise."

DESIGNED AS feature-length family entertainment, this exotic picture tour is a travel adventure you'll never forget Multimedia projection techniques and outstanding color photography combine with the magic of the South Seas with its Polynesian beauty to create a spectacular show.

You'll visit Hawaii, Fiji, Australia, New Zealand, Tahiti, Bora Bora and Moorea

Kodak photographers took four months to "shoot" the scenes and people of these islands. In their travels, they captured on both color slide and movie film the varied splendor of the Pacific

"SOUTH PACIFIC — Picture Paradise" unfolds across a giant 36-foot screen as six Kodak Carousel slide projectors in combination with movies create this unusual travel adventure

Through the show, a novel multi-image technique enhances the effect of the wide screen while a special dissolve control blends the many images together

Live narration by a Kodak expert unites with a high-fidelity stereo sound track that features the lovely music of the south seas

The show is educational as well as entertaining—so be sure to bring the kids! Admission is by ticket only. You may pick up your free tickets at any Paddock Publications office, or at the travel agencies listed in the advertisement in today's travel section

NEW ZEALAND — Pastoral scenes like this are commonplace on New Zealand's south island. Because of its distance from other world continents, New Zealand's flora and fauna are almost totally unique and can be seen in Eastman Kodak's "South Pacific — Picture Paradise," co-sponsored by Paddock Publications and American Airlines, tonight and tomorrow night at Mount Prospect High School. (American Airlines Photo)

Everybody's talking about how far the 1972 dollar will go.

That applies to vacations, too. Nobody wants to cancel out on those important "get-away-from-it-all" plans. But it is important to know how to get the most for your money — whether you're going to be traveling in the U.S. — or abroad.

In the next few weeks we'll be making a few suggestions on how to get your money's worth on your 1972 vacation.

Thinking "off season" is a great way to save money. In some vacation spots prices are slashed as much as 50 per cent during the months when the tourist rush is over.

TAKE MEXICO, for example. You can travel there in the summertime for half of what it costs you in the winter months.

Climate in the high central plateau of Mexico — on which Mexico City, Guadalajara and many of the country's fascinating colonial cities are located, is springlike all year long.

The value of a dollar is unchanged in Mexico. The Mexican Government, in an effort to lure tourists across the border, is doing everything possible to make U.S. dollars go a long way in their country.

For instance, some hotels and restaurants in Mexico, in cooperation with the Mexican National Tourist Council, are offering a 10 per cent discount on bills paid in dollar currency or traveler's checks.

AMERICAN AIRLINES has a splendid Mexico package for cost-conscious vacationers. They call it the Play Away plan. For as little as $29, plus air fare, you can spend three delightful days in the Fiesta Palace in Mexico City or the Condesa del Mar or El Presidente in Acapulco. That price includes breakfast, a 25 per cent discount on dinner, a cruise and water ski lesson. We think that's really dollar-stretching!

Another way to save money on a Mexican vacation is by driving your own car — or flying to Mexico City and renting a car.

Driving is safe and pleasant on Mexico's 44,000 miles of all-weather roads. The Mexican Government maintains a fleet of 100 radio patrol cars which give free emergency service to tourists on national highways.

THERE ARE VERY FEW formalities

when you cross the border, and a U.S. driver's license is valid anywhere in Mexico.

It's a good idea to check your auto insurance policy, however. If you find it isn't valid outside the United States, invest in an international policy.

If it's resort living you like on a vacation, try The Pacific resort of Puerto Vallarta, which is usually free to crowds in the summer months, and lower in cost than in winter.

Red-tiled-roof houses and cobblestone streets winding up the mountains overlooking the bay and the Pacific, create the picture of a quiet, sub-tropical village. Fishing is terrific, with sailfish and marlin plentiful all year round.

WE ALSO recommend the charming colonial city of Guadalajara for a money-saving Mexican summer vacation.

One thought, though. Have enough money on hand for visiting the marketplaces here and nearby Tlaquepaque. Sometimes this little town is jokingly called "lock your pocket" because of the similarity of pronunciation. But that's impossible when you see the marvelous buys in handsome pottery and crafts.

If you plan a Mexican vacation we urge you to see as much of the country as you can — which you can do if you're driving.

Consider Merida, for instance, on the Yucatan peninsula, center of the Mayan civilization.

MERIDA MAKES a perfect headquarters for trips over good roads to archaeological treasure spots like Chichen Itza, Uxmal and Kabah.

A short plane trip from Merida takes you to the beautiful island of Cozumel, a secluded caribbean beach resort with modern tourist accommodations off the coast of Yucatan.

These are just a few highlights of a possible Mexican vacation that could stretch your travel dollars. Your travel agent can give you other suggestions and show you Mexican package tours that can save you money.

Just remember — wherever you go for your 1972 vacation, you can have a lot more fun and keep your costs down by careful planning...so start planning now!

AMERICANS ARE RIVIERA'S BEST FRIENDS

More Americans visit the French Riviera than anyone else except Frenchmen. Last year, 125,645 Americans spent 362,167 balmy nights and sunny days on France's Mediterranean playland centered on Cannes, Antibes, Nice and Menton.

FREE WHEELS

Travelers to Florida from the Northwest suburbs have a new travel option starting this week. Take an Amtrak train and have free use of a 1972 air-conditioned automobile for a week.

Amtrak Pres. Roger Lewis said the "Free Wheels" plan, developed by Amtrak in cooperation with Kinney-Universal Rent-A-Car, is planned to give more relaxation for the family and more mobility upon arrival in Florida.

A family can get off the train at Orlando, for example, pick up a car, tour Disney World and Cape Kennedy, then drive to other places in Florida and return by train from any of seven cities.

An air-conditioned car with unlimited mileage is furnished free for one week except for gasoline, extra insurance and taxes, for a minimum of three roundtrip fares between O'Hare and Orlando, Tampa, St. Petersburg, West Palm Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Hollywood or Miami.

BED AND BREAKFAST ADVENTURES

Bed and Breakfast Adventures, tailored for the independent young traveler, is Trans World Airlines' new low-cost tour program featuring two to seven-day packages in 49 European cities.

Bed and Breakfast Adventures highlights pre-booked, private accommodations in guest houses or economy hotels. Rates for the two, three, five and seven-day packages range from $6 to $18 per day with room, continental breakfast, taxes and service charges.

Each package also has a surprise bonus — including sightseeing, parties, theater tickets, local transportation and the best-selling TWA Getaway Guides. The longer a B&B adventurer remains in a city — the greater will be his harvest of extra bonuses.

Special additions to the B&B packages may be purchased: an Avis car with unlimited mileage, theater tickets, meal vouchers, sightseeing, carnivals and festivals and museum admissions.

Project Help A Good Step

"Sure we care. We'd like to help, but what can we do?"

That's the prime lament in the dialogue over saving the environment. Everybody — at least almost everybody — is for ecology.

It's really pretty hard to be against it. But it's very easy to be passive about it, too.

To most of us, ecology seems too big, too complicated, too far removed for individual mortals to much influence the state of natural well-being. That's a matter for governments and industries and experts. How can any of us touch it: how can we influence the state of the air and water, and the quality of life?

A common lament, yes. And also one of the great dodges of our time. A cop-out, to use the current vernacular.

It's elementary to say it, but ecology centers around — and begins with — each one of us. Each of us is part of it, and each of us — at least in a little way — can influence it.

Project Help is a volunteer project involving citizens of two communities — Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg — in a campaign to make their little part of the world a little better. And there is no better testimony to what can be done with the will to get involved.

Inspired by last fall's successful creek clean-up drive by the Schaumburg Clean Environment Committee, Project Help is a joint effort of the CEC and Hoffman Estates' Environmental Concerns Committee.

The groups are seeking 400 volunteers to work three Saturdays in May on environmental improvement chores. All indications are that the goal will be far exceeded.

The work, on successive Saturdays, will involve cleaning along the roadways in both villages, planting shrubs and bushes, and cleaning creeks that snake through both.

An associated project will have local merchants doing what they can to beautify their places of business, with a special award given weekly through the first three weeks in May.

Volunteers are coming from all age groups, and all civic and service groups. Some women have even volunteered to babysit for young mothers to allow them to participate.

There's no way of knowing yet just how many volunteers will participate, or how much they'll actually accomplish. But with the enthusiasm for the project starting to snowball, all evidence is for great success.

And it proves a point: the fight for the environment is a very basic thing, and it can be a very tangible thing. Anyone willing to pick up a piece of paper, or plant a tree, or haul an old tire out of a creek, can do a part. And each part, collectively, contributes to a most profound total impact.

It proves another point as well: if it can be done in Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg, why not in other communities?

Indeed, why not?

There have been numerous clean-up drives, by school groups, scout groups and the like. And they're commendable.

But Project Help is shaping up as something special because of its wide involvement — an ambitious community-wide thrust to make a real impact.

It presents the best of combinations: the satisfaction of individuals playing a direct part; the productive force of individuals working in unison against a common problem.

We wish Project Help great success, not just to make the world of Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg a little nicer, but also to serve as an example. You can play a part, and so — with a little little nudge — can your town.

Some day I'm going to fly somewhere on a plane that leaves from Gate A-1. I don't care where it's going, just so it leaves from Gate A-1 — I'm tired of walking halfway to my destination just getting to the departure gate.

There might have been a time, when airports were smaller, that the rest rooms, cocktail bars and snack shops in the terminals were for the convenience and comfort of passengers who were between planes. Now they're there for our survival between gates. Without them, "terminal" would describe my condition by the time I finally reached the plane.

Only last week I flew to Michigan, a trip that takes 27 minutes in the air and barely leaves time for the stewardesses to find out if I want coffee or tea for free or a cocktail for six times what it's worth. Twenty-seven minutes was also the walking time from the ticket desk to Gate M-17 and don't anybody tell me that there aren't any gates keyed M. There are whenever I fly anywhere and when the proposed airport expansion goes through I'll probably be leaving from Gate Z which will be included in the expansion plans just for me.

Frankly, I don't think there is a Gate A-1. I've never seen one or left from one, and I've never heard of anyone who has. The closest I've come was the first time I flew and that was from Michigan when the local airport was so small there only was one gate. Actually it wasn't even a gate, just the back door of a slightly remodeled barn and the sign over it wasn't a number, but an ad for Bull Durham chewing tobacco.

Besides not having any flights that leave from gates closer than two miles the other side of the ticket counter, every airline I've used flies that same little old lady everywhere I go. And she always gets the seat next to me. When I'm tired she's all revved up and talking non-stop, but when I feel sociable she's returning from a family funeral and cries all over me.

Other people get handsome playboys or sparkling intellectuals for seat partners. I always get the little old lady. When I get to be a little old lady myself, then I suppose I'll finally get to sit next to a handsome playboy. And he'll tell all his friends, "Ye gods, that little old broad is still flying."

The other thing I want, besides to leave from Gate A-1 and sit next to a handsome playboy before its too late, is to be the only one aboard with a beautiful tan. It's always the other way around; everyone has an expensive complexion and I look like I just crawled out from under a rock.

Last week's flight was loaded with college kids fresh from spring vacations in Florida, one couple returning from the Bahamas and the little old lady — who was also loaded. (If there's anything worse than sitting next to her when she's coming home from a funeral, it's being her seat partner when she's had five days in Las Vegas and is still high on champagne.)

Reflecting bitterly that the extent of my travels for the past six months has been a weekly trip to the supermarket, I listened to the Bahama couple and the giddy little old thing exchange vacation notes. Suddenly little old sweets turned to me and said, "Are you on your way to the Bahamas, honey?" Sure, lady — me and Magellan with a secret passage to the Bahamas — by way of Muskegon, Michigan?

The only good thing about last week's flight is that I saw an old buddy of Wally's, Jack Smith, get aboard the plane. And I remembered not to yell, "Hi, Jack!"

'Ballplayers Struck Out'

Maybe the ridiculous strike by a bunch of overpaid, mentally unendowed baseball players will serve a real good purpose for the whole economy of this country.

It's probably one of the most "visible" strikes the nation has ever had. Interest in it encompasses a complete cross-section of poor, middle-income, high-income, rich, radical, liberal, conservative, black, white, yellow, red and all combinations thereof.

Maybe, just maybe, it will serve as a focal point to show very clearly the complete selfishness and irresponsibility of a small minority of people in this country... represented by opportunistic labor "leaders" who take advantage of mostly the ignorant and uninformed... who make idiotic and unreasonable demands on the goose that lays the golden egg, management. Management is expected to take all the financial risks, provide all tools, create the jobs, pay the bills, provide cradle to grave security... and all with minimal profits. Over the past five or six years, even those minimal profits have been eroding very rapidly to a dangerously low level. For you, me and maybe even baseball players.

Today not more than six or seven baseball franchises out of 24 makes a profit. But the players, evidently, could care less.

I know that the rank and file of baseball players would never qualify as the brightest group of people in the world. But I thought they were at least a little smarter than the evidence now dictates. They're overpaid, over lionized and over-impressed with their own importance.

Hold out, owners. Don't give them one red cent more this year. Next year give them less. They're earning it. If they won't take less, we can all probably get along without baseball (and I've been a big fan almost forever). Or why not turn the industry over to Marvin Miller and his player reps. Sell them the parks, let them be responsible for the payrolls and other expenses while making provisions for all the cry babies to get $2,000 per month retirement at 65... for doing nothing of importance today and absolutely nothing after they reach 35.

The poor souls... in more ways than one.

Dist. 57 Candidate To Run Again

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all the people that worked so diligently during the past few months in my unsuccessful campaign for the Dist. 57 school board. While I can't list the names of everyone who worked on my behalf, I must acknowledge Jerry Clauser for his many hours of assistance and encouragement.

I thank all of you for your help, for rather than being dejected in my loss, I am buoyed up by the number of people that did support me.

I definitely intend to be a candidate again next year and will at that time again hope to have your support.

The election is now over and our district faces many serious problems which must be resolved by the new board. I fully intend to support the board in its efforts to maintain the present levels of quality in our schools thru my presence at the board meetings and assistance if the board requests it.

May we all work together to our common goal — quality education for our children today, to provide them with a sound foundation for the future.

'Story Made Me Ill'

Your headline article about St. Thomas School ("St. Thomas of Villanova Principal To Leave Post," Palatine Herald, March 24) that met my eyes as I picked up the paper this morning made me feel ill. Let me say that although we are members of the parish our children do not attend the school. I just cannot imagine why you would write such an article. It amounts to nothing more than a gossip column. Don't you have anything better to write about?

After speaking to a friend that has children and hearing what a devoted and beautiful person Sister Patricia Ann is, I feel doubly ill. Just what was your purpose? I would think the person that "fed" you the "news" would feel horribly ashamed.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The article, written by staff writer Marcia Kramer, reported that Sister Patricia Ann would leave St. Thomas of Villanova School, a fact which was later confirmed by a public announcement.

No To Curb Service

"Laseke Strikes Again."

We have lived in Arlington Heights for five years, after previous residences in St. Louis and Dallas. Never have we paid so much for so little for our disposal service.

The latest blast is "We'll dump your garbage if you'll bring it to the curb." May I ask "What do we pay these outrageous rates for?" Somehow, somewhere, sometime this forward looking village must reconsider the monopoly Laseke enjoys and let some competition shape up the service.

Maybe their next "Adventures of Your Garbage" will say something constructive.

Des Plaines Praised

I just wanted to comment on the personnel connected with the city of Des Plaines.

Three months ago, my mother broke her hip. The firemen and policemen who responded to the call were not only polite and efficient but very compassionate and comforting. After we brought her home, the city nurses were kind and helpful beyond belief, especially Mrs. Ivah Hufnagel and Mrs. Margaret Rasberger.

I have never had any dealings with city personnel where everyone didn't go at least a little bit beyond what they had to do. There is a spirit about Des Plaines that I'm sure is hard to find in many other places.

I hope the people who are so quick to criticize will stop and imagine themselves in a similar situation to the one I faced and perhaps they will more readily appreciate these wonderful people.

Word-A-Day

Billion Years Of Sex

Now we know. Sex reared its ugly head in the world about one billion years ago.

Dr. J. William Schopf, a 30-year-old geology professor and paleobiologist with the University of California, Los Angeles, bases the claim on his investigations of fossilized plants found in rocks in central Australia.

He ranks the beginning of sexual processes on earth second in importance only to the beginning of life itself two billion years or so earlier.

The first reproductive process on nature's evolutionary ladder was mitosis, in which a parent cell divides itself into two daughter cells identical to the parent.

In the later process, meiosis, involving the combination of male and female cells, the sexually produced offspring has a genetic make-up different from that of either parent but combining traits of both.

Meiosis provided the basis for a huge number of new genetic recombinations. Natural selection enabled the rapid spread of advantageous mutations, leading to the evolution of our present diversity of plant and animal life.

Some plant and lower animal forms still reproduce by means of mitosis. But, genetically at least, it is a rather monotonous method, says Schopf.

And who would disagree?

Business Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — One trouble with vocational training in schools is that it assumes skills are all important when attitudes of workers, especially young workers, may be more important.

This is the basic thinking in a new system of school vocational training for office workers called APEX developed by three college professors for the Visual Products Division of 3M Co.

APEX simulates a business office in the classroom. The name stands for American Paper Exporters Association, a real organization whose activities APEX simulates in 42 schools in nine states. The program has large representation around Columbus, Ohio.

"It's an established fact that few office workers fail in their jobs for lack of skills," say the authors of APEX. "They fail because of poor attitudes, not getting along with people and being dissatisfied with their jobs for various reasons."

APEX doesn't ignore skills. A student must have a year's typing experience to get into the APEX program, and the course, which normally runs 36 weeks, trains students in machine operation, telephone receptionist, mailroom and other clerical skills.

These skills are not taught separately in a semi-vacuum but rather in the actual routine of the paper exporters office. The teacher is the office manager. Students are assigned to regular jobs in the office. The phone rings all through the class, and letters to be answered come in from all over the world. They involve problems of paper exporters and their customers.

Some are in French, German or Spanish and the students must arrange to get them translated before answering them.

The course also has booby-traps and natural hazards, like any real office, that will put the youngsters' working attitudes to the test. For example, they have to write letters and resumes and be interviewed for specific simulated jobs in the course. There are opportunities for promotion during the course, which the students soon discover depend as much on proper work attitudes as on skills.

THE BOOBYTRAP may be a telephone call from an unknown person asking for information about APEX that shouldn't be given out. Or it may be a problem about the student who makes a habit of borrowing office supplies instead of going to the supply room or what to do when a container of coffee is spilled over a freshly typed letter.

There are staff meetings and special projects that test the students' attitudes and help them develop marketable skills as office workers.

The students plan, prepare and conduct the staff meetings. The subject of a meeting might be better use of the telephone, including how to listen intelligently and how to talk to others pleasantly. Or the topic might be association travel policies, how to play speakers' itineraries and how to make flight and hotel reservations for an association convention.

8 Out Of 10 Households Saving Trading Stamps

How many American consumers save trading stamps?

A recent nationwide survey indicates that nearly 8 out of 10 U.S. households saved trading stamps in 1971. That is just about the same proportion as the poll has found each year since 1959.

Men are almost as interested in stamps as women, the survey shows. About 73 per cent of men contribute to the family collection, compared to 78 per cent of women.

The key finding of the national study shows that some 49.6 million American households save stamps. That is 77 per cent of the estimated 63.4 million households in the country.

The survey was conducted by Benson & Benson Inc., of Princeton, N.J., one of the nation's leading market research organizations, on behalf of the 76-year-old Sperry and Hutchinson Co., which operates the S&H Green Stamp promotional service.

The poll was the 15th annual study by the firm of consumer attitudes toward trading stamps.

IN SUPPORT OF the consistent attitudes found toward stamp saving, Benson and Benson reported 77 per cent of all stamp saving families have been saving stamps for five years or more.

The study shows clearly that people in all age brackets save stamps. As might be expected, married savers are more numerous than singles. It finds that 78 per cent of married persons (22,554,000) from 18 to 34 years of age are savers; 79 per cent (15,563,000) from 35 to 44 years of age; 81 per cent (15,552,000) from 45 to 54 years, and 76 per cent (17,784,000) 55 years and over. Sixty-six per cent (28,182,000) of all single adults save stamps.

Large families are slightly more inclined to save than small ones. Among households of three and four members, 80 per cent, or 16,800,000 save stamps, while among those of five or more, 81 per cent, or 10,692,000 are collectors. In households of one or two, only 73 per cent are savers.

Litton To Market Microwave Ovens For Travel Trailers

Litton Industries announced that it will market microwave ovens for the travel trailer industry.

Robert I. Bruder, president of Litton's Atherton division, said Litton will supply its Minutemaster microwave oven as standard equipment for the trailer galley of the Alstream Co.'s new Excella 500, a 30-foot camper. The Litton oven, also sold for the home, has a suggested retail price of $499.

"The camper using the Minutemaster can cut conventional cooking time by three-fourths. Microwave cooking also allows cooking on paper plates and eliminates clean-up — ideal conveniences for campers," Bruder said.

As the first manufacturer to market microwave ovens for travel trailers, Litton expects to effect added further sales impetus to the annual $40 million microwave oven consumer market where industry sales last year were 100,000 units.

Litton's Atherton division is a producer of microwave ovens for commercial and consumer markets. The company manufactures three Minutemaster models for the home and the Galleymaster for the pleasure craft marine market.

Litton Industries, headquartered in Beverly Hills, Calif., is a major multinational corporation specializing in products, systems and services for business, defense, marine, industrial and professional markets. It includes a facility in Des Plaines.

Importer Clinic To Ponder 'Headaches'

An Importers' Clinic, subtitled "coping with new headaches" is planned for today at the La Salle Hotel in Chicago by the Midwest Unit of the American Importers Association.

Scheduled for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the clinic will cover a range of topics directly affecting importers: currency fluctuations, customs problems, enforcement of Federal regulations, and transportation costs. Speakers from New York, Washington, D.C. and Chicago will lead the panel discussions. Labor's drive for import quotas will be the subject of the luncheon address by Gerald O'Brien, executive vice president of the American Importers Association.

Presiding at the luncheon session will be Richard J. Wood, director of foreign buying, Montgomery Ward and chairman of the Midwest Unit. Moderator at the morning session will be William K. Johnson, partner in Lord, Bissel & Brooks, Chicago law firm; at the afternoon session Virgil Bass, vice president of J. E. Bernard, Chicago custom brokers will conduct the panel. The meeting is open to the public.

Ex-Consumer Aide 'Can't Believe' Price Controversy

'No Regrets' About Meat Ad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The woman who wrote what one congressman called "the single most famous ad in food retailing history" has no public regrets about the message advising consumers to switch to less-costly substitutes for high-priced meat cuts.

But she didn't mean to suggest that consumers should boycott meat, or to blame farmers for high prices, Mrs. Esther Peterson told sharply critical members of a House livestock subcommittee last week.

And under hot pressure from several lawmakers who charged her advertisement last month for Giant Food Inc., a regional supermarket chain, had driven down cattle prices for farmers, Mrs. Peterson was skeptical.

Research Unit Conservation Talk Wednesday

The Borg-Warner Research Center Branch of the Scientific Research Society of America will meet Wednesday. The session will be held at the R. C. Ingersoll Research Center of the Borg-Warner Corp. in Des Plaines.

Guest speaker for the meeting is Dr. Mary Alice McWhinnie, member of the department of biological sciences at De Paul University. She will discuss oceanography and global conversation.

DR. McWHINNIE recently returned from an Antarctic expedition. A student of oceanography and marine biology, she has written more than 20 articles appearing in scientific journals.

She became the first American woman scientist to participate in the U.S. Antarctic Research program in 1962, one of 30 scientists aboard the Eltanin, which cruised the South Polar regions. She returned for another six-month study in the antarctic region in 1965. Dr. McWhinnie served as chairman and as a member of the department of biological sciences staff at DePaul.

A social hour will start at 5:15 p.m. and dinner will be served at 6 p.m. The cost is $3.50 a person. Reservations can be made by calling W. G. Walters at 827-3131.

The chapter will also hold a business meeting on April 19. The session will start at 2:30 p.m. in the upstairs conference room of the center. Refreshments will be served. Officers will be elected at this meeting.

SBA Lending Activity Moves At Record Pace

Lending activity by the Small Business Administration continued at a record pace in Illinois during the first nine months of fiscal 1972, said Robert A. Dwyer, Midwestern regional director of the SBA.

According to Dwyer, in the nine months ending March 31, 708 loans were approved by the SBA within the state for $42,749,407, an increase of more than 51 per cent in dollar amount over the comparable period in fiscal 1971.

The Giant Food consumer adviser, a White House consumer aide in the Johnson administration, said she "can't believe" her advertisement March 21 — which attracted nationwide publicity — could have been responsible for forcing down prices and hurting farmers.

A later Giant ad said the chain was "glad" retail prices had started down. "But I am not glad when anybody's hurt," Mrs. Peterson protested under questioning from Rep. John M. Zwach, R-Minn.

MRS. PETERSON said she issued a similar "buy less-expensive foods" statement a year ago with little notice and was thus surprised when her recent ad provoked such a furor.

"I don't suppose you knew it would be the single most famous ad in food retailing history," Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., said.

"Are you glad that because of this ad, livestock prices have been forced down and dismay has spread through rural America?" demanded Zwach.

"I want Giant Food to make a public retraction of its bald-faced slander of the beef industry . . . If Mrs. Peterson has a shred of decency and responsibility she will give equal space to a retraction," announced Rep. Robert D. Price, R-Tex.

BUT MRS. PETERSON stuck to her point:

"I did no more than the Department of Agriculture does every month in bulletins issued to the retail trade — that is, recommend the purchase of foods in plentiful supply," she said.

"If we were misunderstood, we are truly sorry. We want to be catalysts, not polarizers," she added.

Wheeling Bumps Fremd; Cards, Huskies Triumph

Highly regarded Wheeling, a pre-season choice to rule the North Division, moved off to an impressive start yesterday in Mid-Suburban League baseball.

In games that do count in the official league standings Wheeling handed Fremd its first loss of the season, Arlington remained unbeaten with a conquest of Palatine, and Hersey rolled over Rolling Meadows.

GRIFFITH CHECKS FREMD

Wheeling rode the two-hit pitching of Mark Griffith to a 5-3 victory over Fremd on the Vikings' field Monday in an important Mid-Suburban League North Division opener.

It was Fremd's first loss in four games while Wheeling is 2-0.

The Wildcats chipped away at Fremd pitchers Doug Pettit and Larry Coughlin for seven hits and single tallies in the third through seventh innings. Four of the hits were for extra bases.

Wheeling took a 1-0 lead in the third on back-to-back doubles by Bert Newman and Jim Kass and made it 2-0 in the fourth on an error and double by Tony Schuld.

Fremd took a short-lived 3-2 lead in the same inning on just one hit. The Vikes loaded the bases on Terry Kukla's single, a walk, and a sacrifice on which the runner was safe. Two runs were forced in on a hit batsman and walk and a squeeze bunt by John Slack brought in the lead tally.

Wheeling tied it in the fifth on singles by John Theriault and Dave Giles sandwiched around a sacrifice by Newman. The lead run came when Schuld walked, stole second, took third on a wild pitch and scored on Griffith's single.

Giles smashed one over the left-center field fence in the seventh for an insurance score.

Fremd's only other hit was by Pettit who struck out six and walked two. Griffith fanned five and passed five.

The winners stole three bases and capitalized on three Fremd errors while fielding flawlessly themselves.

CARDS, HOPKINS TRIUMPH

Arlington, thanks to the steady pitching of Jim Hopkins, defeated visiting Palatine yesterday, 3-1.

The Cardinals, now 2-0 against MSL competition and 1-0 in the North, never trailed while scoring runs in the first, third and sixth innings. Hopkins did the rest.

Equally effective with the curve as well as the fastball, the senior right-hander fired a four-hitter, fanned eight and walked none. His teammates backed him in the field by not committing an error.

Arlington jumped on Steve Garoutte in the first inning when Bob Harth singled. He stole second and scored on another safety by Dick Kolari. That was the final inning on the mound for Garoutte as the lanky senior came up with a sore arm.

Palatine tied the game in the second on a booming triple to right by Steve Kirk and a broken bat bloop single by Mike Hughes, the Pirates' new pitcher. Hopkins was brilliant after that in retiring the next 14 batters.

While Hopkins was shackling the opposition, his buddies were giving him the lead. Arlington took the advantage for good in the third when, after one out, Kolari singled. He took second on a wild pitch and scored on Jim Locascio's double.

In the bottom of the sixth, the Cardinals tallied again. Dan Cunningham walked, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Ed Carpenter and scored on a towering opposite field single by Kevin Donahue.

The Pirates, now 0-2 in the MSL, finally hit Hopkins in the top of the seventh when Andy Knotek doubled and John Barley singled. But the veteran hurler pitched himself out of the jam.

HERSEY ROMPS

Mark Leonhard and Dave Zare each rapped out a trio of hits and drove in three runs to spearhead a 10-1 Hersey romp past Rolling Meadows in opening division baseball action at Pioneer Park.

Leonhard also teamed with Pat Hart to hurl a two-hitter at the hosting Mustangs. Helped along by a pair of double plays, the Huskie pitchers saw their shut-out marred in the fifth inning by an unearned run that came without benefit of a hit.

Rick Sidor and Meadows reliever Tom Asby opened with back to back walks and advanced on a groundout. A subsequent pickoff play at third went awry and Sidor trotted home to break up the whitewash.

Hersey already had seven of their runs by then. Leonhard drove in one apiece with a single in the first, a two-bagger in the second and later on a leg double in the sixth. Zare collected three singles and Pat Broderick drove in another pair of tallies when he poked a triple to left in the second frame.

Broderick, Steve Kuebler and Allie Wiechers each contributed a pair of safeties to the 12-hit Hersey offensive and Brad Smith drove in yet another run by gaining a bases loaded walk in the sixth and final stanza of the abbreviated contest.

The Huskies evened up their overall slate at 1-1 while the Mustangs saw their record dip to 1-2.

BUERGER BOMBER. New Trier East's Steve Buerger forearms a return during action Saturday at the Arlington hosted Prep Invitational. Buerger, a member of the defending state doubles championship team, was part of the duo which won first doubles. He finished third in first singles action. New Trier won the tourney with Arlington finishing fourth among the six-team field.

GUARANTEED TO HAPPEN during the area high school baseball season this spring:

There will be rainouts, rescheduling, shifting of dates, times and sites, makeups of postponed rainouts, makeups of makeups of rescheduled rainouts, and a lot of confusion. (Did I say WILL be?)

There will be inequities in every prep league because some fields will have fences in the outfield and others won't.

The fields which are sloped will drain fastest and therefore be playable sooner.

One team will have a young kid who will exceed all expectations — and a senior who will be a disappointment.

Kids will drop off teams because they aren't getting to play.

Well into the season, no one will be sure how the league races are shaping up because some schools will have played more games than others because they had fields that were more dry.

Fingers will get numb (frostbitten?) when games are played on very cold days.

Scheduled games on damp days will be declared on, off, on, off, undecided and finally off — all on the same day.

An umpire will stop a game early because of darkness and the losing team will cry out in protest that it was still light enough to keep playing.

An umpire will let a game be completed in semi-darkness and from the bench of the team which is ahead, shouts will be heard: "Hey, ump, how about a flashlight?"

What should be a hit will be scored an error, and what should be an error will be scored a hit.

A team will accidentally schedule two different opponents at the same time because of confusion caused by a revised copy of a revised copy of a revised schedule.

A batter will hit three line shots and all will be caught.

A batter will accidentally hit three bleachers on checked swings and get on base all three times.

A pitcher will throw one that catches the outside corner (he thinks) and it will be called a ball. Then he'll throw one that misses (the batter thinks) and it will be called a strike.

A fan will forget to bring his sunglasses and be squinting into the bright sun the whole game because he doesn't want to go over to the other side where there's no one he knows to talk to.

There will be a lot of broken bats and broken helmets and lost balls — and a lot of expense for athletic departments.

There will be a lot of foul balls going into neighbors' yards and just missing their windows and they'll complain bitterly and threaten lawsuits.

Games will be played in miserable weather that should have been postponed and other games will not be played when there's phenomenal weather because the field will still be wet from rain the day before.

A home run will be hit over the fence which the other team will claim bounced over and should be a ground-rule double.

A ground-rule double will bounce over a fence that the team at bat will claim was a home run. (Sometimes the protest will be correct and sometimes not.)

A team figuring to be tough will not be, and a team not figuring to do much will make a run at the title.

A pop foul will be caught near an imaginary out-of-bounds line and there will be inevitable arguing as to whether or not it was in play.

Abused umpires will hear from both sides: "Wake up, ump, you're missing a good game!"

A substitution will be made but the new player will accidentally be placed in the wrong spot in the batting order.

Friends of guys on a team will come to a game to watch baseball, but instead will end up looking at and talking to girls.

A coach will be criticized by parents and fans for playing one boy regularly and not playing another.

An outfielder will lose a high pop fly in the sun or have it suddenly blown away from him.

A guy that burns up the high school league in the spring will flop in American Legion ball in the summer, while another guy who didn't even play much in the spring will suddenly catch fire in Legion ball.

A first baseman or third baseman will approach the bench of the opposing team going after a popup and will hear the automatic shouts in his ear: "I got it! I got it! Out of play! Look out!"

There will be arguments among members of this newspaper's sports staff when we vote for our all-area team after the season.

We'll see good baseball and bad baseball.

This unique sport on the high school level will be highly unpredictable.

Chidley, Jarm Record Top Card Track Marks

Despite three first places and 12 boys placing in all, Arlington finished a distant third in its own Prep quadrangular meet Saturday. Barrington took first in a close race with 76½ points. Deerfield was second with 74, Arlington had 39½ and York ended up with 35.

Greg Morand had one of the Cardinals' firsts with 18-3 in the long jump and also was third in the pole vault with 12-3. The other winners, both with outstanding marks, were Mark Chidley with 53-1½ in the shot put and Tom Jarm with 1:58.9 in the 880-yard run.

Dave Auge had the same mark as Morand's first, 12-3 in the pole vault for second. The only other runner-up for Arlington was the mile relay team of Jarm, Steve Klein, Rick Turner and Scott Barnett with 3:38.6.

Besides Morand, Scott Jacobson had the only other third place with 5-10 in the high jump. Fourth came on Jim McGrath's 9:52.2 in the two-mile run, Don Anderson's 12.0 in the 100-yard dash, Klein's 54.7 in the 440-yard dash and Barnett's 4:35.9 in the mile. John Norton was fifth in the discus with 127-6.

York made a runaway of the frosh-soph meet with 150 points to just 35 for Arlington, 24½ for Barrington and 18½ for Deerfield.

ROCK ISLAND LEFTY Dick Hainline cuts loose a return during action Saturday at the Arlington hosted Prep Invitational Tennis Tournament. Hainline, considered one of the best singles players in the state, shared first singles honors with Oak Park's Bill Dutton, each with 5½ points. New Trier won the meet with Arlington finishing fourth in the six-team affair.

Area Products In Baseball News

Former Herald area stars stole the professional baseball show Sunday in a heavy slate of games.

The top headline-stealer was San Francisco Giant Dave Kingman who did his prepping at Prospect High School. The 6-6 musclemen solved four Houston pitchers for four hits in five trips.

The Astrodome was rattled as Kingman hit for the cycle — a single, double, triple and three-run homer — good for six runs batted in! The righthanded slugger personally accounted for the Giants' 10-6 triumph. Dave plays third base and bats behind Willie McCovey and Bobby Bonds in the Frisco order.

It was also a day for pitchers as the Chicago White Sox unfortunately discovered. Spearheading a Kansas City doubleheader triumph over the Pale Hose was former Arlington grad Paul Splittorf who has earned a regular spot in the Royals' pitching rotation.

Dave Kingman

uous role in Sunday's history-making game.

A Philadelphia Phillie, Luzinski had the dubious honor of being the final victim of Bert Hooton's no-hitter for the Chicago Cubs who triumphed, 4-0.

Luzinski went fishing for one of Hooton's "knuckle-curves" and struck out to climax one of baseball's spectacular feats. Greg almost spoiled Hooton's bid for the gem in the seventh inning when he connected and sent Cub centerfielder Rick Monday retreating to the 368-foot sign before he made the catch.

The wind was blowing in, however, and kept the ball in the park. Saturday, it was a different story as Luzinski conquered the wind for a tremendous home run over the left-field catwalk.

Fritz Peterson, another Arlington High product, didn't cash in on Sunday's card, but was scheduled for mound chores for the New York Yankees against the Baltimore Orioles Monday evening.

Hersey Top Area Squad In Invite

Think playing on your home course makes a difference?

Just ask Lake Park who out-classed an impressive 17-team field studded with Mid Suburban League representatives Hersey, Arlington, Palatine and Elk Grove in the 10th Annual Lake Park Invitational Golf Tournament.

The Lancers, unbeaten this season in six dual-meet outings, rode a five-man team score of 411 into the winner's circle. Glenbrook North, boasting the meet's two individual medalists, and Glenbard East shared runnerup honors at 416.

Hersey was just six shots off the pace at 417 for fourth with Homewood-Flossmoor right behind in 418. Arlington nailed down sixth with 427 strokes and was followed by Hillcrest's 430, St. Edward's 434 and St. Charles' 437.

Palatine rounded out the top 10 with 437 shots while Elgin Larkin and Rockford East deadlocked for 11th with 442. Wheaton Central combined for 446, Crystal Lake for 450, Niles West 461, Elk Grove 462 and Belvidere for 468.

Each club entered five payers — each of whose scores counted in the final tabulations. The meet was played over the par 72 Iroquois Course at Indian Lakes Country Club. Known for its heavily-bunkered greens and abundance of water, the par 36-36 layout played tough for each of the 85 linksmen.

In challenging for the top prize, Hersey fielded a consistent quintet paced by steady Dean Taggart. Dean "slipped" to a 43 over the front nine before closing with a remarkable par 36 down the stretch for a composite 79 and a fourth-place individual medal.

Al Glaser contributed rounds of 40-42 for an 82 while both Kurt Miller and Ray Peterson shot 85's. Kurt hit 44-41 while Ray notched 42-43 for their totals. Mike Henry shot out to a sparkling 39 before dropping to a 47 for a round of 86.

Arlington ace Chris Marszalek made the turn after a dazzling 37 and came back with a 44 for an 81 to garner the 10th place individual medal. John Gibbel complemented his teammate with 41-42-83 while Steve Sluka solved Iroquois for 44-42-86.

Steve Ringel toured the grounds in 42-46-88 as the Cards' fourth man while Steve Loughman was a stroke behind with 46-43-89.

Palatine's efforts were spearheaded by sophomore Bob Capoun who combined nines of 41 and 43 for an 84. John Loneragan counted intermediate scores of 41 and 46 for a round of 87 while both Dave Hafner and Mike Long played identical 44's on both the front and back layouts for 88's. Jim Sobczynski rounded out the Pirate scoring with 47-91.

Elk Grove's 16th-place finish was derived from scores of 40-46-86 by Keith Moore, 43-45-88 by Ernie Woolard, Scott Walker's 47-45-92, Dave Chernick's 48-46-96 and a 47-52-100 by John Bishop.

For a comparison, Lake Park's winning total included a 79 by Bob Brodbeck, 80's by Phil Christoff and Jerry Niewiadomski, an 85 by Dave Thorson and an 87 by Dan Hofelt. The overall meet medalist was Tom Evans of Glenbrook North with 38-38-76.

Harper Women 4th In State

The Harper College Women's Gymnastics team finished fourth in the state at the Fifth Annual Women's Intercollegiate Compulsory Gymnastic Meet held at Northern Illinois University.

Eleven colleges were represented with a total of 62 competitors. Martha Seitz placed third on the uneven parallel bars with a score of 8.65 and Sue Chips placed second for all-around honors with a composite 27.94.

Harper finished with 79.49 team points to winning Western Illinois University's 83.60, Triton's 81.17 and Northern Illinois University's 80.66.

Diane Ball, Barbara Bremer, Pat Klewitz and Margaret Newmann also represented Harper with routines on the various pieces of apparatus.

"I was very pleased with this, our first full year of competition and to place fourth in the state is quite an honor for this team of fine competitors," coach Martha Lynn Bolt said.

Warrior Golfers Fall To 'Cats

Bob Winter shot a 39 to lead Wheeling to a 160-178 non-conference golf victory over Maine West Friday at Golden Acres.

Chris Krolack and Mark Bull shot 40's and Jack Kennedy had a 41 in Wheeling's winning cause.

For Maine West, Jeff Potter shot a 43, Glen Dalbke a 44, Paul Witkay a 45 and Mark Wagner a 46.

Maine West won the frosh-soph meet 165-205.

WELCOME RACE FANS. Skrudland Photo Service recently held a special racing day at their Palatine establishment. Race cars were on display and drivers were present to answer questions about their cars and the

Greenberg, Pollitz Cop Titles In Tennis Invite

Elk Grove's tennis team carried away more than its racquets and balls last Saturday at the Maine South Invitational. A trophy and a couple of plaques also came away from the Park Ridge meet.

Len Greenberg and Ken Pollitz won plaques for their first-place showings and this also helped the Grenadier team to cart off the second-place trophy. Finishing first in the eight-team meet was Elmwood Park.

Greenberg finished on top in second singles. He beat his East Leyden foe, 6-4, 6-2; Maine East, 6-4, 6-4; and Elmwood Park, 6-3, 6-0.

Pollitz took the third singles title. He stopped West Leyden, 6-1, 6-2; Maine South, 6-3, 6-0; and Ridgewood, 6-4, 6-0.

Mark Greenberg was the consolation champion of first singles. After losing to Ridgewood in the opening round which involved a tie breaker, 6-5, 6-3, the Grove's No. 1 player knocked off East Leyden, 6-4, and West Leyden, 6-3, in single sets.

The first doubles team of Mike Smith and Jim Siebold finished third. Bruce Kinn and Scott Holste, the second doubles duo, landed fourth.

The final team standings were as follows:

Elmwood Park 11½, Elk Grove 9½, Maine South 7, Ridgewood 6½, Maine East 6, West Leyden 2½, East Leyden 1½ and Walther Luther ½.

Elk Groves' frosh-soph team, competing on the Grenadier courts, finished sixth in a seven-team meet. Luther wasn't represented. Bill Hatzold, a sophomore, won five of his six matches against No. 2 singles opponents. This was the best showing by the younger Grenadiers.

The final team standings were as follows:

Gals' Coaching Courses Attract 103 Students

The boom of interest in women's athletics has been seen again in the Western suburbs, with a report that 103 students have enrolled in Illinois' first college courses in the coaching of women's athletics.

The courses are offered by Illinois Benedictine College of Lisle, in an extension program at three high school sites. Enrollment records showed that the course in coaching women's basketball and volleyball drew 38 students at Willowbrook High School in Villa Park, women's gymnastics attracted 54 students at Addison Trail High School in Addison, and women's swimming and diving lured 11 students at Hinsdale South High School, Clarendon Hills.

The courses began during the week of March 20, and will last ten weeks, meeting once a week for three hours. Each features expert guest lecturers and offers two semester hours of college credit from Illinois Benedictine.

The students enrolled in the three courses come from 51 towns in the Chicago area. Some come from as far away as Gurnee and Deerfield to the north, Marengo to the northwest, and Blue Island, Alsip and Joliet to the south. Most of the students are from DuPage and western Cook counties, including eight from Downers Grove, six from Arlington Heights, five from Lombard and four from Glen Ellyn. There are also five students each from Wheeling and Chicago, and four each from Aurora and Elgin, in Kane County. Most of the students are physical education teachers at schools in the area.

Four men — two in the swimming course and two in gymnastics — are attending classes with the 99 women students.

The courses originated in the minds of Ed Wilkowski, Hinsdale South athletic director, and Vic Lesch, coordinator of physical welfare at Addison Trail, who are now coordinators of the program.

With the success of the first offerings, Wilkowski and Lesch are discussing with Illinois Benedictine officials the possibility of offering additional extension courses during the summer, possibly in concentrated two-week time periods with daily three-hour sessions. They are conducting a survey to determine which sports have the most potential and need for women's coaches.

PBA Summer Tour Opens In June; 13-City Season

A 13-city summer tournament tour, which stretches from coast to coast, awaits members of the Professional Bowlers Association (PBA) starting in June.

Four of the 13 tournaments carry prize funds of $50,000 or more, and prize money comes up just short of $600,000, according to PBA National Tournament Director Harry Golden, who made the announcement from the PBA's Akron headquarters.

The $55,000 Columbia 300 Open, a new tournament on the tour, will be held at Cranston, R.I., August 4-7. It's the richest stop on the summer tour and will carry a first prize of $8,000.

A novel event, the $58,000 Japan Starlanes Open, will be held at Mel's Bowl in Redwood City, Cal., near San Francisco from June 17-20. The tournament is co-sponsored by T. Horike of Tokyo, Japan, who also sponsors the PBA's annual Gold Cup Invitational in Tokyo during the break between the PBA's summer and fall tours.

The $50,000 Bellows-Valvair Open at Painesville, Ohio, near Cleveland, will be held Sept. 8-11, marking the ninth tournament sponsored by the Akron company in three years, and the $50,000 Winston-Salem Open, sponsored by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., will be held at Brunswick Wonderbowl, in Anaheim, Cal., July 7-10. The makers of Winston and Salem cigarettes also sponsored the $30,000 Winston-Salem Classic last February.

With the exception of the $37,500 Bay

City (Mich.) Open in mid-August, all of the other cities are regular PBA tourney hosts. The Bay City tourney is being held for the first time.

Fields will range from a minimum of 112 players to as many as 160, depending on the size of the bowling center.

PBA Executive Director Joe Antenora said he expects to announce possibly seven more tournaments for this fall, bringing the 1972 total to 34 or 35 with total prize money approaching $2,000,000.

Addison Golfers Fire 298

Golf Editor

Neither Schaumburg nor Conant was much of a threat at the Second Annual Fenton Golf Invitational Saturday, but just participating amid the classy 13-team field can only help the two teams in future gatherings such as the conference and district meets.

Addison Trail, the state's seventh best team last year, has publicly announced that they'll be a threat again this season by capturing the first-place trophy with a composite score of 296.

Naperville Central earned the runner-up hardware with 301 while host Fenton settled for third-place tie with West Aurora at 309.

Notre Dame landed fifth with 311 strokes and was followed by St. Patrick's 312, Hinsdale South's 318, Wheaton North's 322 and Cary Grove's 337.

Wheaton Central notched 10th with 338 and edged West Chicago which finished a stroke behind at 339. Conant soared 48 strokes off the winning pace at 346 and Schaumburg coasted home in 359.

The field challenged the par 70 North Course at White Pines which stood up considerably well despite the heavy rains Friday evening. Each squad entered five players and counted four over the 640-yard layout.

The Cougars were paced by steady Dave Love who toured the par 35 front nine just two-over at 37. Head coach Barry Carlson's ace got off to a quick start with birdies on the par 4, 340-yard first hole and the par 3, 160-yard second.

He added another bird on the par 4, 240-yard seventh, but stuttered to a 43 over the back nine for a round of 80. Chris Dilger played consistently and combined nines of 41 and 42 for 83.

Dave Domek was Conant's third counter at 43-44-37 while Steve Shumski parlayed identical rounds of 46 for a 96. Keith Kellogg played a 49 front nine and a 56 back nine for a 105.

Schaumburg pacesetter Mike Moscinski also had early success as he birdied the par 4, 294-yard fifth and par 5, 485-yard sixth holes. Mike finished with rounds of 42-41-83 as the Saxons' low man.

Bunched in the low-90's were Joe Cas-trogiovanni who put nines of 45 and 46 together for a 91, Leo Hoffman who played consistent rounds of 46 and 46 for a 92 and Tim Ryan who shot 46-47-93. Brian Masino also made the turn at 46, but skied to a 54 on the back nine for a composite 100.

Notre Dame counted rounds of 73 by Bill Lossau, 74 by John Murnane, 90 by Mark Hushek and 84 by Dick Schauwecker for its 311 total. Jerry Govern contributed an 85 as the Don's fifth man.

Addison's winning total was derived from Rich Hanaes' 74, Jim Torkelson's 74 and 75's by Conrad Whitehead and Jim Jaroch. The meet medalists were Steve Schulz of Naperville and Tom Tierney of West Aurora, both of whom toured the layout in two-over-par 72's.

YMCA Hosts State Judo Tourney

Several hundred judo enthusiasts from YMCAs all over the state will be coming to Northwest Suburban YMCA, 300 E. Northwest Hwy., in Des Plaines, on Sunday, April 23 to compete in the Illinois YMCA Judo Championships.

Boys, age 9 through 16, will be competing for trophies in 8 divisions. Men will compete in white belt, green belt, brown belt, and black belt divisions, while women will compete in white and green belt and brown and black belt divisions.

Judo matches are won by the successful application of a throw, a holding or pinning technique, a choke or an armbar. Chokes cannot be used by boys under 12 and armbars can be used only in senior brown belt and black belt competition.

Boys competition will begin at 1:00 p.m. and adult competition begins at 3:00 p.m.

Spectators are invited. The donation is $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children 12 and under.

Grandpa's Desk Is Gone

H. C. Paddock, venerable newspaperman who carried his slogan "Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell the Truth and Make Money" everywhere he went, has been gone 36 years.

But his spirit to create and operate the best possible newspaper carries on in the hearts of his grandchildren and great-grandchildren recently employed by The Paddock Corporation.

The growth and development of Paddock printing and publishing facilities have been told many times. That paper-cluttered desk was moved long ago; the cashier of Dunton House Restaurant in Arlington Heights now stands in almost the same spot.

The latest expansion program for the local newspaper facility includes acquisition of another newspaper press to help the daily HERALD meet the demands of larger editions and more readers.

No progress is ever realized without a casualty; in this case, the casualty is our Commercial Printing Division. To make room for our newspaper expansion, commercial printing presses have been moved out and sold to Warren Rogers Printing Co., Inc., in Palatine.

To our many customers who have been ordering wedding and anniversary invitations, business cards, posters, business forms and other printed materials, please take note:

Paddock is no longer in the Commercial Printing Business

If you'd like to drop in and reminisce about Grandpa's Desk, fine. But if you'd like to order any of the multitude of printing needs you came to expect from Paddock, we're sorry — the newspaper presses have taken over.

Tot's Black Skin Stirs White Rift —Probe By SCLC

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference announced yesterday it will join the fight against racial injustices in the Northwest suburbs. A local study has been ordered by the SCLC in an attempt to stop racial incidents, such as the cross burning at the future home in Hanover Park of Prof. Willard Williamson and his wife, who have an adopted black baby.

"We just want simple decency," said the Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC. "What the suburbs need most is humanization." A gathering of 150 persons attended the news conference yesterday to show support for the Williamsons. Clyde Brooks, SCLC suburban chairman, will launch the study of racial incidents reported by many parents of black children.

"The minorities are afraid to move in," Brooks told the Hanover Park village manager. "I had to file suit six years ago to move into Elk Grove Village."

The Rev. C. T. Vivian (right) explains SCLC plans as Clyde Brooks looks on.

Real Estate Bills Coming This Week

Wheeling, Buffalo Grove Tax Bills Up Again

See Page 7

Property tax bills for residents of Buffalo Grove and Wheeling have increased again for 1971 according to figures released yesterday by the Cook County clerk's office.

Cook County real estate tax bills for 10 townships including Wheeling Township are being mailed this week. Lake County assessors have not completed their tax rates which would apply to Lake County Buffalo Grove.

Because of a jumble of taxing districts with overlapping boundaries, tax rates vary not only from village to village but within some villages.

The sharpest increase will be felt by property owners in the Cook county section of Buffalo Grove, where the rate jumped from $7.70 per $100 assessed valuation in 1970 to $8.37 for 1971.

This means an owner of a home valued at $20,000 and with an assessed valuation of $10,000 would pay $837 in taxes this year. Assessed valuation normally equals about 40 or 50 per cent of the market value of the home.

BUFFALO GROVE residents in the Cambridge area who are in the Wheeling Park District will have an increase of $4.28 per $100 assessed valuation. Taxes for a home assessed at $10,000 in that area would be $828, up from $785 in 1970.

Despite the increase in Buffalo Grove, residents still pay less than most residents of Wheeling, where the new rate is $8.43 for property which lies within the boundaries of the village, School Dist. 21, the Wheeling Library District and the park and fire districts. A house assessed at $10,000 in Wheeling would have taxes of $843.

For Wheeling residents who are in all districts except the rural fire protection district, the tax rate will be $8.21. This includes a small area of eastern Wheeling.

Wheeling Township was among the last 10 of the 39 townships in the county for which assessments were released. All rates are established by the tax levies filed in the office of the county clerk, which are the expenditures of each taxing district during the preceding year. Also included are the valuations set by the county assessor and equalized by the state department of revenue.

Chicago SCLC To Intervene: Vivian

Cross-Burning Incident Spurs Suburb Racial Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in protest of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Klu Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NINA KOFF of Arlington

Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where "teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian said Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has been contacted regarding racial prejudices in the Northwest suburbs.

MUCH OF THE CAUSE of racial problems in the suburbs was leveled at the school systems. "We must examine the schools," Vivian said. "We plan to talk to the school board . . . and find out why black children are being run home from school."

After the news conference in Schaumburg, most of the group traveled in motorcade to the Hanover Park Village Hall to present their grievances to the village manager.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

—Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.

—Encourage adoption of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.

—A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.

—A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

PROFESSOR WILLARD WILLIAMSON holds his 11-month-old adopted daughter Joy. Protests by neighbors have led the Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to lead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest Suburbs.

Skyjacking A Reality For Suburbanites

The threat of hijacking — and its implications for wide-traveling suburbanites came a little closer to home yesterday with the arrival at O'Hare Airport of an airplane in the control of a gunman.

A man demanding $500,000 and a trip to the Bahama Islands took control of a Miami-to-Chicago jet carrying 91 persons — among them members of suburban communities who suddenly entered the world's statistics of hijacked passengers.

The man, identified as William Herbert Green, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was arrested without a struggle by police and FBI agents when the aircraft landed in Chicago.

To the passengers, some of them homeward bound suburbanites, the ordeal was something to remember, if only after the incident was over and they discovered what happened.

MOST PASSENGERS aboard the plane said they didn't know anything was amiss until they had landed at O'Hare International Airport and were met by special buses which rolled them off for questioning by FBI agents.

Mollie Kemmer, 22, LaGrange, said she sat behind the hijacker. She described him as a white man with a light tan, having dark, curly hair and wearing a bright, wine-colored shirt. She said she saw no gun and realized something was wrong only when the stewardess walked away from him and came back and asked: "Sir, are you serious?"

Hilda Connell of Chicago said she first noticed the man after a half-hour layover at West Palm Beach. She said she left the plane for the layover, and when she reboarded, he was sitting — with one hand in a shopping bag — next to a woman with a baby.

THE WOMAN WITH the baby left her seat and sat elsewhere, Miss Connell said, and the co-pilot came down and sat next to him for the rest of the way into Chicago.

"Most of the people aboard must have been vacationers who don't fly very often, because hardly anyone seemed aware that something was wrong, even when we pulled into a remote part of the airfield and sat there a half hour."

"There was no commotion. Nothing," said James Stahr of Wheaton. "I didn't even know we were being hijacked until we landed at the farthest outposts of the terminal. Then I saw all the police cars around. I began to wonder."

5 Arrested In Drug Raid

Five persons were arrested Friday night on drug charges following a raid conducted jointly by Elk Grove Village police and officers of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group.

Edward A. Seaman, 22, and Barbara Lynn Deutsch, 20, both of 634 Carol St., Apt. 200, Elk Grove Village, were arrested in the apartment and charged with possession of heroin, possession of marijuana, possession of syringes and possession of dangerous drugs, police said.

Three Chicago men were arrested outside the apartment and charged with possession of heroin and possession of methamphetamines. They were Fred Parker, 37, Raymond Reese, 23, and Ray Cooper, 22.

Police said they confiscated $7,000 to $9,000 worth of drugs, including heroin, marijuana, LSD and marijuana.

Five Elk Grove Village policemen and officers from MEG participated in the raid. MEG is a cooperative law enforcement unit made of area police agencies.

Those arrested are scheduled to appear in court Wednesday in the Elk Grove Village branch of Cook County Circuit Court.

Village Workers Seek 9% Cost Of Living Pay Hike

by ANNE SLAVICEK
Wheeling Village employees asked the village board for a 9 per cent cost of living increase and a stepped-up longevity pay plan Friday at the first negotiating session for the upcoming fiscal year.
The employees were represented by a wage and salary committee elected by the individual employees.
The committee presented a list of requests which, in addition to pay hikes, asked a formalization of grievance procedure, establishment of the wage and salary committee by ordinance, insurance for part-time employees, an employee benefit brochure, and application for civil service as soon as the village population increases enough for the village to qualify.
In addition to the mass request made by the committee, various combinations of departments asked the board for additional benefits including an additional paid holiday, a $5,000 life insurance policy paid by the village, and a merit or incentive raise system.
OTHER REQUESTS made by a portion of the employees were for increased hospitalization insurance benefits, consideration of dental care in the insurance policy, a re-evaluation of job specifications and salary levels commensurate with the jobs, annual employee job performance interviews with the employee having the right to review his personnel file, and an option of selling back sick leave time to the village.

Individual departments also asked for specific new benefits.
The police department, which was not included in many of the other requests, asked a formal contract incorporating all terms of employment of local police officers. The request asked the contract include all previous understandings between the Combined Counties Police Association (CCPA), which is the union for village policemen, and the village.
The police also asked for an increase in the differential between top patrolman's pay and sergeant's pay from 9 per cent to 15 per cent.
The fire department alone asked for a disability insurance plan to cover off-the-job injuries to be paid for by the individual.

THE FIREMEN ALSO asked to be allowed to accumulate vacation for up to three years, and for the village to pay salary for off-duty hours spent attending classes deemed necessary by the department.
The public works department asked for clean uniforms each day instead of three times a week.
The building department asked for a clothing allowance equal to the public works uniform allowance.

Although the village board members reviewed each of the requests at the meeting Friday, the board reserved judgment on the requests until receiving the proposed budget from Village Mgr. George Passolt.
Trustee Michael Valenza, who heads the finance committee, told the employees he views their requests this year "with mixed emotions."
The trustee told the employees he felt some of the individual demands made by the departments are "absolutely preposterous as far as the village is concerned."

Valenza pointed to major projects planned by the village in the upcoming year which must be financed, as well as benefits for employees.

THE TRUSTEE listed a new well in the southwest portion of the village (which is expected to cost more than half a million dollars), a new main fire station, the Wheeling Road realignment and the extension of 12th Street as major projects for the coming year.

During the discussion of the requests Friday, board members noted the latest cost of living consumer index is only 3 per cent compared to the 9 per cent pay hike asked by employees.

The raise the employees are seeking is in addition to the 5 per cent pay hike an employee receives each year for progressing on the village salary scale.

Auggie Lockfeer, chairman of the employees committee, argued with the 3 per cent figure, saying it is commonly known that the government is keeping the figure low by juggling statistics because it is an election year.

Valenza did tell the employees the board was receptive to other suggestions in the request which will cost the village little if any money.

THOSE REQUESTS asked for such things as making arbitration the final step in the employee grievance procedure and having a public hearing rather than a closed hearing on a grievance.

Other examples include establishing the wage and salary committee by ordinance.

The one thing the board did agree to was providing hospitalization insurance for permanent part-time employees.

Trustee Ronald Bruhn called for a "pro and con study" of the village adopting civil service.

The police department representatives repeatedly told the board the policemen would rather have salary differentials increased or even a special halfway step for patrolmen assigned to special duty rather than many of the benefits sought by other employees.

Board members indicated the village will not negotiate individually with each department. Valenza said that as in past years, "the majority rules."
ARTHUR LOEY the CCPA attorney, pointed out to the board that a recent special governor's commission in the state has recommended that employee groups "with a singular community of interest" such as policemen or firemen, should be allowed to bargain and contract with the village separately.
Valenza refused to argue with Loey, however, saying the discussion would be continued until the next meeting when the village attorney was present.
The board and committee agreed to hold the next bargaining session on Tuesday, April 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Mood At The Session Varied

The mood at the first negotiating session for village employees Friday varied from one of light merriment to a hard line of resentment between officials and the policemen's union.

Trustee Michael Valenza, who chaired the meeting, refused to let the attorney for the Combined Counties Police Association sit at the table with village employees on the wage and salary committee.

Valenza told the attorney, Arthur Loey, he could sit in the audience and would be allowed to speak, but that he could not sit at the bargaining table.

Village Policeman William Hoos objected to the ruling, pointing out Loey had been allowed at the table in other years.

Valenza responded the table was for the committee but Loey could sit in the first row of the audience.

"You said you would recognize our representative. Mr. Loey is our representative," Hoos responded.

Valenza offered to hold a vote on the matter, but Hoos declined, saying he would go along with the arrangement as long as it was clear that Loey was free to speak at any time.

IN ANOTHER minor skirmish, Loey

told the board the policemen want a formal contract rather than an ordinance because the board can change ordinances as it wishes.

"Are you saying we would renege on our agreement?" Valenza asked the attorney.

"That you could renege," Loey replied.

There were also references to the policemen seeing other employees as "second class citizens," and other pointed remarks emphasizing that all employees would be treated equally.

Some of the lighter moments during the evening came when secretary Loraine Lark pointed out it is easier to have a baby by caesarian section than by normal birth under the current insurance policy Police Sgt. Michael Hermes quipped the police would rather use the $225 paid for a birth "on birth control pills."

At another point in the discussion the village manager suggested overtime pay for police sergeants could be omitted as a means of cutting back on expenditures.

Valenza said that would have to be discussed.

3 Charged Following Drug Raid At Farmhouse

Three persons were arrested and charged Friday night in a drug raid at 232 N. Arlington Heights Rd. by Buffalo Grove police and agents from the Metropolitan Enforcement Group.

The raid took place at a farmhouse that has been under surveillance for several months, according to police. They said the house was a major source of drug traffic in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Arlington Heights.

Arrested in the raid were Dennis Butler, 19, Deborah Manseau, 18, and Charles Trebing, 22. All three gave their home addresses as 232 N. Arlington Heights Rd.

Butler was charged with possession of a hypodermic and syringe and possession of controlled substance. Manseau and Trebing were also charged with possession of a controlled substance.

BUFFALO GROVE police said they found a number of drugs and instruments connected with these drugs in the farmhouse. They reportedly found heroin, amphetamines, barbiturates, cocaine and marijuana as well as pipes, hypodermics and syringes.

Police also said they found a stolen record player and a .22-caliber pistol stored in the house.

The street value of the drugs was estimated at more than $1,000. Police said, however, that a more exact amount will come after all the items are examined by the lab.

The raid is expected to cut much of the drug traffic in the Buffalo Grove area, police said. They said that even after the raid buyers were still coming to the farmhouse asking for drugs.

Bond for the three suspects is unknown at this time. They are being held in the Lake County jail. Seven Buffalo Grove policemen and nine MEG agents took part in the raid.

Joint Work Led To Arrests

A series of clues pieced together by four suburban police departments led to the arrest of a Half Day man and a Wheeling man last weekend on murder and armed robbery charges.

Police explained that at a meeting of detectives from the Des Plaines, Wheeling and Carpentersville police departments and the Cook County Sheriff's Department, the similarity of several robberies involving a .22-caliber automatic pistol was noted.

The clue of the gun coupled with a sketch of a murder suspect provided by Carpentersville police led a Wheeling police detective to a possible suspect, police said.

The arrested men were Greg Vern Christensen, 17, of 137 Berkshire Ln., Wheeling, and William Stinger Jr., 19, of Half Day.

Des Plaines police have charged both Stinger and Christensen with armed robbery in connection with a robbery of $350 from the A Mart Food Store at 1111 Oakton St., Des Plaines, on March 16.

In addition, Carpentersville police have charged Stinger with murder in connection with the death of a grocery store manager March 12 in Carpentersville.

Cook County Sheriff's Police have charged Christensen with the $110 armed robbery of the Day and Night Food Store at 1183 Elmhurst Rd. in unincorporated Des Plaines March 19.

The arrest of the two men and six juveniles also led to police solving a minor burglary and a minor theft in Wheeling, but no charges have been filed in connection with those two crimes.

Christensen and Stinger will both appear in Niles District Court tomorrow afternoon for a preliminary hearing on the charges.

Police said the juveniles involved in the incidents have not been formally charged.

Prospect Heights Taxes Increase, Too

Property taxes will be higher this year in Prospect Heights as they will be in most parts of Wheeling Township.

Among the biggest increases was in the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, where the rate went from .298 per $100 assessed valuation to .594. Last spring voters there approved construction of a fire station addition on Camp McDonald Road just east of Highway 83.

The rate in the Prospect Heights Library District climbed to .226 from .096. Last year voters approved funds for the construction of a new library building.

The tax rate in the Forest River Fire Protection District dropped slightly from .362 to .354. In School Dist. 23 the rate climbed from 2.852 to 3.106. The High School Dist. 214 tax rate climbed from 2.474 to 2.516. The tax rate for Harper College dropped slightly, from .206 to .200.

Other Prospect Heights area tax rates follow: Old Town Sanitary District 654, down from 696; Country Gardens Sanitary District 374 up from 372; Prospect Heights Sanitary District 504, up from 486.

Two Zoning Hearings Are Reset For May 9

Wheeling zoning hearings on a proposed shopping center on Elmhurst Road at North Street and a zoning variation request for signs at the Clark Oil station at Strong Street and Milwaukee Avenue have been delayed.

The hearings originally scheduled for last Tuesday were continued because the zoning board of appeals did not have enough members present to conduct business.

The hearings will now be the evening of May 9. Other zoning hearings on a variety of rezoning requests are going to be scheduled for the evenings of May 16 and May 23.

Firemen Douse Arsonist's Blaze

Buffalo Grove firemen extinguished a blaze caused by an arsonist late Saturday night at 1800 Park Pl.

The fire was in an abandoned single-family dwelling owned by the State of Illinois. It is located in an area that will be cleared to make way for a new section of Buffalo Grove Road.

Firemen said this is the third time they have been called to the house to extinguish a deliberately set fire at this address. The blaze started in the bedroom.

Real Estate Bills Coming This Week

Wheeling, Buffalo Grove Tax Bills Up Again Realty Tax Rates By Community

Property tax bills for residents of Buffalo Grove and Wheeling have increased again for 1971 according to figures released yesterday by the Cook County clerk's office.

Cook County real estate tax bills for 10 townships including Wheeling Township are being mailed this week. Lake County assessors have not completed their tax rates which would apply to Lake County Buffalo Grove.

Because of a jumble of taxing districts with overlapping boundaries, tax rates vary not only from village to village but within some villages.

The sharpest increase will be felt by property owners in the Cook county section of Buffalo Grove, where the rate jumped from $7.70 per $100 assessed valuation in 1970 to $8.37 for 1971.

This means an owner of a home valued at $20,000 and with an assessed valuation of $10,000 would pay $837 in taxes this year. Assessed valuation normally equals about 40 or 50 per cent of the market value of the home.

BUFFALO GROVE residents in the Cambridge area who are in the Wheeling Park District will have an increase of $4.28 per $100 assessed valuation. Taxes for a home assessed at $10,000 in that area would be $828, up from $785 in 1970.

Despite the increase in Buffalo Grove, residents still pay less than most residents of Wheeling, where the new rate is $8.43 for property which lies within the boundaries of the village, School Dist. 21, the Wheeling Library District and the park and fire districts. A house assessed at $10,000 in Wheeling would have taxes of $843.

For Wheeling residents who are in all districts except the rural fire protection district, the tax rate will be $8.21. This includes a small area of eastern Wheeling.

Wheeling Township was among the last 10 of the 39 townships in the county for which assessments were released. All rates are established by the tax levies filed in the office of the county clerk, which are the expenditures of each taxing district during the preceding year. Also included are the valuations set by the county assessor and equalized by the state department of revenue.

Chicago SCLC To Intervene: Vivian

Cross-Burning Incident Spurs Suburb Racial Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in protest of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Ku Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NINA KOFF of Arlington

Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where "teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian said Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has been contacted regarding racial prejudices in the Northwest suburbs.

MUCH OF THE CAUSE of racial problems in the suburbs was leveled at the school systems. "We must examine the schools," Vivian said. "We plan to talk to the school board... and find out why black children are being run home from school."

After the news conference in Schaumburg, most of the group traveled in motorcade to the Hanover Park Village Hall to present their grievances to the village manager.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

—Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.

—Encourage adoption of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.

—A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.

—A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

PROFESSOR WILLIARD WILLIAMSON holds his 11-month-old adopted daughter Joy. Protests by neighbors have led the Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to lead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest Suburbs.

Skyjacking A Reality For Suburbanites

The threat of hijacking — and its implications for wide-traveling suburbanites came a little closer to home yesterday with the arrival at O'Hare Airport of an airplane in the control of a gunman.

A man demanding $500,000 and a trip to the Bahama Islands took control of a Miami-to-Chicago jet carrying 91 persons — among them members of suburban communities who suddenly entered the world's statistics of hijacked passengers.

The man, identified as William Herbert Green, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was arrested without a struggle by police and FBI agents when the aircraft landed in Chicago.

To the passengers, some of them homeward bound suburbanites, the ordeal was something to remember, if only after the incident was over and they discovered what happened:

MOST PASSENGERS aboard the plane said they didn't know anything was amiss until they had landed at O'Hare International Airport and were met by special buses which rolled them off for questioning by FBI agents.

Mollie Kemmer, 22, LaGrange, said she sat behind the hijacker. She described him as a white man with a light tan, having dark, curly hair and wearing a bright, wine-colored shirt. She said she saw no gun and realized something was wrong only when the stewardess walked away from him and came back and asked: "Sir, are you serious?"

Hilda Connell of Chicago said she first noticed the man after a half-hour layover at West Palm Beach. She said she left the plane for the layover, and when she reboarded, he was sitting — with one hand in a shopping bag — next to a woman with a baby.

THE WOMAN WITH the baby left her seat and sat elsewhere, Miss Connell said, and the co-pilot came down and sat next to him for the rest of the way into Chicago.

"Most of the people aboard must have been vacationers who don't fly very often, because hardly anyone seemed aware that something was wrong, even when we pulled into a remote part of the airfield and sat there a half hour."

"There was no commotion. Nothing," said James Stahr of Wheaton. "I didn't even know we were being hijacked until we landed at the farthest outposts of the terminal. Then I saw all the police cars around. I began to wonder."

5 Arrested In Drug Raid

Five persons were arrested Friday night on drug charges following a raid conducted jointly by Elk Grove Village police and officers of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group.

Edward A. Seaman, 22, and Barbara Lynn Deutsch, 20, both of 634 Carol Sq., Apt. 280, Elk Grove Village, were arrested in the apartment and charged with possession of heroin, possession of marijuana, possession of syringes and possession of dangerous drugs, police said.

Three Chicago men were arrested outside the apartment and charged with possession of heroin and possession of methamphetamines. They were Fred Parker, 37, Raymond Reese, 23, and Ray Cooper, 22.

Police said they confiscated $7,000 to $9,000 worth of drugs, including heroin, mescaline, LSD and marijuana.

Five Elk Grove Village policemen and officers from MEG participated in the raid. MEG is a cooperative law enforcement unit made of area police agencies.

Those arrested are scheduled to appear in court Wednesday in the Elk Grove Village branch of Cook County Circuit Court.

Village Workers Seek 9% Cost Of Living Pay Hike

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Wheeling Village employees asked the village board for a 9 per cent cost of living increase and a stepped-up longevity pay plan Friday at the first negotiating session for the upcoming fiscal year.

The employees were represented by a wage and salary committee elected by the individual employees.

The committee presented a list of requests which, in addition to pay hikes, asked a formalization of grievance procedure, establishment of the wage and salary committee by ordinance, insurance for part-time employees, an employee benefit brochure, and application for civil service as soon as the village population increases enough for the village to qualify.

In addition to the mass request made by the committee, various combinations of departments asked the board for additional benefits including an additional paid holiday, a $5,000 life insurance policy paid by the village, and a merit or incentive raise system.

OTHER REQUESTS made by a portion of the employees were for increased hospitalization insurance benefits, consideration of dental care in the insurance policy, a re-evaluation of job specifications and salary levels commensurate with the jobs, annual employee job performance interviews with the employee having the right to review his personnel file, and an option of selling back sick leave time to the village.

Individual departments also asked for specific new benefits.

The police department, which was not included in many of the other requests, asked a formal contract incorporating all terms of employment of local police officers. The request asked the contract include all previous understandings between the Combined Counties Police Association (CCPA), which is the union for village policemen, and the village.

The police also asked for an increase in the differential between top patrolman's pay and sergeant's pay from 9 per cent to 15 per cent.

The fire department alone asked for a disability insurance plan to cover off-the-job injuries to be paid for by the individual.

THE FIREMEN ALSO asked to be allowed to accumulate vacation for up to three years, and for the village to pay salary for off-duty hours spent attending classes deemed necessary by the department.

The public works department asked for clean uniforms each day instead of three times a week.

The building department asked for a clothing allowance equal to the public works uniform allowance.

Although the village board members reviewed each of the requests at the meeting Friday, the board reserved judgment on the requests until receiving the proposed budget from Village Mgr. George Passolt.

Trustee Michael Valenza, who heads the finance committee, told the employees he views their requests this year "with mixed emotions."

The trustee told the employees he felt some of the individual demands made by the departments are "absolutely preposterous as far as the village is concerned."

Valenza pointed to major projects planned by the village in the upcoming year which must be financed, as well as benefits for employees.

THE TRUSTEE listed a new well in the southwest portion of the village (which is expected to cost more than half a million dollars), a new main fire station, the Wheeling Road realignment and the extension of 12th Street as major projects for the coming year.

During the discussion of the requests Friday, board members noted the latest cost of living consumer index is only 3 per cent compared to the 9 per cent pay hike asked by employees.

The raise the employees are seeking is in addition to the 5 per cent pay hike an employee receives each year for progressing on the village salary scale.

Auggie Lockfefer, chairman of the employees committee, argued with the 3 per cent figure, saying it is commonly known that the government is keeping the figure low by juggling statistics because it is an election year.

Valenza did tell the employees the board was receptive to other suggestions in the request which will cost the village little if any money.

THOSE REQUESTS asked for such things as making arbitration the final step in the employee grievance procedure and having a public hearing rather than a closed hearing on a grievance.

Other examples include establishing the wage and salary committee by ordinance.

The one thing the board did agree to was providing hospitalization insurance for permanent part-time employees.

Trustee Ronald Bruhn called for a "pro and con study" of the village adopting civil service.

The police department representatives repeatedly told the board the policemen would rather have salary differentials increased or even a special halfway step for patrolmen assigned to special duty rather than many of the benefits sought by other employees.

Board members indicated the village will not negotiate individually with each department. Valenza said that as in past years, "the majority rules."

ARTHUR LOEY the CCPA attorney, pointed out to the board that a recent special governor's commission in the state has recommended that employee groups "with a singular community of interest" such as policemen or firemen, should be allowed to bargain and contract with the village separately.

Valenza refused to argue with Loey, however, saying the discussion would be continued until the next meeting when the village attorney was present.

The board and committee agreed to hold the next bargaining session on Tuesday, April 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Mood At The Session Varied

The mood at the first negotiating session for village employees Friday varied from one of light merriment to a hard line of resentment between officials and the policemen's union.

Trustee Michael Valenza, who chaired the meeting, refused to let the attorney for the Combined Counties Police Association sit at the table with village employees on the wage and salary committee.

Valenza told the attorney, Arthur Loey, he could sit in the audience and would be allowed to speak, but that he could not sit at the bargaining table.

Village Policeman William Hoos objected to the ruling, pointing out Loey had been allowed at the table in other years.

Valenza responded the table was for the committee but Loey could sit in the first row of the audience.

"You said you would recognize our representative," Mr. Loey is our representative," Hoos responded.

Valenza offered to hold a vote on the matter, but Hoos declined, saying he would go along with the arrangement as long as it was clear that Loey was free to speak at any time.

IN ANOTHER minor skirmish, Loey

told the board the policemen want a formal contract rather than an ordinance because the board can change ordinances as it wishes.

"Are you saying we would renege on our agreement?" Valenza asked the attorney.

"That you could renege," Loey replied.

There were also references to the policemen seeing other employees as "second class citizens," and other pointed remarks emphasizing that all employees would be treated equally.

Some of the lighter moments during the evening came when secretary Lorraine Lark pointed out it is easier to have a baby by caesarian section than by normal birth under the current insurance policy. Police Sgt. Michael Hermes quipped the police would rather use the $225 paid for a birth "on birth control pills."

At another point in the discussion the village manager suggested overtime pay for police sergeants could be omitted as a means of cutting back on expenditures.

Valenza said that would have to be discussed.

Police Sgt. Gene Wolf responded —

"No discussion, shoot the manager!"

3 Charged Following Drug Raid At Farmhouse

Three persons were arrested and charged Friday night in a drug raid at 232 N. Arlington Heights Rd. by Buffalo Grove police and agents from the Metropolitan Enforcement Group.

The raid took place at a farmhouse that has been under surveillance for several months, according to police. They said the house was a major source of drug traffic in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Arlington Heights.

Arrested in the raid were Dennis Butler, 19, Deborah Manseau, 18, and Charles Trebing, 22. All three gave their home addresses as 232 N. Arlington Heights Rd.

Butler was charged with possession of a hypodermic and syringe and possession of controlled substance. Manseau and Trebing were also charged with possession of a controlled substance.

BUFFALO GROVE police said they found a number of drugs and instruments connected with these drugs in the farmhouse. They reportedly found heroin, amphetamines, barbiturates, cocaine and marijuana as well as pipes, hypodermics and syringes.

Police also said they found a stolen record player and a .22-caliber pistol stored in the house.

The street value of the drugs was estimated at more than $1,000. Police said, however, that a more exact amount will come after all the items are examined by the lab.

The raid is expected to cut much of the drug traffic in the Buffalo Grove area, police said. They said that even after the raid buyers were still coming to the farmhouse asking for drugs.

Bond for the three suspects is unknown at this time. They are being held in the Lake County jail. Seven Buffalo Grove policemen and nine MEG agents took part in the raid.

Joint Work Led To Arrests

A series of clues pieced together by four suburban police departments led to the arrest of a Half Day man and a Wheeling man last weekend on murder and armed robbery charges.

Police explained that at a meeting of detectives from the Des Plaines, Wheeling and Carpentersville police departments and the Cook County Sheriff's Department, the similarity of several robberies involving a .22-caliber automatic pistol was noted.

The clue of the gun coupled with a sketch of a murder suspect provided by Carpentersville police led a Wheeling police detective to a possible suspect, police said.

The arrested men were Greg Vern Christensen, 17, of 137 Berkshire Ln., Wheeling, and William Stinger Jr., 19, of Half Day.

Des Plaines police have charged both Stinger and Christensen with armed robbery in connection with a robbery of $350 from the A Mart Food Store at 1111 Oakton St., Des Plaines, on March 16.

In addition, Carpentersville police have charged Stinger with murder in connection with the death of a grocery store manager March 12 in Carpentersville.

Cook County Sheriff's Police have charged Christensen with the $110 armed robbery of the Day and Night Food Store at 1183 Elmhurst Rd. in unincorporated Des Plaines March 19.

The arrest of the two men and six juveniles also led to police solving a minor burglary and a minor theft in Wheeling, but no charges have been filed in connection with those two crimes.

Christensen and Stinger will both appear in Niles District Court tomorrow afternoon for a preliminary hearing on the charges.

Police said the juveniles involved in the incidents have not been formally charged.

Prospect Heights Taxes Increase, Too

Property taxes will be higher this year in Prospect Heights as they will be in most parts of Wheeling Township.

Among the biggest increases was in the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, where the rate went from .298 per $100 assessed valuation to .594. Last spring voters there approved construction of a fire station addition on Camp McDonald Road just east of Highway 83.

The rate in the Prospect Heights Library District climbed to .226 from .096. Last year voters approved funds for the construction of a new library building.

The tax rate in the Forest River Fire Protection District dropped slightly from .362 to .354. In School Dist. 23 the rate climbed from 2.852 to 3.108. The High School Dist. 214 tax rate climbed from 2.474 to 2.516. The tax rate for Harper College dropped slightly, from .206 to .200.

Other Prospect Heights area tax rates follow: Old Town Sanitary District .654, down from .696; Country Gardens Sanitary District .374 up from .372; Prospect Heights Sanitary District .504, up from .486.

Two Zoning Hearings Are Reset For May 9

Wheeling zoning hearings on a proposed shopping center on Elmhurst Road at North Street and a zoning variation request for signs at the Clark Oil station at Strong Street and Milwaukee Avenue have been delayed.

The hearings originally scheduled for last Tuesday were continued because the zoning board of appeals did not have enough members present to conduct business.

The hearings will now be the evening of May 9. Other zoning hearings on a variety of rezoning requests are going to be scheduled for the evenings of May 16 and May 23.

Rains Bring Flooded Yards, Basements

Firemen Douse Arsonist's Blaze

Buffalo Grove firemen extinguished a blaze caused by an arsonist late Saturday night at 1800 Park Pl.

The fire was in an abandoned single-family dwelling owned by the State of Illinois. It is located in an area that will be cleared to make way for a new section of Buffalo Grove Road.

Firemen said this is the third time they have been called to the house to extinguish a deliberately set fire at this address. The blaze started in the bedroom.

Scouting News

CUB SCOUT Pack 218 of Wheeling participated in the recent Northwest Suburban Council Scout-O-Rama in Arlington Park. The boys demonstrated their regatta track and had a contest to win model airplanes by flying models through a target. Pack 218 also enjoyed a trip to the Shrine Circus because of its successful candy sales. Another trip is planned soon.

CUB SCOUT Pack 47 will have a Space Derby at 1:30 p.m. April 23 at Carl Sandburg School. Every scout will receive a space derby kit from the pack. In addition to the rocket races there will be prizes and refreshments. A registration fee of 25 cents is required, and scouts must wear uniforms.

Bills Are Coming This Week

Real Estate Tax Bills Are Inching Upward

by KEN KOZAK

Palatine residents will be hit with either a 2.5 or 3.3 per cent tax increase when county tax bills come out this week.

And residents of Inverness will be looking at similar increases.

The predictable tale is told by the final tax rates for suburban Cook County townships that were released Monday by the county clerk's office.

Everyone who pays taxes in Palatine and Inverness will pay a little more this year. Just how much more is determined by the park district that services the area in which a resident lives.

In Palatine, all residents pay the same county, township, elementary and high school, and fire protection rates.

A RESIDENT within the boundaries of the Palatine Park District, however, is going to be paying more than a resident in the Salt Creek Rural Park District, because of the difference in park levies.

Most Palatine residents live in the Palatine Park District, and will pay $7.588 per $100 assessed property valuation, a 2.5 per cent increase over last year.

Those who live in the Salt Creek Park District will pay only $7.404 per $100, but their 3.3 per cent increase is greater.

Palatine residents will pay more in almost every taxing category. The village corporate levy is up from 53.8 cents per $100 to 56.8 cents. The Palatine Park District is up to 39.6 cents per $100, compared to 36.8 cents last year. And Salt Creek Rural Park District jumped 50 per cent, from 13.4 cents to 21.2 cents.

SCHOOL DISTRICT rates show increases in two categories and a decrease in one. School Dist. 15 is up from $2.524 per $100 to $2.528 and High School Dist. 211 is up to $2.744 per $100, .8 cents more than last year.

Harper College will collect a lower levy this year, 20 cents per $100, down .6 cents from 1970.

When totaled, the figures mean that a Palatine resident within the Palatine Park District boundaries, with a home assessed at $10,000 for tax purposes will pay $758.80, or $18.60 more than last year.

And a taxpayer in Salt Creek park district will pay $740.40 on a $10,000 home, or $23.60 more than last year.

INVERNESS TAX rates are also determined by the park districts there. Taxpayers there pay the same school and fire rates as those in Palatine.

The Inverness village levy is up to 48.2 cents per $100, nearly 10 cents more than last year.

Top tax rates in Inverness are paid by residents of the Inverness Park District, which levies 3.4 cents per $100. Their total levy is $6.896 per $100.

RESIDENTS OF the Palatine Rural Park District will pay $6.866 per $100, and those served by neither park district will pay $6.862.

The Inverness increases range from 14 to 15 cents per $100 assessed valuation more than last year.

Taxes that aren't returned to the villages for schools, parks, fire protection and corporate maintenance, are divided among other county agencies. They are the county, township, the general assistance fund, the Forest Preserve District, the road and bridge fund, the suburban tuberculosis sanitarium, the Northwest Mosquito Abatement District and the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Chicago SCLC To Intervene: Vivian

Cross-Burning Incident Spurs Suburb Racial Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in protest of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Klu Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NINA KOFF of Arlington

Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where "teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian said Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has been contacted regarding racial prejudices in the Northwest suburbs.

MUCH OF THE CAUSE of racial problems in the suburbs was leveled at the school systems. "We must examine the schools," Vivian said. "We plan to talk to the school board... and find out why black children are being run home from school."

After the news conference in Schaumburg, most of the group traveled in motorcade to the Hanover Park Village Hall to present their grievances to the village manager.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

—Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.

—Encourage adoption of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.

—A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.

—A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

PROFESSOR WILLIARD WILLIAMSON holds his 11-month-old adopted daughter Joy. Protests by neighbors have led the Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to lead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest Suburbs.

Skyjacking A Reality For Suburbanites

The threat of hijacking — and its implications for wide-traveling suburbanites came a little closer to home yesterday with the arrival at O'Hare Airport of an airplane in the control of a gunman.

A man demanding $500,000 and a trip to the Bahama Islands took control of a Miami-to-Chicago jet carrying 91 persons — among them members of suburban communities who suddenly entered the world's statistics of hijacked passengers.

The man, identified as William Herbert Green, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was arrested without a struggle by police and FBI agents when the aircraft landed in Chicago.

To the passengers, some of them homeward bound suburbanites, the ordeal was something to remember, if only after the incident was over and they discovered what happened:

MOST PASSENGERS aboard the plane said they didn't know anything was amiss until they had landed at O'Hare International Airport and were met by special buses which rolled them off for questioning by FBI agents.

Mollie Kemmer, 22, LaGrange, said she sat behind the hijacker. She described him as a white man with a light tan, having dark, curly hair and wearing a bright, wine-colored shirt. She said she saw no gun and realized something was wrong only when the stewardess walked away from him and came back and asked: "Sir, are you serious?"

Hilda Connell of Chicago said she first noticed the man after a half-hour layover at West Palm Beach. She said she left the plane for the layover, and when she reboarded, he was sitting — with one hand in a shopping bag — next to a woman with a baby.

THE WOMAN WITH the baby left her seat and sat elsewhere, Miss Connell said, and the co-pilot came down and sat next to him for the rest of the way into Chicago.

"Most of the people aboard must have been vacationers who don't fly very often, because hardly anyone seemed aware that something was wrong, even when we pulled into a remote part of the airfield and sat there a half hour."

"There was no commotion. Nothing," said James Stahr of Wheaton. "I didn't even know we were being hijacked until we landed at the farthest outposts of the terminal. Then I saw all the police cars around. I began to wonder."

A court hearing set last Thursday on how a breakdown of 70 per cent public benefit to 30 per cent special assessment was reached to finance Palatine's $1.4 million Colfax Street Improvement project was continued until April 24.

One of the attorneys representing more than half of the 71 Colfax Street property owners that are objecting to the special assessment was involved in another court trial last Thursday and was unable to attend the Colfax hearing. Circuit Court Judge Helen McGillicuddy granted the continuance and set the April 24 hearing date.

At that time it is expected that members of a three-man Palatine commission which set the 70-30 breakdown will appear in court to testify how they arrived at the figures.

Palatine Mayor Jack Moodie, Donald Diedrich and David George composed the commission. According to Kenneth Stonieser, attorney for the village in the assessment protest, at least one of the three men will probably appear at the hearing to answer questions.

In a hearing last week Judge McGillicuddy ruled there was enough question as to how the assessment spread was reached to order that the commissioners or their counsel attend the next hearing.

Objections filed by attorneys for the property owners charged that the commission had not followed statutory regulations in setting the 70-30 spread.

New 'Lake' Forces Closure Of N. Quentin Road

by MARGE FERROLI

What might be dubbed "Lake Quentin" has forced the indefinite closure of North Quentin Road from Northwest Highway to Dundee Road in Palatine Township.

Water that had been accumulating and standing on vacant land on the west side of the 1400 block of North Quentin poured over onto the road and property across the street following Sunday's heavy morning rains.

The result was water at least 18 inches deep on Quentin Road, many stalled cars for those that attempted to ford the stream too quickly and flooded driveways, front lawns and basements for those living in the area.

After surveying the flooded area Monday, engineers for the county highway department reported back to their Chicago office where the decision was made to close the road to all through traffic. Only those living off of Quentin from Northwest Highway to Dundee should enter it.

According to Tom McHugh, assistant chief engineer of the highway department, the road will remain closed until the water on the road is pumped away or the main source of the water problem is determined.

Neighbors along Quentin and McHugh said the cause of the flooding is probably due to a broken field drain tile on one of the properties. The county highway department has made several test holes in the area but has been unable to locate the faulty tile.

CREWS WORKING Monday first attempted to remove the water on the road by pumping it south onto some private property but stopped after objections by a resident.

Faced with no place else to pump the water, McHugh said they decided to set up about 500 feet of hose to carry the pumped water north into a forest preserve lake in Deer Grove north of Dundee Road.

The area has had an increasing water problem over the past two years, according to Mrs. Ted Arvanites of 1433 N. Quentin. "This has got to be the worst it's ever been," she said.

When she and her husband moved into their home three years ago, Mrs. Arvanites said there was no flooding problem. The drainage ditch in front of their home next to the road filled during wet periods and dried out at other times just as it was designed to do.

The following summer water accumulated in the ditch and did not drain out, causing it to stagnate and breed mosquitoes. Because of the standing water, at least six trees on the Arvanites property died and were cut down by the county highway department.

Last summer the Northwest Mosquito Abatement District sprayed the stagnant water area but Mrs. Arvanites said her property was still plagued with mosquitoes.

Rather than continue the stagnant water condition, the county highway department dumped dirt in the ditch and partially filled it. Mounds of dirt were also placed on the sides of Quentin Road because the shoulder had been washed away by the water.

WEEDS BEGAN to grow and mud built up in the partially filled ditch, making the front of houses along Quentin Road look like "pig sties," Mrs. Arvanites said.

With poor drainage ditches, the water continued to accumulate, primarily on vacant land owned by Mrs. Marion Jayne of Inverness. By last week, the water had reached the street level and flowed over the rim with the weekend rains.

The flooded condition has been aggravated over the past months by residents who have placed more dirt on their property to raise the level of the land above the water.

McHugh said his department requested that Arthur Cizek, 1370 N. Quentin, stop filling in the land because it was increasing the drainage problems on surrounding property.

Mrs. Arvanites said she and her neighbors, the Donald Kochs of 1435 N. Quentin, have been trying for months with letters to various local, county and state agencies to solve the flood problem.

A permanent solution has been put off because of the proposed widening of Dundee Road in a state-funded project. Part of plans for this project would improve Quentin Road south of Dundee with possible installation of storm sewers, McHugh said.

However, this road improvement is at least two years from starting because of other state funding commitments, McHugh said.

In the meantime, the source of the flood problem will have to be found, but "we just can't seem to get together with the people there on which way the water naturally flows," McHugh said.

THERE HAVE been conflicting reports from residents, some saying the water flows east and others, backed by the opinion of the mosquito abatement district, that it flows west.

"We moved out into the rural area because we hated the looks of subdivisions and we wanted trees," Mrs. Arvanites said. Now, with most of the trees removed from her front yard and water continuing to seep closer to her house, she says she's just about ready to move out and "go back to the city."

McHugh was unable to say when a solution might be reached, but that his department has been studying the situation closely for two weeks.

MOTORISTS PROCEEDED at their own risk Sunday and Monday through a section of Quentin Road just south of Dundee Road that was filled with water at an estimated depth of 18 inches. Many were less fortunate than others and stalled in the middle of the "lake." An increasing problem with poor drainage reached its worst level over the weekend, causing the closing of the road and heavy flooding on property in the area.

Registration Under Way For Summer School Here

Registration is under way for an expanded summer school program in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15.

The summer school has been expanded from six to eight centers this year. Eight new courses are being offered.

The attendance centers will be Kimball Hill, Jonas Salk, Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools in Rolling Meadows and Stuart Paddock, Virginia Lake, Winston Churchill and Hunting Ridge schools in Palatine.

The summer program will be conducted from 8 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday. The program will start June 14 and end July 18.

The summer school is organized so that it will be state supported. In order to qualify for state aid students must attend three hours daily.

A TUITION program is being offered for students who don't want to take three hours of classes. Students who enroll for just one class, which would be 1½ hours of instruction, would pay a tuition fee of $25. The one exception is the band and strings programs where tuition is only $15 for the summer.

Deadline for registration is May 1. Registration for the developmental reading and mathematics courses and speech correction courses is being conducted by the principals.

Registration for the other programs is by mail. Forms will also be available at the administration building and at all schools in the district.

Transportation will be available to students for an additional $10. The transportation will only be offered from 8 to 11 a.m.

All summer school students will be required to pay a $5 materials fee for books, workbooks, supplies and other materials.

NEW COURSES this summer include:

primary activities, a three-hour course for kindergarten students; advance typing, creative writing and journalism for grades 5, 6 and 7; communications media at Paddock School only for grades 5, 6 and 7; social studies at Plum Grove School only for grades 6 and 7; woods at Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools only for grades 6 and 7; foods at Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools only for grades 6 and 7; sewing at Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools only for grades 6 and 7; and advanced guitar and recreational activities for grades 5, 6 and 7.

Some 45-minute programs that were offered last year have been combined with others or expanded so all programs are 1½ hours or three hours. This was done to alleviate scheduling problems.

Retain Architect For Park

Arlington Heights architect Joe L. Bennett has been retained by the Palatine Park District to design buildings involved in the park district's proposed capital improvement program.

The park district is considering constructing maintenance, storage and recreation buildings as part of its $1.1 million plan.

Bennett earlier had been retained to design the outdoor swimming pool complex which the park district plans to build in Birchwood Park.

For the design work, Bennett is to receive up to $2,000 for pre-ferendum work and an additional 8½ per cent of the total cost of the capital improvement plan, if the referendum is successful.

The park district is expected to hold the referendum later this year. In addition to the buildings and swimming pool complex, plans include construction of the Palatine Trail, improvement of tennis courts and development of park land.

Some $1,347 in plumbing equipment was reported stolen sometime Sunday night from the site of the Sellsbergren's Old Madrid development in Palatine.

Palatine police said the equipment was taken from two work chests whose padlocks were removed with bolt cutters.

Reported missing were cutting torches, gauges and hoses for the torches, tape, wrenches, chain falls, and rigid sail cutters.

Consider Road, Sewer Plan

Where to go next with plans for a road and sewer improvement special assessment project in southeast Palatine will be considered in a committee of the whole meeting of the Palatine Village Board at 8 p.m. tonight at village hall.

Questionnaires were sent last month to some 130 property owners in an area generally bounded by Hellen to Gilbert and from Plum Grove Road to Oak Street. The form explained the proposal for drainage improvement in the area, costs for the work and asked whether the property owner was willing to pay his share to have the work done.

However, of the 86 questionnaires returned to village hall, the response was almost 20-to-1 against the special assessment project.

In view of the strongly negative reaction to the proposal, Village Mgr. Berton Braun has asked the village board to make a decision whether to proceed with the plan or stop it.

The project would include paving and installation of storm and sanitary sewers in various streets in the southeast section of town. Total cost was estimated at $328,000 for the project to be divided 50-50 between the property owners and village.

THE VILLAGE had received word early in March that its preliminary application for federal funds to finance its part of the project was acceptable to the Department of Housing and Urban Development and that a final application should be filed out.

This proposal is the second time the improvement project has been considered by the village. Residents in the area last year objected to the project because of what they felt were high costs.

Flooding problems and standing water on many properties in the southeast section have been the main reasons for starting the improvement project. There are currently no storm sewers in the area and a few sanitary sewers.

The residential area lies east of the Klefsstad Industrial Park, one of the primary causes of the flooding and drainage problems.

In other action tonight, the board will discuss a proposal of the Palatine Environmental Control Board to use funds collected through the glass recycling program for a scholarship made available to a local high school student.

Area Woman, Carpentersville Man Killed In Auto Collision

A Palatine woman was killed and her husband injured when the car in which they were riding collided with another vehicle Friday night in Barrington Township.

Gloria L. Bonner, 27, of 428 E. Carpenter Dr., died at 10 p.m. at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights of multiple injuries incurred in the 7:50 p.m. accident.

Her husband, William E. Bonner, was treated at the hospital for multiple contusions and abrasions around the head. A Christian Scientist, he checked out of the hospital on Saturday.

The driver of the other vehicle, Reuben

Reyna, 24, of Carpentersville, was pronounced dead on arrival at Northwest Community Hospital.

According to Barrington police, the Bonner vehicle, driven by Mr. Bonner, was westbound on Lake-Cook Road and the Reyna vehicle was northbound on Elm Road when the two collided.

Police did not give a cause for the accident.

Traffic on Lake-Cook Road has the right-of-way at the intersection, while Elm Road traffic has a stop sign. Speed limits on the two streets near the intersection are 55 and 45 mph respectively.

An inquest into the two deaths is to be held by the Cook County Coroner's office at a later date.

Friday Is Deadline For Dance Tickets

Friday is the deadline for obtaining tickets to a benefit dance for the Palatine North Little League.

The dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. April 28 in the Old Orchard Country Club, Mount Prospect.

The $15 per couple tickets are available by calling Carol Loverde, 358-6467, or Marion Anderson, 358-1924. Cost of the ticket includes a late night buffet.

Choir Wins At Contest

The A cappella choir at Palatine High School took first place in a music contest for large groups over the weekend in Gurnee.

Sixteen schools competed in the contest.

David Reiser, a music teacher at Palatine High School, directed the 55-member choir. Richard Gallagher, a student, was accompanist.

Flight Experiment Proposals Filed

Two sophomores at Palatine High School have submitted flight experiment proposals for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Skylab missions.

Tom C. Bohner, 16, of 1457 Reynolds Dr., and Steven H. Williams, 15, of 639 Bel Aire Ter., were among 3,409 students across the country to enter proposals.

The Skylab project is to be used next year as a manned laboratory to conduct scientific and technical studies.

The proposals submitted by finalists in the skylab student project may be accepted as official flight experiments.

Bohner's project is entitled "Photosynthesis in Zero Gravity," and Williams', "Scientific Experiment."

Runoff Vote Set For Fremd Council Chief

A runoff between two Fremd High School students seeking the presidency of the student council will be held today.

Steve Strickland and Bart Walker received the same number of votes in Friday's election. They were the only candidates for the position.

Winners for the other positions in the 1972-73 school year were Mark Kovacic, vice president; Dave Keyes, treasurer; and Mike Soderlund, secretary.

Homeowners Save From $17 To $33

Residents Here Happily Face Lower Tax Bill

Rates By Community

See Page 7

Rolling Meadows residents are going to be receiving lower county tax bills this year.

The county clerk's office released final tax rates for suburban Cook County townships Monday, and the figures show that all Rolling Meadows taxpayers — in Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships — are going to get a tax reduction this year.

The tax rate reductions will vary from a low of 17 cents less per $100 assessed property valuation for some Rolling Meadows residents in Palatine township to a high of 33 cents less for all Rolling Meadows residents in Schaumburg township.

In other words, the tax bill on a Rolling Meadows home assessed at $10,000 for tax purposes will be anywhere from $17 to $33 lower this year, depending on where the home is located.

The factors determining the tax saving are the township, school district, park district and fire district the property is located in.

Most Rolling Meadows taxpayers live in Palatine Township and pay taxes to school Dist. 15, the Rolling Meadows Park District and the Rolling Meadows Fire Protection District.

These people will be paying $7.464 per $100 assessed valuation, about four per cent less than last year's figure.

Residents in the same school and fire districts, but in Salt Creek Rural Park District will pay $7.242 per $100, compared to $7.432 last year.

And residents who are served by Salt Creek Park District and Palatine Rural Fire District will pay $6.894 per $100, compared to $7.064 last year.

City residents within the boundaries of Elk Grove township will be paying to Dist. 15, and the Rolling Meadows park and fire districts. Their rate is $7.166 per $100, down from $7.438 last year.

The highest rates paid by Rolling Meadows residents are paid by those who live in Schaumburg township, which includes only a small corner of the city.

The major portion of their money goes to School Dist. 54, and the Rolling Meadows park and fire districts. Their rate is $8.356 per $100, compared to $8.688 a year ago.

The 1971 tax reductions reflect the fact that the City of Rolling Meadows abated a 37 cents per $100 corporate tax levy that was paid in 1970.

Both the Rolling Meadows park and fire districts show lower tax rates this year, while Dist. 15 is up 2 cents per $100 and High School Dist. 214 is levying four cents more.

A breakdown of some of the major tax rates included in the total levies per $100 assessed valuation follows.

School districts: Dist. 15, $2.526; Dist. 54, $2.892; High School Dist. 214, $2.516; Harper College (Dist. 512), 20 cents.

Fire districts: Rolling Meadows Fire Protection District, 40.6 cents; Palatine Rural Fire District, 5.8 cents.

Park districts: Rolling Meadows Park District, 43.4 cents; Salt Creek Rural Park District, 21.2 cents.

The rest of the tax money collected is split up among the county, township, the general assistance fund, the Forest Preserve District, the Road and Bridge fund, the suburban tuberculosis sanitarium, the Northwest Mosquito Abatement District and the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Chicago SCLC To Intervene: Vivian

Cross-Burning Incident Spurs Suburb Racial Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in protest of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Klu Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NINA KOFF of Arlington

Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where "teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian said Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has been contacted regarding racial prejudices in the Northwest suburbs.

MUCH OF THE CAUSE of racial problems in the suburbs was leveled at the school systems. "We must examine the schools," Vivian said. "We plan to talk to the school board... and find out why black children are being run home from school."

After the news conference in Schaumburg, most of the group traveled in motorcade to the Hanover Park Village Hall to present their grievances to the village manager.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

—Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.

—Encourage adoption of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.

—A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.

—A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

Pass Law For Police Firms

The Rolling Meadows City Council has passed an ordinance regulating the activities of private policemen and police-for-hire firms in the city.

The new ordinance provides for the registration of private policemen with the city police. It also sets standards for the types of uniforms that private policemen can wear.

Under the new ordinance, anyone operating as a private policeman in Rolling Meadows will have to submit to the city police a sworn statement with his name and address, his employer's name and affirmation that he has not been convicted of a felony, nor been institutionalized because of drugs, alcohol or mental illness.

An applicant will also have to submit a picture of himself in uniform and be fingerprinted.

The uniform of a private policeman must clearly identify him as a private policeman and may not resemble uniforms worn by city police, according to the ordinance.

Violation of the ordinance carries fines from $20 to $500 for each offense.

Ald. Thomas Scanlan, who proposed the ordinance, said it was written at the request of the police chief.

He said, "There should be control over private police and their uniforms and actions should not be construed as those of the civil police."

Skyjacking A Reality For Suburbanites

The threat of hijacking — and its implications for wide-traveling suburbanites came a little closer to home yesterday with the arrival at O'Hare Airport of an airplane in the control of a gunman.

A man demanding $500,000 and a trip to the Bahama Islands took control of a Miami-to-Chicago jet carrying 91 persons — among them members of suburban communities who suddenly entered the world's statistics of hijacked passengers.

The man, identified as William Herbert Green, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was arrested without a struggle by police and FBI agents when the aircraft landed in Chicago.

To the passengers, some of them homeward bound suburbanites, the ordeal was something to remember, if only after the incident was over and they discovered what happened:

MOST PASSENGERS aboard the plane said they didn't know anything was amiss until they had landed at O'Hare International Airport and were met by special buses which rolled them off for questioning by FBI agents.

Mollie Kemmer, 22, LaGrange, said she sat behind the hijacker. She described him as a white man with a light tan, having dark, curly hair and wearing a bright, wine-colored shirt. She said she saw no gun and realized something was wrong only when the stewardess walked away from him and came back and asked: "Sir, are you serious?"

Hilda Connell of Chicago said she first noticed the man after a half-hour layover at West Palm Beach. She said she left the plane for the layover, and when she reboarded, he was sitting — with one hand in a shopping bag — next to a woman with a baby.

THE WOMAN WITH the baby left her seat and sat elsewhere, Miss Connell said, and the co-pilot came down and sat next to him for the rest of the way into Chicago.

"Most of the people aboard must have been vacationers who don't fly very often, because hardly anyone seemed aware that something was wrong, even when we pulled into a remote part of the airfield and sat there a half hour."

"There was no commotion. Nothing," said James Stahr of Wheaton. "I didn't even know we were being hijacked until we landed at the farthest outposts of the terminal. Then I saw all the police cars around. I began to wonder."

The Nation

Doctors at Brooke Army Medical Center said former President Lyndon B. Johnson suffered a brief burst of extra heartbeats and that his heart specialist was summoned from Atlanta.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the administration would rule out only the reintroduction of ground forces and the use of nuclear weapons in trying to help the South Vietnamese, voted to cut off funds for U.S. land, sea or air forces involved in Vietnam by the end of the year.

A Wall Street consultant testified that White House aide Peter Flanigan gave him a report prepared by International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. before hiring him to make the study that helped convince the Justice Department to drop antitrust action against the corporation.

A guard was found dead and another was set ablaze by a firebomb thrown by a convict at the Louisiana State Prison at Angola, it was reported. An estimated 1,000 inmates were locked up to prevent further violence.

President Nixon will visit Poland May 31 and June 1 on his way home from his summit meeting with Soviet Union leaders, the White House announced.

Engineers who worked all night on the problem told Apollo 16 astronauts that the mysterious flaking of paint off their moonship would not keep them from attempting a landing in the moon's mountains.

The State

A gun-brandishing hijacker who took over a Miami-to-Chicago Delta Airlines flight with 91 persons aboard was captured shortly after the plane landed at O'Hare Airport. He had demanded $500,000 and a flight to the Bahama Islands.

The World

British troops killed at least two Irish Republican Army gunmen in Belfast and four British soldiers were wounded in the worst gun battles in Northern Ireland in eight months.

A slowdown by Britain's 290,000 railroad workers to support wage demands spread transport chaos across that nation. Many stations were closed and millions of commuters delayed.

Security forces chasing Tupamara guerrilla suspects killed seven persons in a gun battle outside a Communist Party political club in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The War

U.S. warplanes bombed North Vietnam for the 12th consecutive day... The Soviet Union published a protest accusing the U.S. of committing a "criminal act" by damaging four Soviet merchant ships in air raids on Haiphong Harbor... U.S. military strength in South Vietnam was reduced by 5,000 men last week but the over-all number of Americans in the combat zone increased by 11,000 because of the Communist offensive, the U.S. command said.

The Market

With an eye on the Price Commission, the Justice Department and the Vietnam War, investors were cautious and the market suffered a slight setback in light trading. The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.13 to 966.59. Turnover slowed to 15,390,000 shares from the 17,460,000 traded Friday. Of 1,782 issues crossing the tape, 794 declined and 633 advanced. 16 Vie For 5 Vacant Seats On St. Colette School Bd.

Sixteen candidates are vying for five vacant seats on the St. Colette School Board in the annual school board election this month.

Seeking election to the two-year terms are: Richard Curtis, Joyce Muldoon, James Shirmerr, Mary Anne Suerth, Lee Austerlode, William Kenny, Edward Noonan, Frank Coppolletta, Kathy Corr, Mary Koraleski, Charles Bremer, Mary Langlotz, Melvin Andraschko, Gerald Fohlmeister, James Niesen and Joseph Palella.

St. Colette's School Board is comprised of 11 elected members, the Rev. Thomas Fielding, pastor, and Sister Marie, principal.

Ballots have been mailed to all registered parishioners of St. Colette Parish. Voting will take place on the next two Sundays. Ballots are to be returned to the ballot box in the rear of the church. Any registered parishioner, 16 years old or older, is eligible to vote in the election.

Additional ballots will be available in the church office or at the rectory for those who did not receive one in the mail, lost it or forgot to bring it.

$4,500 Allotted For Tank Site Improvements

About $4,500 is going to be spent by the city to upgrade the appearance of the water tank site on Central Road.

The appropriation was made Tuesday by the City Council, but not before Ald. Fred Jacobson objected that they weren't spending enough money to do a complete job.

Originally, the streets, alleys and utilities committee was considering recommending an expenditure of $20,000 for a major renovation of the site, but decided that was too much.

That decision was spurred, according to Ald. Dan Weber, a committee member, by an agreement with residents in the area who had complained about the deterioration at the site.

A compromise with the residents was reached and the SAU committee agreed to recommend spending $4,500 to remove the old fence at the site, put in a new chain-link fence and grade and sod the area around the tank. The city also agreed to stop using the tank area as a storage location.

Jacobson said he was "disappointed with the committee's recommendation on the well site. I think we should do it properly."

Weber countered arguing that the planned improvements would make the site "much the same as it is now in other parts of the city where we have this type of well." He said the committee was largely influenced by the willingness of the residents in the area to go along with the $4,500 plan.

Runoff Vote Set For Fremd Council Chief

A runoff between two Fremd High School students seeking the presidency of the student council will be held today.

Steve Strickland and Bart Walker received the same number of votes in Friday's election. They were the only candidates for the position.

Winners for the other positions in the 1972-73 school year were Mark Kovack, vice president; Dave Keyes, treasurer; and Mike Soderlund, secretary.

Willow Bend PTA To Meet

New officers will be installed at the Willow Bend School PTA year end meeting tonight at 8 p.m.

The installation will be followed by a summary of this year's accomplishments.

Landscaping plans for the school grounds will also be discussed.

St. Colette Holds Council Election

Eleven candidates are seeking election to the 11 vacancies on the St. Colette Parish Council in Rolling Meadows.

The candidates for the two year terms are Robert Strawn, Ed Logue, John Thoresdale, James Gessner, John Rock, Jeffrey Stabile, Peggy Stabile, Gary Nelson, Dan Steber, Mickey Thoma and Ruth Heavin.

Elections will be held on the next two Sundays. Ballots are to be returned to the ballot box in the rear of the church.

Teacher Can Search For Drugs: Ware

On school property a teacher has the legal right to search a student he suspects is using drugs, Mitchell Ware told about 150 Prospect High School teachers during a speech yesterday at the school.

An attorney, Ware is currently a member of the President's Commission on Drug Abuse and the former head of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

"Call in your local law enforcement officer, if you suspect something. That's the safest thing to do," Ware said.

Ware cautioned teachers about carrying around illegal drugs they may find in the possession of students. "Call your local authorities right away. You don't have the right to carry it around anymore than the kid did," he said.

If a student using drugs takes a teacher into his confidence, the teacher should get him medical attention, according to Ware. "I wouldn't tell the parent, unless you find out about a student on your own," he advised.

WARE RAISED more questions than he could answer. "Just what is an addict? And should we try to eliminate all drug abuse?" are some of the questions Ware said the President's commission will try to answer.

Ware said the first commission report on marijuana, released last month, lists "fair, realistic and workable recommendations." Those recommendations include evaluating drug education materials to make sure they are factually correct and removing the heavy criminal penalty now placed on marijuana users.

"Marijuana is a harmful substance that can have serious long-term effects," Ware said. "But it doesn't do as much harm as drugs for which there are lighter penalties." Ware pointed out that his commission found out that 93 per cent of law enforcement activities regarding marijuana were arrests for possessors of narcotics, two-thirds of those for less than one ounce.

"We should concentrate on the purchaser," he said. "The user just isn't a social problem."

CONSTRUCTION OF the eighth high school for Dist. 214 has begun in earnest with workmen now laying foundations for the $10.5 million school in Buffalo Grove. The school, located at Arlington Heights and Dundee Roads, follows the design of Rolling Meadows High School.

Factory Prepares Youths For Life

At first glance the five youngsters working at the Ampex Corp. plant in Elk Grove Village seem not at all different from their co-workers.

Looking closer, one might think the five are rather young to be working at a factory-type job.

But few would guess that the five are students in the special education program at Elk Grove High School — students with severe learning problems.

The five students — as well as seven others in the special education program — are participating in a work-study program that gives them on-the-job experience at work they may follow after graduating from high school.

THE STUDENTS do a variety of work at Ampex, and do it well, according to Gene Nyland, operations manager and the man responsible for initiating the program there.

"We are most pleased with the first three months of the program," Nyland said. "There has been absolutely no absenteeism and they are completely dedicated."

"We're not being asked to employ anybody who's not doing the job. These kids are doing the work just like anybody else."

Under the program, students spend mornings in regular classes at Elk Grove High School and then work four hours at their jobs. The program was begun several years ago in the special education program, but this year has been expanded to include not only seniors but also juniors, who thus gain two years of work experience.

Besides Ampex, students work at Master Metal Strip Service and Kehe Foods in Rolling Meadows, Weber-Stevens in Arlington Heights, Bonanza Steak House, Davidmeyer Bus Co., and William A. Lewis at Randhurst Shopping Center.

"THE PROGRAM gives them the opportunity to adjust to the regular work day," said Hannah Schwitzky, a teacher in the program. "It's not a full eight-hour day, but it's kind of a progression."

Miss Schwitzky noted that the program gives the students a good chance to learn what work is really like and gives them time to adjust to it.

"The thing for the most part is that they need to be taught good work habits," she said. "And the best way for them to do it is to get out and work."

Nyland noted that the work also helps build confidence in the youngsters, who are often very unsure of themselves. By seeing that they are able to do a job well, they lose a lot of their inhibitions.

"They immediately feel that they're failures," he said. "They need a lot of encouragement, but the people here go out of their way to make these kids feel comfortable."

NYLAND, WHO describes the program as an "exciting one that is very important to the community," said that there had been much talk previously that industry wouldn't accept programs such as this. But the success of the local program apparently may be erasing that belief.

"We're willing to hire as many of these students as they have," Nyland said, noting that after a four-month trial with four of the students, the company hired its fifth student earlier this month.

Registration Under Way For Summer School Here

Registration is under way for an expanded summer school program in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15.

The summer school has been expanded from six to eight centers this year. Eight new courses are being offered.

The attendance centers will be Kimball Hill, Jonas Salk, Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools in Rolling Meadows and Stuart Paddock, Virginia Lake, Winston Churchill and Hunting Ridge schools in Palatine.

The summer program will be conducted from 8 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday. The program will start June 14 and end July 18.

The summer school is organized so that it will be state supported. In order to qualify for state aid students must attend three hours daily.

A TUITION program is being offered for students who don't want to take three hours of classes. Students who enroll for just one class, which would be 1½ hours of instruction, would pay a tuition fee of $25. The one exception is the band and strings programs where tuition is only $15 for the summer.

Deadline for registration is May 1. Registration for the developmental reading and mathematics courses and speech correction courses is being conducted by the principals. Registration for the other programs is by mail. Forms will also be available at the administration building and at all schools in the district.

Transportation will be available to students for an additional $10. The transportation will only be offered from 8 to 11 a.m.

All summer school students will be required to pay a $5 materials fee for books, workbooks, supplies and other materials.

NEW COURSES this summer include: primary activities, a three-hour course for kindergarten students; advance typing, creative writing and journalism for grades 5, 6 and 7; communications media at Paddock School only for grades 5, 6 and 7; social studies at Plum Grove School only for grades 6 and 7; woods at Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools only for grades 6 and 7; foods at Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools only for grades 6 and 7; sewing at Plum Grove and Carl Sandburg schools only for grades 6 and 7; and advanced guitar and recreational activities for grades 5, 6 and 7.

Some 45-minute programs that were offered last year have been combined with others or expanded so all programs are 1½ hours or three hours. This was done to alleviate scheduling problems.

Consider Road, Sewer Plan

Where to go next with plans for a road and sewer improvement special assessment project in southeast Palatine will be considered in a committee of the whole meeting of the Palatine Village Board at 8 p.m. tonight at village hall.

Questionnaires were sent last month to some 130 property owners in an area generally bounded by Hellen to Gilbert and from Plum Grove Road to Oak Street. The form explained the proposal for drainage improvement in the area, costs for the work and asked whether the property owner was willing to pay his share to have the work done.

However, of the 88 questionnaires returned to village hall, the response was almost 20-to-1 against the special assessment project.

In view of the strongly negative reaction to the proposal, Village Mgr. Berton Braun has asked the village board to make a decision whether to proceed with the plan or stop it.

The project would include paving and installation of storm and sanitary sewers in various streets in the southeast section of town. Total cost was estimated at $528,000 for the project to be divided 50-50 between the property owners and village.

THE VILLAGE had received word early in March that its preliminary application for federal funds to finance its part of the project was acceptable to the Department of Housing and Urban Development and that a final application should be filed out.

This proposal is the second time the improvement project has been considered by the village. Residents in the area last year objected to the project because of what they felt were high costs.

Flooding problems and standing water on many properties in the southeast section have been the main reasons for starting the improvement project. There are currently no storm sewers in the area and a few sanitary sewers.

The residential area lies east of the Klefsstad Industrial Park, one of the primary causes of the flooding and drainage problems.

There Were Few Surprises

Real Estate Tax Bills Are Inching Upward

Only half a month late this year, the 1972 property tax rates contain few surprises for Mount Prospect residents. All village property owners will face increases of from 1.7 per cent to 7.3 per cent in their tax rates.

The bills will be mailed out by Cook County officials this week. Taxpayers will have 30 calendar days in which to pay the tax before a penalty will be assessed. The bills are normally out at the end of March.

The total tax rate for Mount Prospect residents in Elk Grove Township living in School Dist. 57 is $7.402 per $100 assessed valuation, up 1.89 per cent from last year. Those living in the Elk Grove Township School Dist. 59 portion of the village will pay a tax rate of $7.346 per $100 assessed valuation. This is an increase of 3.96 per cent over the previous year.

Similar increases are in store for residents in the Wheeling Township portion of the village (Central Road is the dividing line between the two townships). However, in all cases this year's increases are smaller than last year's increases, which averaged 9 per cent.

FOR VILLAGE residents living in River Trails School Dist. 26 and in the Mount Prospect Park District, the total tax rate will be $7.424 per $100 assessed valuation, an increase of 6.7 per cent.

Village residents in the Wheeling Township section of School Dist. 57 and in the Mount Prospect Park District will have a hike of 2.3 per cent to $7.434.

The largest rate increase, 7.3 per cent, will be experienced by village residents in River Trails School Dist. 26 and the River Trails Park District. They will pay $7.518 as their rate.

Mount Prospect residents served by the Arlington Heights Park District will have a total tax rate of $7.382, an increase of 1.7 per cent. Those in School Dist. 25 served by the Prospect Meadows Park District will have a total rate of $8.178, up 4.9 per cent.

THE TOTAL tax rate includes school and park districts, the village, the township and several other taxing districts.

The two bodies with the greatest percentage of increase was the River Trails

Park District at $9.496, up 7.6 cents, and School Dist. 26 at $2.594, up 25 cents.

Voters in the River Trails Park District approved a $750,000 bond issue in December 1970 for the purchase of the Rob Roy Driving Range on Euclid Avenue.

In School Dist. 26 last spring, voters approved a 20-cent hike in their tax rate. The increase was the first in 10 years for the educational fund. At the same time, voters gave the go-ahead to a $525,000 bond issue for an addition to River Trails Junior High School.

Chicago SCLC To Intervene: Vivian

Cross-Burning Incident Spurs Suburb Racial Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in protest of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Klu Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NJANA KOFF of Arlington Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where

"teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian said Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has been contacted regarding racial prejudices in the Northwest suburbs.

MUCH OF THE CAUSE of racial problems in the suburbs was leveled at the school systems. "We must examine the schools," Vivian said. "We plan to talk to the school board... and find out why black children are being run home from school."

After the news conference in Schaumburg, most of the group traveled in motorcade to the Hanover Park Village Hall to present their grievances to the village manager.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

—Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.

—Encouragement of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.

—A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.

—A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

PROFESSOR WILLARD WILLIAMSON holds his 11-month-old adopted daughter Joy. Protests by neighbors have led the Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to lead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest Suburbs.

Skyjacking A Reality For Suburbanites

The threat of hijacking — and its implications for wide-traveling suburbanites came a little closer to home yesterday with the arrival at O'Hare Airport of an airplane in the control of a gunman.

A man demanding $500,000 and a trip to the Bahama Islands took control of a Miami-to-Chicago jet carrying 91 persons — among them members of suburban communities who suddenly entered the world's statistics of hijacked passengers.

The man, identified as William Herbert Green, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was arrested without a struggle by police and FBI agents when the aircraft landed in Chicago.

To the passengers, some of them homeward bound suburbanites, the ordeal was something to remember, if only after the incident was over and they discovered what happened:

MOST PASSENGERS aboard the plane said they didn't know anything was amiss until they had landed at O'Hare International Airport and were met by special buses which rolled them off for questioning by FBI agents.

Mollie Kemmer, 22, LaGrange, said she sat behind the hijacker. She described him as a white man with a light tan, having dark, curly hair and wearing a bright, wine-colored shirt. She said she saw no gun and realized something was wrong only when the stewardess walked away from him and came back and asked: "Sir, are you serious?"

Hilda Connell of Chicago said she first noticed the man after a half-hour layover at West Palm Beach. She said she left the plane for the layover, and when she reboarded, he was sitting — with one hand in a shopping bag — next to a woman with a baby.

THE WOMAN WITH the baby left her seat and sat elsewhere, Miss Connell said, and the co-pilot came down and sat next to him for the rest of the way into Chicago.

"Most of the people aboard must have been vacationers who don't fly very often, because hardly anyone seemed aware that something was wrong, even when we pulled into a remote part of the airfield and sat there a half hour."

"There was no commotion. Nothing," said James Stahr of Wheaton. "I didn't even know we were being hijacked until we landed at the farthest outposts of the terminal. Then I saw all the police cars around. I began to wonder."

Prospect Heights Taxes Up

Property taxes will be higher this year in Prospect Heights as they will be in most parts of Wheeling Township.

Among the biggest increases was in the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, where the rate went from .298 per $100 assessed valuation to .594. Last spring voters there approved construction of a fire station addition on Camp McDonald Road just east of Highway 83.

The rate in the Prospect Heights Library District climbed to .226 from .096. Last year voters approved funds for the construction of a new library building.

The tax rate in the Forest River Fire Protection District dropped slightly from .362 to .354. In School Dist. 23 the rate climbed from 2.852 to 3.108. The High School Dist. 214 tax rate climbed from 2.474 to 2.516. The tax rate for Harper College dropped slightly, from .206 to .200.

Other Prospect Heights area tax rates follow: Old Town Sanitary District .654, down from .696; Country Gardens Sanitary District .374 up from .372; Prospect Heights Sanitary District .504, up from .486.

Hanson Makes It Official—He'll Resign As School Head

Harrison Hanson, Mount Prospect Dist. 57 school board president, yesterday confirmed reports that he will resign before his term ends next April.

Hanson has purchased a home in Barrington and plans to move there in July. He said he doesn't know when his resignation will become effective.

"I'm leaving it up to the other board members to decide," he said. He said several board members have indicated they would like him to remain on the board while the budget is being prepared.

Hanson said he did not make a definite decision to resign until it was legally too late to affect the recent school board election. According to state law, when a board member resigns, his term is filled at the next school board election. Until that time, a member is appointed by the board.

"When we bought the house it was too late to have any effect on the election," he said. He purchased the house March 26. "We felt any talk about it (the move) would have just confused the issue. People might have thought there were three openings when there were only two."

HANSON said he will discuss his resignation with the board at the May 1 meeting. He said the board will fill the vacancy by appointment. As to who they will appoint, he said "that's strictly up to them."

Several Mount Prospect residents have already started a petition campaign to appoint Leo Floros as Hanson's replacement. Floros' term ended last night. A Dist. 57 board member for four years, he recently ran unsuccessfully for a seat on the High School Dist. 214 school board.

Nancy Schmid, one of the organizers of the campaign, said the group wants Floros "because he has been such a valuable member of the board. We would like to let the community have a voice in selection of the board member that will replace Hanson."

Mrs. Schmid hopes to get at least 1,000 signatures before the May 1 meeting. "We want to present it to the board so they won't be able to push someone in before we have a chance to speak up."

SHE SAID the thrust of the campaign has been with parents of students in hand because their names are easy to get. She hopes, however, to reach all parents and residents in Dist. 57.

Floros said yesterday he would accept an appointment. "I don't want anyone to think I'm pursuing, but if the board were to ask I would accept knowing it was only for the balance of this year. One of the reasons I didn't want to run again was that three years was too long."

Floros, who said he is not encouraging the petitions, said he was flattered. "I have told a couple who were doing it that I would not encourage it. If the board has other people they want to consider they should do it. I do think I can make some contributions, but I'm sure other people can too."

"Zoom In On Troop 742" is the title of a recently completed movie — starring Girl Scout Troop 742 of Mount Prospect. With leaders Sue Stelling and Pat Kimball as producers, the girls planned and set up each scene for filming.

This was all part of a special "our own" badge, which a local troop may plan and carry out. Before beginning the project, the girls visited WGN-TV studios.

One part of "Zoom In" focuses on the troop's winter weekend near Rockford, including snow sculptures and winter sports. Other scenes show the girls presenting a flag ceremony and working on Girl Scout badges. In one scene, Mayor Robert Teichert shakes hands with the girls as part of their activity citizenship badge.

"The girls really enjoyed making this movie," said Pat Kimball. "Now they will begin taping a sound track to go with it."

"Zoom In" will premiere at the troop's badge ceremony in May. It will also be shown to Brownies to help stimulate their interest in moving up to Girl Scouts.

ALTHOUGH Mike Hirz spent his 20th birthday many miles from home, it turned into a family celebration after all. His parents Ludwig and Jane Hirz 311 N. Dale Ave., flew down to Fort Polk, La., where Mike is in basic training, to celebrate the occasion.

This was also a special Parents' Weekend at the U.S. Army base. The young men in basic training put on special demonstrations for their visiting parents.

Teacher Can Conduct Drug Searches: Ware

On school property a teacher has the legal right to search a student he suspects is using drugs, Mitchell Ware told about 150 Prospect High School teachers during a speech yesterday at the school.

An attorney, Ware is currently a member of the President's Commission on Drug Abuse and the former head of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

"Call in your local law enforcement officer. If you suspect something, that's the safest thing to do," Ware said.

Ware cautioned teachers about carrying around illegal drugs they may find in the possession of students. "Call your local authorities right away. You don't have the right to carry it around anywhere than the kid did," he said.

If a student using drugs takes a teacher into his confidence, the teacher should get him medical attention, according to Ware. "I wouldn't tell the parent, unless you find out about a student on your own," he advised.

WARE RAISED more questions than

Following this, the family enjoyed visiting nearby New Orleans.

TWO LOCAL church groups will hold spring luncheons this week. Today the women of Circle Five will act as hostesses for the Woman's Guild luncheon at South Church Community Baptist. Warren Sapp, minister of faith and work, will discuss his work with the congregation's young people.

Ladies of St. Mark Lutheran Church will hold their annual ALCW Favorite Salad Luncheon tomorrow in Fellowship Hall. Models for the home sewing fashion show will be church members. Mrs. Harold Bach will narrate. Each lady is being asked to bring a favorite salad or dessert.

A DIPLOMA for proficiency in hula dancing was one of the souvenirs Mrs. Joseph Demma, 319 N. Wille St., brought home from their recent trip to Hawaii.

Other mementos included black sand from the beach on Hawaii and chunks of coral. Fortunately the couple left Hilo, Hawaii, shortly before a mild volcanic eruption.

As part of their WIND-sponsored tour, Phyllis and Joe also visited Maui and Kauai, two other outer islands. They spent the last five days of their vacation in Honolulu, Oahu, staying at Hilton's Hawaiian Village.

MOTHERS and daughters of Trinity Methodist Church will participate in a special Mother-Daughter Night this evening at the church. This "Spring Magic" get-together will include entertainment, fellowship, and refreshments.

he could answer. "Just what is an addict? And should we try to eliminate all drug abuse?" are some of the questions Ware said the President's commission will try to answer.

Ware said the first commission report on marijuana, released last month, lists "fair, realistic and workable recommendations." Those recommendations include evaluating drug education materials to make sure they are factually correct and removing the heavy criminal penalty now placed on marijuana users.

"Marijuana is a harmful substance that can have serious long-term effects," Ware said. "But it doesn't do as much harm as drugs for which there are lighter penalties." Ware pointed out that his commission found out that 93 per cent of law enforcement activities regarding marijuana were arrests for possessors of narcotics, two-thirds of those for less than one ounce.

"We should concentrate on the purchaser," he said. "The user just isn't a social problem."

$5.4 Million Budget To Be OK'd Tonight

The Mount Prospect Village Board will adopt a $5,413,040 budget at tonight's village board meeting.

For the past several weeks, village trustees have been busy paring the originally submitted budget of $5,453,570 and adding such projects as funding for the Community Action Plan and the Jefferson Park-Randhurst bus run.

Most of the $40,530 difference in the two figures will not be kept as a surplus, however. Some $39,380 of it will be needed to make up the difference in the Mount Prospect Public Library Board's 1972-73 budget of $240,900, and the income from tax levy and other sources for the library which only totals $201,520.

INCLUDED in the budget, which is 28.8 per cent higher than last year's $4,234,205, are salary raises of 5.5 per cent for most village employees. This is the limit set by recent federal wage guidelines.

Much of the increase in the budget results from the necessity of providing services to the more than 10,000 residents who recently were annexed to the village. Other portions of the raise are due to inflation.

The village's portion of the property tax rate will be held at its present $0.596 rate next year, according to village board policy.

By tonight, the trustees may or may not have reached agreement with the village's police and firemen. Both groups are reportedly content with their wage increases but also seeking additional fringe benefits. The village's finance committee met with firemen last week and was scheduled to meet with policemen last night.

Here's Village Board Agenda

The Mount Prospect Village Board is scheduled to also consider the following at tonight's board meeting, beginning at 8 p.m. in the municipal building, 112 E. Northwest Hwy.:

—A change in the appointive powers for the civil defense department. Now done by the mayor, it will be done by the village manager;

—A vote on a revised swimming pool ordinance for the village;

—Adoption of the 1972 business licensing code for the village;

—Discussion of rezoning requests for Butch McGuire's Pub, 300 E. Rand Rd., and Walter Harris for a medical center at Pine Street and Central Road;

—A report by Trustee Kenneth V. Scholten on a village recycling site; —And a report by Trustee George A. Anderson on negotiations with the City of Des Plaines on the proposed new traffic signals and pavement widening of the Rand, Central and Mount Prospect roads intersection.

Canoe Capsizes; 2 Boys Rescued

Two 13-year-old Mount Prospect youths were rescued from a swollen McDonald Creek Sunday afternoon after their canoe overturned.

Both Todd Nainzer, of 1911 Hopi Ln., and Sam Gustavson, of 1909 Chole Ln., were pulled by rope from the creek by firemen from Mount Prospect Fire Station 3, on Kensington Road. The creek runs to the east of the station.

The three men, Lt. Dennis Thill and firemen Henry Kaup and Charles Nick, heard the boys screams shortly before 6 p.m. The heavy current had been carrying the boys past the station. Firemen also recovered the canoe.

7 AFS Students To Tour Chicago Sites

Seven American Field Service (AFS) students are visiting Hersey High School in Arlington Heights this week as part of International Week.

Six of the students attending schools in small Illinois communities are from Ghana, Norway, Switzerland, England, Vietnam and Argentina. A seventh AFS student from Lexington in Central Illinois spent the summer in India.

The students are staying with families of Hersey students and will return to their American host families this weekend. Besides attending classes, they will visit the Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum, the Art Institute of Chicago and Old Town.

Hersey foreign exchange student Marie Jottrand from Belgium will accompany the other AFS students on the tours.

First Installment Is Due June 1

Real Estate Tax Bills Are Inching Upward

by KURT BAER

Tax bills for most Arlington Heights residents will increase by slightly more than one per cent over last year, according to figures released yesterday by the Cook County Clerk.

Village residents who live in School Dist. 25, within the Arlington Heights Park District and in Wheeling Township this year will pay property taxes at a rate of $7.782 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Tax bills are expected to be mailed out later this week. First installment payment is due June 1 with a second payment due no later than Sept. 1.

Based on this rate, a home assessed at $12,000 will cost its owner $933.84 in taxes. Last year, the same residence was billed $923.76, on a tax rate of 7.698.

TAXES FOR HOMEOWNERS in Arlington Heights and Wheeling Township but in other elementary school districts are: Dist. 21, $8.216 per $100 assessed valuation; Dist. 23, $7.990 per $100 assessed valuation; and Dist. 57, $7.486 per $100 assessed valuation.

Arlington Heights residents who live south of Central Road in Elk Grove Township and are in Elementary School Dist. 59, will pay $7.408 per $100 assessed valuation.

The tax rate for Elk Grove Township residents in Dist. 25 is $7.750.

The real estate tax dollar is used to provide funds for 12 different governmental agencies.

Dist. 25 takes proportionately the largest part of the tax dollar. Last year it accounted for 38 per cent of the total tax levy.

This year, Dist. 25's tax rate increased by one cent, to $2.90.

High School Dist. 214 is the next biggest user of tax dollars. Last year 32 per cent of Arlington Heights property taxes were distributed to Dist. 214.

THIS YEAR THE Dist. 214 tax rate is up 4.2 cents to $2.56 per $100 assessed valuation.

The increase is largely due to the financing needed to build a new high school in Buffalo Grove.

The village government tax rate shows a dramatic decrease over last year, dropping over 6.6 cents, from 76.6 cents to 70 cents.

Earlier, Arlington Heights Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson had estimated that the village government tax rate would be 72.63 cents based on a $14 million jump in the village's total assessed valuation.

The 70 cent tax rate is the lowest figure for village government since 1969. But the six cent reduction in the village rate is more than taken up by increases from other units of government.

THE ARLINGTON Heights Park District has also benefited from the increase in the village's total assessed valuation. Its tax rate this year is down three cents to 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Other governmental units which affect Arlington Heights taxpayers and their 1971 tax rates include:

—Cook County, .562

—The Metropolitan Sanitary District, .310

—Forest Preserve District, .080

—Northwest Mosquito Abatement District, .018

—Junior College Dist. 512 (Harper College), .200

—Road and Bridge, .080

—Suburban T.B. Sanitary District, .025

—Wheeling Township, .038.

Chicago SCLC To Intervene: Vivian

Cross-Burning Incident Spurs Suburb Racial Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in protest of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Klu Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NINA KOFF of Arlington

Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where "teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian said Illinois Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis has been contacted regarding racial prejudices in the Northwest suburbs.

MUCH OF THE CAUSE of racial problems in the suburbs was leveled at the school systems. "We must examine the schools," Vivian said. "We plan to talk to the school board... and find out why black children are being run home from school."

After the news conference in Schaumburg, most of the group traveled in motorcade to the Hanover Park Village Hall to present their grievances to the village manager.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

—Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.

—Encourage adoption of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.

—A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.

—A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

PROFESSOR WILLIARD WILLIAMSON holds his 11-month-old adopted daughter Joy. Protests by neighbors have led the Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to lead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest Suburbs.

Skyjacking A Reality For Suburbanites

The threat of hijacking — and its implications for wide-traveling suburbanites came a little closer to home yesterday with the arrival at O'Hare Airport of an airplane in the control of a gunman.

A man demanding $500,000 and a trip to the Bahama Islands took control of a Miami-to-Chicago jet carrying 91 persons — among them members of suburban communities who suddenly entered the world's statistics of hijacked passengers.

The man, identified as William Herbert Green, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was arrested without a struggle by police and FBI agents when the aircraft landed in Chicago.

To the passengers, some of them homeward bound suburbanites, the ordeal was something to remember, if only after the incident was over and they discovered what happened:

MOST PASSENGERS aboard the plane said they didn't know anything was amiss until they had landed at O'Hare International Airport and were met by special buses which rolled them off for questioning by FBI agents.

Mollie Kemmer, 22, LaGrange, said she sat behind the hijacker. She described him as a white man with a light tan, having dark, curly hair and wearing a bright, wine-colored shirt. She said she saw no gun and realized something was wrong only when the stewardess walked away from him and came back and asked: "Sir, are you serious?"

Hilda Connell of Chicago said she first noticed the man after a half-hour layover at West Palm Beach. She said she left the plane for the layover, and when she reboarded, he was sitting — with one hand in a shopping bag — next to a woman with a baby.

THE WOMAN WITH the baby left her seat and sat elsewhere, Miss Connell said, and the co-pilot came down and sat next to him for the rest of the way into Chicago.

"Most of the people aboard must have been vacationers who don't fly very often, because hardly anyone seemed aware that something was wrong, even when we pulled into a remote part of the airfield and sat there a half hour."

"There was no commotion. Nothing," said James Stair of Wheaton. "I didn't even know we were being hijacked until we landed at the farthest outposts of the terminal. Then I saw all the police cars around. I began to wonder."

Wheeling Man Sentenced In '68 Theroux Hit-Run Case

A 21-year-old Wheeling man was sentenced yesterday to one to three years in the state penitentiary in connection with a 1968 hit-and-run accident that killed Barbara Theroux, 15-year-old daughter of Wheeling Township Assessor Marshall Theroux.

Thomas Tierney, 160 Wildwood Dr., pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless homicide and was sentenced by Associate Judge George E. Dolezal to one to three years in the state prison.

Tierney was arrested by Arlington Heights Police detectives in October, 1969, after an intensive investigation of the May 4, 1968 accident that took the life of Miss Theroux as she was apparently attempting to cross Arlington Heights Road about 150 feet south of Sigwalt Street.

The accident occurred shortly before 9 o'clock on a Saturday night.

Tierney was arrested by Detective Lt. George Ekblad and Detective Richard Robinson after his release from Vandalia State Prison where he had been serving a nine-month sentence for burglary.

HE WAS originally charged with involuntary manslaughter in the case but the charge was reduced in court yesterday to reckless homicide.

After first entering a plea of not guilty, Tierney's attorney entered a motion before Judge Dolezal to suppress statements made by his client after his arrest, according to Ekblad.

After reviewing the evidence, however, the attorney changed the plea to guilty on the reduced charge, Ekblad said.

The key to Tierney's arrest, police said, was the recovery of the auto he was driving the night of the accident.

Miss Theroux was reportedly on her way to visit a girl friend when she was hit on Arlington Heights Road. After the accident she was taken to Northwest Community Hospital where she died early the next morning.

She was the youngest child and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Theroux, 330 S. Burton Pl., Arlington Heights.

Theroux is the Wheeling Township assessor and a former deputy committeeman of the Wheeling Township Republican Organization and president of the Wheeling Township Republican Club.

7 Pupils Win $25 Bonds For Posters

Seven Arlington Heights students were awarded $25 savings bonds and plaques last night for their winning essays and posters which were written or drawn in conjunction with Earth Week.

The $25 savings bonds were handed out at the Arlington Heights village board meeting and donated by the village's ecology fund. The plaques were donated by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce.

Thirteen honorable mention posters on certain things like lead in gasoline, aluminum cans, paper bags and plastic bags. You should bring pop bottles to be recycled, take certain kinds of cans and bury them. Then there would be more nutrients for planting after a while. It would be a better place to live if everyone would help stop pollution. Everyone would be healthier, happier and satisfied."

TRACI CRISE, a fifth grade student at Poe, wrote:

"What can I, a fifth grader, do to make Arlington Heights a cleaner community? One of the first things myself and all the other Arlington Heights residents can do is to know what is happening to our earth. We must be informed, and then inform others. We should make them aware and then 'do something'."

"Doing something" can be a very simple project but when everyone works together it can have big results.

"A good example is to refund all bottles instead of throwing them away. If no one would buy these kinds of soda bottles. That way the companies would decide to sell it only in returnable bottles."

"Another example is to encourage everyone to save their papers and cans for recycling. A certain day each month could be set aside for those who did not take their papers and bottles to the recycling station."

"We could celebrate Earth Day and ask others all over the world to celebrate by picking up trash, cleaning our streams, planting trees in trash dumps and promising to do something every other day of the year to make a cleaner and better community."

LISA ELDER, a 6th grade student at Rand Jr. High School in Dist. 25, wrote on "Improving the Local Environment":

"Our environment is a mess! It is being destroyed by polluted air, water, our modern machine age, industry and a general 'don't care, let the other fellow do it' attitude on the part of the individual. The problem is that the other fellow believes the same thing that everyone else does. It's like a chain reaction. If people would help in some way, maybe we wouldn't have such a tragic problem."

"It is the attitude of the general public that will have to change before there is much improvement in our environment. There are youth groups and civic associations who are cleaning up areas in our cities. They can't do the job by themselves, so why can't we lend a helping hand. Some of the things that you could do would be to pick up trash and garbage around your home and school, put litter in its place, maybe form some committees or groups and help fight this problem, or possibly write your local officials and ask them to do something about it."

"Many diseases are being aggravated by pollution, such as tuberculosis, asthma, pneumonia, emphysema and other respiratory diseases. It can sometimes cause death. We get air that is very dirty at times. The water isn't fit to drink in places and much of the wildlife and fish are being killed by it."

"During vacations most people go to some national park or forest to get fresh air, clean water, beautiful scenery and to see some healthy wildlife. If people in your area could clean up the environment so people from other areas would want to come and visit, vacation or perhaps make this place their home. Why not fill your area with fresh air, clean water, flowers, trees and abundant wildlife so people will want to come and absorb the true feelings of your area. Let people know that you're helping in many ways. Preserve nature and its wildlife."

and essay winners will receive $5 from the Laseke Disposal Co.

The 181 posters which were submitted to the Municipal Building for judging by the Arlington Heights Beautification Council were winners of local school contests. All posters submitted will be placed in downtown Arlington Heights business windows for the remainder of the week.

ONLY 10 ESSAYS were submitted to the contest this year, from seven schools. "Perhaps we didn't give the students enough time to write the essays, or maybe posters are more fun to do than essays," said George F. Charlton, director of health services. "At any rate, we'll have to revamp the contest next year to get more participants."

Poster winners were Jeffrey Peterson, 2407 Kennicott; Judith Carkhuff, 1423 W. Roanoke Dr.; Elaine Moy, 1150 N. Hickory Ave.; and Claudia Cappelle, 207 S. Rammer.

Essay winners were Lori Czepl, 518 W. Burr Oak Dr.; Traci Crise, 611 W. Hintz Rd.; and Lisa Elder, 2411 N. Brighton Pl.

Honorable mentions in the poster contest were Joni Jacobsen, 1807 N. Douglas Ave.; Gina Santicola, 525 S. Evergreen; Joanne Aono, 706 W. Tanglewood Dr.; Joyce Wait, 208 S. Evergreen; Carrie Milleso, 3007 Windsor Dr.; and Kristine Aono, 706 W. Tanglewood Dr.

Honorable mentions in the essay contest were Dianne Bari, 25 S. Ridge; Heidi Hartmann, 6 E. Lillian; Paul Gebbo, 1103 W. Hintz Rd.; Sue Clotfelter, 17 S. Gibbons; Jim Schmidt, 1203 N. Belmont; James Freund, 3049 Huntington Dr.; Lee Schaedel, 714 E. Ivy Ln.

THE ESSAY TOPIC for grades 1 through 6 was "A Cleaner Community." Lori Czepl, a third grader at Edger Allen Poe School in Dist. 21 wrote:

"We should have a cleaner community if we want to live longer. Animals in zoos, forest preserves and wild life would live longer if we would only stop pollution. We would have fresher water, cleaner air to breathe and more animals. Besides that, everyone would be happier."

Registrations Being Accepted For Garden Plots

Mail registrations are now being accepted by the Arlington Heights Park District for garden plots at Prairie Park, at South Belmont and Council Trail. They should be sent to 660 N. Ridge.

The plots, about 30 by 90-foot areas, are free to Arlington Heights Park District residents who wish to grow vegetables this summer. All growing aids must be of an organic nature, no packaged fertilizers or bug killers will be allowed.

"When residents register for a plot, we will give them a brochure as an orientation to organic gardening," Alicia Smith, recreation supervisor said. "All the details of the program will be in the brochure including where the plots are located and the deadline for harvesting."

Helpful hints about organic gardening were added to the brochure by the Arlington Heights Garden Club and the Pollution and Environmental Problems organization (PEP).

Though mail in registrations will be accepted until May 13, the day for the annual plant-in, walk in registration will be accepted beginning April 17 at 9 a.m. at Olympic Park, 660 N. Ridge.

People who register will have some choice in the location of their garden, though the park district reserves the right to guide gardeners in their choice.

"Last year we picked garden plots for the participants in the program," Miss Smith said. "This year we'll let people pick if they wish."

Last year, which was the first year of the program, nearly all of the 216 plots were occupied.

City Joins Suit Against County For Tax Funds

The Des Plaines City Council last night voted unanimously to fight a court decision "to the Illinois Supreme Court if necessary" that would block unlimited city council taxing power.

The council authorized City Atty. Robert DiLeonardi to add Des Plaines to the list of suburbs which will file an appeal against an April 11 decision by Cook County Circuit Judge Nathan Cohen.

Judge Cohen ruled in favor of Cook County, which maintained that a municipality cannot replace a county tax with a municipal tax.

The suburbs which had passed the same tax ordinances as the county, ten dollars on the sale of each new car, claim the money collected should go into municipal revenues. The six suburbs, home rule municipalities with more than 25,000 residents, relied for legal justification on a section of the new Illinois Constitution, which went into effect last summer.

THIS SECTION STATES, "If a home rule county ordinance conflicts with the ordinance of a municipality the municipal ordinance shall prevail within its jurisdiction."

Judge Cohen ruled that this section is not applied to taxes. Both the county and the municipality can tax on the sale of an item, so that a $20 tax on car sales is now in effect in Des Plaines.

This city, which passed a car tax ordinance identical to the county tax in February, joined with five other municipalities — Arlington Heights, Oak Park, Evanston, Niles and Berwyn — in a suit against the county for the tax funds.

DiLeonardi said Judge Cohen's decision would be brought to the appellate court within 30 days. Permission would be sought to bring the appeal directly to the state's highest court for a decision, he said.

In seeking council authorization, DiLeonardi said Des Plaines should take action because "this council fought to get home rule. It shouldn't let home rule go down the drain."

DES PLAINE'S MAYOR Herbert Behr said if the Cohen decision were left unchallenged the county would be encouraged to tax the sale of other items.

Ald. Alan Abrams (8th) also urged council authorization saying "the county has no restraint now. We'll be in real trouble. If the county is blocked, it will look for other areas to tax and it will move much more slowly."

Ald. Ewald Swanson (8th), who first objected to the council authorization because of high court costs, later changed his opinion and voted with the council after hearing that court costs might be shared among the suburbs involved.

Thacker Will Be Closed For Work Beginning Mon.

Construction will begin Monday on Thacker-Dempster Street between Wolf and Elmhurst roads in Des Plaines, closing the street to all but local traffic, according to the Cook County Highway Department.

The contractor, Milburn Bros., will keep one lane open during construction for local traffic but residents along the street will be unable to get in or out of their driveways for about 10 days, according to the Des Plaines city engineering department.

The project, which will widen the street along the 1½-mile stretch, will begin next week with the installation of storm sewers starting at the Chicago and North Western Rwy. outerbelt tracks. From May 24 to June 24, the Dempster-Thacker crossing at the outerbelt will be closed.

Recommended alternate route to bypass the construction is Elmhurst Road-Golf Road-Wolf Road. Work is expected to be completed in December.

CONTEMPLATING THE MEANING of a painting fair is Dianne Turauskay of Hoffman Estates. The or perhaps just relaxing after a busy day at Oak-fair was part of a two-day spring open house at Oakton's interim campus in Morton Grove. More than 100 artists from as near as Des Plaines and as far away as What Cheer, Iowa and Wauwatosa, Wis. exhibited their arts and crafts at the college.

Mikva Asks End To Viet Bombing

by LEON SHURE

U.S. Rep. Abner Mikva (D-2nd) yesterday asked Congress to order an immediate end of U.S. bombing in Indo-China and total withdrawal of American troops.

Speaking in support of an anti-war bill introduced in Congress last week, Rep. Mikva accused President Nixon of "cruelly" deceiving the American people, increasing the war and failing in his Vietnamization policies.

Speeches by Mikva and other Democratic congressmen were triggered by heavy U.S. bombing last weekend of Hanoi, the North Vietnam capital, and the country's major harbor, Haiphong. Mikva, a co-sponsor of the anti-war bill introduced by U.S. Rep. Robert Drinan (D-Mass.) will ask the Democratic members of the House, in a caucus Wednesday, to bring the Drinan bill to an immediate vote, a Mikva aide told the Herald.

The Drinan bill would order an immediate end to bombing, a ceasefire, and setting of a date for total U.S. military withdrawal. Under terms of the bill, U.S. prisoners would be released as U.S. troops withdraw.

Mikva, who is seeking re-election in the North suburban 10th district, told his congressional colleagues that increased bombing will only "stiffen" resistance against South Vietnam forces, and make exchange of prisoners more difficult.

While the President has promised a reduction of the war, he has greatly boosted the war by increasing American air power there, Mikva said.

"The American people have been cruelly deceived. The war is not winding down. Vietnamization has not worked as the administration said it would.

"The American presence in Southeast Asia is not going to end soon. The Administration pledge to end the war — to deescalate, to work for peace — has been a forgery, despite the rhetoric.

"The last 48 hours have shown that this country is very much in the war. The people of Vietnam do not want it. The people of the United States do not want it and we have the right to ask why," he said.

Never before has there been such mass bombing by B-52 jets, Mikva said. The air attacks were ordered with the full knowledge by the Nixon administration that many civilians would be killed, he said.

"Bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong has been a reckless, unreasoned, immoral act that jeopardized not only the chance for peace in Southeast Asia, it jeopardizes world peace," he said.

He urged quick Congressional action. "We have the ability to stop the bombing and end the war. In the past, we've lacked only the will. We have deliberated long enough, we have deferred long enough, now we must have the courage to do what the President has not," he said.

Legion Opposes Nixon War Power Curb

American Legion National Commander John H. Geiger, of Des Plaines has sent a letter to all members of the Congress stating the legion's opposition to pending legislation that would curb war-making powers of the President.

Following is the text of the legion leader's message, as released by the organization's Washington office:

"At our 1971 national convention, the American Legion unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the Constitutional powers of the President of the United States as commander-in-chief of our armed forces. The purpose of this letter is to apprise you that the legion is mandated to support these powers and to oppose legislative efforts to reduce or otherwise circumscribe them.

"As you are aware, serious questions have been raised as to the constitutionality of some of the provisions of the War-Powers Act as proposed in the Senate bill. The American Legion is concerned that this proposed legislation might inhibit the President from carrying out his constitutional responsibilities of protecting the security of the United States.

"The American Legion believes that the Congress now has sufficient power under the constitution to act as a check upon Presidential actions. Any radical changes in this system of checks and balances should not be considered in haste or in the emotional atmosphere generated by the Vietnam conflict.

"In the judgment of the American Legion, the bill is not necessary legislation and should be defeated."

Cross-Burning Leads To Race Probe

by DOUG RAY

The Chicago Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will spearhead an investigation of "hostile and racial acts" against minority groups in the Northwest suburbs.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, director of the Chicago SCLC, made the announcement yesterday at a news conference in Schaumburg that was attended by about 150 persons, most of them parents of adopted black children.

The SCLC was asked to investigate "by a number of parents, especially in Hanover Park" whose black children are being harassed, Vivian said, adding that an attempt will be made "in humanizing white people in the suburbs."

A racial incident in Hanover Park two weeks ago, in which a cross was burned in front of a black child moving into the Glenbrook Country subdivision, apparently prompted the SCLC intervention.

A CROSS WAS BURNED in protest of the 11-month-old adopted black daughter of Prof. Willard Williamson of Harper College and his wife. The cross was burned on the front lawn of their prospective Hanover Park home.

Vivian said "local officials must protect the families" from racial injustices and stated "the Klu Klux Klan methods cannot stop the increase in black families" in the Northwest suburbs.

Clyde Brooks, suburban chairman of the SCLC, will begin the study of the Hanover Park affair and will report directly to the Chicago chapter, Vivian said.

Williamson and his wife are members of the Chicago Open Door Society, a group designed to encourage the adoption of children without regard to racial backgrounds. Members of the organization, along with their preschool children, attended the news conference and stated that there have been numerous examples of racism in the suburbs.

MRS. NINA KOFF of Arlington Heights, president of the Open Door Society, spoke to the group about the reluctance to send her three adopted black children into the school system where

"teachers are not prepared to deal with minority students." She said "the communities have failed" so other aid is being sought from civil rights groups and the Justice Department, among others.

"Teachers in the white suburban area are not equipped to handle our (black) children. The children are so insulated that they aren't aware of racial problems," she added. "Almost every district out here has the same problem."

Williamson said two elementary school teachers from Hanover Park were involved in the cross-burning incident. "A school teacher was the main spokesman in the group," he said.

Vivian told Village Mgr. Doug Hemminger that residents will do what public officials allow them to do. He said it was the obligation of village officials to protect all citizens.

THE GROUP made four proposals to Hemminger:

- Formation of the Hanover Park Human Relations Council.
- Encourage adoption of a local fair housing ordinance at least as strong as the state statutes.
- A public statement of the village board in support of the Williamson family.
- A coalition of neighboring communities to fight racial injustices and asked that the topic be considered by the Northwest Municipal Conference.

The Home Line

By Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: While taking our gasoline-powered lawn mower out of the basement we found it had leaked some oil on the cement floor and on the concrete driveway. Do you know any way that we could remove these oil stains? — Peggy Wagner.

Fuller's earth, or the granules used to line kitten boxes, if allowed to stand for several days, ought to absorb the oil. Another way is to sprinkle dishwasher detergent on the stain, let stand a bit, then rinse with a kettle of boiling water. You have one more thing to use on the driveway, contributed by a man in the concrete business for years. Sprinkle on any detergent before a rain. Let it stay one or two hours to give it some "lift" action. The soft rain water does the rest. And if you don't fall for these home remedies, there is always one of those oil-drying compounds you can get at the service station.

Dear Dorothy: I'd like to share an idea for flavoring sweet potatoes. When preparing a sweet potato casserole, I sprinkle about a tablespoonful of the well-known orange-flavored instant breakfast drink along with a little salt, brown sugar and nutmeg and dots of butter on each layer of potatoes. The orange flavor is a delightful variation. — Mrs.

William P. Lane.

Dear Dorothy: Please tell G.H. that the odor of smoking will disappear if she places baking soda in her ash trays and small dishes in out-of-sight places. This will not stop the browning of the curtains or lampshades but will get rid of stale odors. This is also good for the auto ash trays. Here it not only stops the odor but ensures that the cigarettes are out and not smoldering in the tray. — G. G.

Grandpa's Desk Is Gone

H. C. Paddock, venerable newspaperman who carried his slogan "Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell the Truth and Make Money" everywhere he went, has been gone 36 years.

But his spirit to create and operate the best possible newspaper carries on in the hearts of his grandchildren and great-grandchildren currently employed by The Paddock Corporation.

The growth and development of Paddock printing and publishing facilities have been told many times. That paper-cluttered desk was moved long ago; the cashier of Dunton House Restaurant in Arlington Heights now stands in almost the same spot.

The latest expansion program for the local newspaper facility includes acquisition of another newspaper press to help the daily HERALD meet the demands of larger editions and more readers.

No progress is ever realized without a casualty; in this case, the casualty is our Commercial Printing Division. To make room for our newspaper expansion, commercial printing presses have been moved out and sold to Warren Rogers Printing Co., Inc., in Palatine.

North Assistant 'Highly Recommended'

Morel New Football Coach At Maine West

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Jim Morel, who has been an assistant coach at Maine North for one year, has been named head football coach at Maine West for this fall.

The announcement was made by Maine West athletic director Ken Olson. "The committee who made the selection feels that it has an outstanding and well-qualified man and he should be a fine head football coach."

The committee which named the head coach was made up of Olson, Maine Township High School assistant superintendent Ralph Frost, Maine West principal Herman Rider and assistant principal James Coburn.

"In Jim Morel, Maine West has a man with outstanding credentials and has a fine record behind him," Olson said. "Everyone we have spoken to about him has highly recommended him."

The selection of Morel completes a month and a half search for the head job since the resignation of Al Carstens, who held the position for two and a half years.

Carstens resigned for "personal reasons." According to Olson, between 35 and 40 football coaches applied for Maine West's head position from outside of the district and nine coaches from within the district applied.

Morel, 29, attended LaSalle-Peru High School where he lettered for three years in football and also won letters in basketball and track. In his senior year in 1961, Morel was named to the Chicago Daily News All-State team as a running back.

Morel attended the University of Purdue where he was a starting running back and flanker for two years and also played defensive back as a starter for three seasons.

As a prime receiver in the Purdue attack in Bob Griese's sophomore year, Morel, at one point in the 1964 season, led the Big Ten in receptions. He was named to the Big Ten's All-Academic team in his senior year and was voted to the Big Ten's top 33 All-Conference team in both his junior and senior seasons.

Upon the completion of his final college football season, Morel played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game in Montgomery, Ala.

Impressed with his 9.6 speed in the 100-yard dash and his pass catching abilities, Morel was an 11th round draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams in January of 1968.

Morel stayed with the Rams through the exhibition season of 1968 before being cut. He coached at Conant High School in Hoffman Estates during the 1966-67 school year.

Morel tried out for the Rams again in 1967, but once again was cut and went to Wabash College in the fall of 1967 where he coached football. In the spring of 1968, he returned to Purdue for his Master's Degree and coached the Boilermakers during spring football practice.

In the fall of 1968, he took a coaching position at Ball State where he was defensive backfield coach. In 1969 and 1970, he coached the offensive backfield and receivers and was a primary offensive coordinator.

Morel took a position as head defensive coach at Maine North in the fall of 1971.

At the present time, Morel is Maine North's head track coach. He will assume his head football coaching duties this fall at Maine West.

Morel is married and has two children.

'I Had My Hopes Up ...'

Zuccarini: 'Hurt, Disappointed'

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

"I'm very hurt and very disappointed."

With these words, Gene Zuccarini, who was expected by many to be named the new head football coach at Maine West, expressed his feelings of not getting the position.

Jim Morel, an assistant football coach at Maine North for one season, was announced as Maine West's new head coach Monday by the school's athletic director Ken Olson.

The position was left open by the resignation of Al Carstens in mid-February.

"I had my hopes up about getting the job," Zuccarini said. "I was stunned when I heard that somebody else had gotten it."

Zuccarini has been a coach in Maine Township for 14 years, coaching in football, basketball and golf. Zuccarini was an assistant to Olson, when he was head coach, and to Carstens, when he was the head coach for two and a half years.

"I felt that I had the experience and the qualifications to be the head coach," Zuccarini said. "Maybe the committee which named the head coach felt differently, but at least they could have told me why I wasn't given the job."

"The only thing that I have been informed is that Jim Morel was given the job. And that information came in a letter, a form letter, a mimeographed sheet. Every coach who applied for the job was given the same letter. There were no explanations for why I didn't get the job."

"Now, the committee has no obligation to tell anybody its reasons for picking a particular man. But, for gosh sakes, you would think that a guy who has spent 14 years in the school district could have gotten more than a mimeographed letter."

Olson was asked if Zuccarini's health (Zuccarini had a heart attack a year and a half ago) had any bearing in not selecting the Maine Township coaching veteran as the head football mentor.

"I'm sure that his health had something to do with it in the minds of the committee," Olson said. Olson would not expound behind that point and said, "The committee was in unanimous agreement that Jim Morel is the man best-qualified for the job."

GENE ZUCCARINI

The committee which named the head coach was made up of Olson, Maine Township's assistant superintendent Ralph Frost, Maine West principal Herman Rider and Maine West's assistant principal James Coburn.

On the health issue, Zuccarini said, "I can't believe that my health was the prime reason why I didn't get the job."

"If my health was going to be a factor, you would think that the committee would have told me on the day of my interview with them. Why didn't they tell me a month ago that my health would keep me from getting the job, rather than letting me anxiously wait it out for all this time?"

In his own mind, Zuccarini feels that his health should have had nothing to do with his application as head coach.

"My health is my concern, my responsibility," he said. "It is the concern of nobody else."

"I gave the thought of my health a lot of time and consideration. I thought that I was well enough to take the job, particularly with the veteran staff I would have had working for me."

"With Carstens, (Joe) Jobst, (Dick) Carlini and (Ken) Schreiner, I would have had a veteran staff which could assume much of the coaching responsibilities and take some of the pressure off me."

"What really convinced me that I was well enough to take the job was an electrocardiogram I had three months ago. The EKG revealed that my heart is as normal as normal can be."

An electrocardiogram would determine if there was any abnormality in the heart muscles. Zuccarini's revealed none.

"My doctor did not recommend that I should apply for the job," Zuccarini said, "but, he also said the same about me getting into coaching this past fall as an assistant. But, I was perfectly well the entire season."

Gals' Coaching Courses Attract 103 Students

The boom of interest in women's athletics has been seen again in the Western suburbs, with a report that 103 students have enrolled in Illinois' first college courses in the coaching of women's athletics.

The courses are offered by Illinois Benedictine College of Lisle, in an extension program at three high school sites. Enrollment records showed that the course in coaching women's basketball and volleyball drew 38 students at Willowbrook High School in Villa Park, women's gymnastics attracted 54 students at Addison Trail High School in Addison, and women's swimming and diving lured 11 students at Hinsdale South High School, Clarendon Hills.

The courses began during the week of March 20, and will last ten weeks, meeting once a week for three hours. Each features expert guest lecturers and offers two semester hours of college credit from Illinois Benedictine.

The students enrolled in the three courses come from 51 towns in the Chicago area. Some come from as far away as Gurnee and Deerfield to the north, Marengo to the northwest, and Blue Island, Alsip and Joliet to the south. Most of the students are from DuPage and western Cook counties, including eight

"My doctor said, 'I don't recommend that you should do it, but if you feel well enough, the decision is up to you.'"

Four men — two in the swimming course and two in gymnastics — are attending classes with the 99 women students.

The courses originated in the minds of Ed Wilkowski, Hinsdale South athletic director, and Vic Lesch, coordinator of physical welfare at Addison Trail, who are now coordinators of the program.

With the success of the first offerings, Wilkowski and Lesch are discussing with Illinois Benedictine officials the possibility of offering additional extension courses during the summer, possibly in concentrated two-week time periods with daily three-hour sessions. They are conducting a survey to determine which sports have the most potential and need for women's coaches.

Neither Schaumburg nor Conant was much of a threat at the Second Annual Fenton Golf Invitational Saturday, but just participating amid the classy 13-team field can only help the two teams in future gatherings such as the conference and district meets.

Addison Trail, the state's seventh best team last year, has publicly announced that they'll be a threat again this season by capturing the first-place trophy with a composite score of 298.

Naperville Central earned the runner-up hardware with 301 while host Fenton settled for third-place tie with West Aurora at 309.

Notre Dame landed fifth with 311 strokes and was followed by St. Patrick's 312, Hinsdale South's 316, Wheaton North's 322 and Cary Grove's 337.

Wheaton Central notched 10th with 338 and edged West Chicago which finished a stroke behind at 339. Conant soared 48 strokes off the winning pace at 346 and Schaumburg coasted home in 359.

The field challenged the par 70 North

Course at White Pines which stood up considerably well despite the heavy rains Friday evening. Each squad entered five players and counted four over the 640-yard layout.

The Cougars were paced by steady Dave Love who toured the par 35 front nine just two-over at 37. Head coach Barry Carlson's ace got off to a quick start with birdies on the par 4, 340-yard first hole and the par 3, 160-yard second.

He added another bird on the par 4, 240-yard seventh, but stuttered to a 43 over the back nine for a round of 86. Chris Dilger played consistently and combined nines of 41 and 42 for 83.

Dave Domek was Conant's third counter at 43-44-87 while Steve Shumski parlayed identical rounds of 46 and 46. Keith Kellogg played a 49 front nine and a 56 back nine for a 105.

Schaumburg pacesetter Mike Mosinski also had early success as he birdied the par 4, 294-yard fifth and par 5, 465-yard sixth holes. Mike finished with rounds of 42-41-83 as the Saxons' low man.

Bunched in the low-90's were Joe Castrogiovanni who put nines of 45 and 46 together for a 91, Leo Hoffman who played consistent rounds of 46 and 46 for a 92 and Tim Ryan who shot 46-47-83. Brian Masino also made the turn at 46, but skied to a 54 on the back nine for a composite 100.

Notre Dame counted rounds of 73 by Bill Lossau, 74 by John Murnane, 80 by Mark Hushek and 84 by Dick Schawewer for its 311 total. Jerry Govern contributed an 85 as the Don's fifth man.

Addison's winning total was derived from Rich Hannaes' 74, Jim Torkelson's 74 and 75's by Conrad Whitehead and Jim Jaroch. The meet medalists were Steve Schulz of Naperville and Tom Tierney of West Aurora, both of whom toured the layout in two-over-par 72's.

Greenberg, Pollitz Cop Titles In Tennis Invite

Elk Grove's tennis team carried away more than its racquets and balls last Saturday at the Maine South Invitational. A trophy and a couple of plaques also came away from the Park Ridge meet.

Len Greenberg and Ken Pollitz won plaques for their first-place showings and this also helped the Grenadier team to cart off the second-place trophy. Finishing first in the eight-team meet was Greenwood Park.

Greenberg finished on top in second singles. He beat his East Leyden foe, 6-4, 6-2; Maine East, 6-4, 6-4; and Elmwood Park, 6-3, 6-0.

Pollitz took the third singles title. He stopped West Leyden, 6-1, 6-2; Maine South, 6-3, 6-0; and Ridgewood, 6-4, 6-0.

Mark Greenberg was the consolation champion of first singles. After losing to Ridgewood in the opening round which involved a tie breaker, 6-5, 6-3, the Grove's No. 1 player knocked off East Leyden, 6-4, and West Leyden, 6-3, in single sets.

The first doubles team of Mike Smith and Jim Siebold finished third. Bruce Kinn and Scott Holste, the second doubles duo, landed fourth.

The final team standings were as follows:

Elmwood Park 11½, Elk Grove 9½, Maine South 7, Ridgewood 6½, Maine East 6, West Leyden 2½, East Leyden 1½ and Walther Luther ½.

Elk Groves' frosh-soph team, competing on the Grenadier courts, finished sixth in a seven-team meet. Luthers were not represented. Bill Hatzold, a sophomore, won five of his six matches against No. 2 singles opponents. This was the best showing by the younger Grenadiers.

The final team standings were as follows:

Maine East 156, Maine South 141, East Leyden 113, West Leyden 90, Ridgewood 86, Elk Grove 79 and Elmwood Park 70.
